NIXON CALLS TO HELP

Reagan Touring Storm-Hit State

FRESNO (AP) — Gov. Ronald Reagan viewed flooded sections of California from the air today after President Nixon telephoned him and promised the hard-hit state all available federal help.

Reagan received Nixon's call last night, before embarking on his jet tour of the state for a personal look at damage that has topped $50 million and taken more than 90 lives. It is the worst California flood in three decades in the central and southern sections of the state. (See also story, page 2.)

"The President assured him the federal government will do everything it can for California," said Paul Beck, Reagan's press secretary.

Sunday, the California-born Nixon had declared the state a disaster area and sent an initial allocation of $3 million. In his telephone call, Nixon assured Reagan more is available when needed.

Thousands of acres of flooded land were visible from the air as Reagan flew the length of the state in a chartered airlines DC9 jet.

Beck said five more counties are being declared state disaster areas during the day — Kern, San Joaquin, Solano, Madera and Kings. That brings the total to 14.

The 10,000 acres of Sherman Island, a low-lying farming area in the delta of the Sacramento and San Joaquin rivers, was under water. Three miles of California 160 were inundated and state officials on the plane didn't know when they could reopen it.

Reagan scheduled a bus tour of damaged portions of Santa Barbara and a meeting with local officials in Burbank following his stop in Fresno, where he talked with Central Valley disaster officers.

During the morning, Reagan sat in the front left hand seat of the plane viewing the high waters.

SNOWY PEAKS — This was the scene from Lucas Valley Road today as snow coated the peaks of hills from Mount Tamalpais to Novato. (Independent-Journal photo by Jim Kean)

Two-Inch Snowfall On Mt. Tamalpais

Road Closed, Visibility Near Zero At Summit

Snow dusted wide areas of Marin today, capping 11 days of some of the most unsettled weather in the county's history.

About two inches of snow was reported on the upper flanks of Mount Tamalpais. The flakes were still coming down at mid-morning and zero visibility was reported near the summit.

The road to the mountain top from the entrance to the 666th Radar Squadron was closed because of slippery conditions.

Flakes danced along Bolinas Ridge and the hills of Terra Linda, Lucas Valley and Novato. Some snow was even reported in San Rafael's low-lying Northgate area.

Stinson Beach residents were surprised by a brief, but intense, hailstorm.

Rain fell in other parts of Marin and Southern Sonoma and a chance of showers was predicted through tomorrow. Continued cool temperatures were forecast.

The reading was 43 in San Rafael at noon today, compared to 52 at that time yesterday.

The snow was the first to fall in Marin on other than the summit of Mount Tamalpais in a year and a day. On Jan. 27, 1968, snow fell in downtown San Rafael and other low-lying areas for the first time in 19 years.

The skies cleared over much of Marin shortly before noon today, and Mount Tamalpais was white to its base.

Before the snow, 10.74 inches of rain had fallen on downtown San Rafael in an 11-day period. This brought the total for the season to 37.07 inches, already surpassing the seasonal average of 36.44.

Rain totals in a 24-hour period to 8 a.m. today varied from .23 of an inch at Hamilton Air Force Base to .91 of an inch in Bolinas.

San Rafael had .42 of an inch at noon for 24 hours.

In the aftermath of the prolonged rainstorm, a small houseboat, believed to be from Waldo Point, was found washed up at the Belvedere Lagoon flood gates on San Rafael Avenue today. No other significant damage was reported in Marin or Southern Sonoma.

The Army Corps of Engineers was to remove the houseboat today, police said.

Picket-Line Teachers Facing Loss Of Pay

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — With the customary pickets braving cold rains, San Francisco State College began its final week of the chaotic winter semester today amid reports of loss of pay or jobs for striking teachers and the threat of a bigger effort by dissidents.

A list of 277 college employees most of them teachers, was sent to the state controller's office yesterday afternoon for docking of pay.

However, the report did not say who are to be docked for striking or how much their checks — due Thursday and Friday — are to be reduced.

College officials said they made no recommendations of dismissals but hope to file a report by Thursday on how long certain teachers were out of class without authorization.

Under state law, teachers off the job five straight days have automatically resigned. The teachers strike began a month ago but school officials have been reluctant to apply the rule.

Meanwhile, a student strike leader said outside backers would be invited to a "community mobilization day."

"We're going to shut it down until the 15 demands are met," Hari Dillon, a spokesman for the Third World Liberation Front, declared at a news conference yesterday.

He said the strike, which began Nov. 6, has "no room for pacificism or non-violence."

A rally staged last Thursday in defiance of a campus ban resulted in 456 arrests.

Meantime, the striking American Federation of Teachers continued to meet in closed-door session with several state college trustees.

Thant Favoring Mideast Pressure

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Secretary-General U Thant agreed today with President Nixon's views on the dangers of the Middle East situation and called for big power initiatives to seek a U.N. settlement through moral pressure.

Thant told a news conference the United States, Britain, France and the Soviet Union must be actively involved in Middle East peace efforts "either singly or collectively."

He declared a settlement should not be imposed on Israel and the Arab countries, but expressed belief that the situation had reached such an explosive stage that pressure was required.

Nixon Plans Anticrime Fund Pitch

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon told Republican congressional leaders today he will soon ask Congress for extra money to combat crime, with emphasis on speedier court trials and unclogging of crowded courtroom calendars.

After Nixon conferred with the GOP chiefs for more than two hours, the party's Senate leader, Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, said a supplemental appropriation to cover anticrime activities between now and June 30 would be submitted by the President "shortly."

Dirksen said that in order to "bring crime to heel" there will have to be more judges and a large Justice Department staff. U.S. attorneys are so overworked, he reported, that people in their offices can devote an average of only 45 minutes to the preparation of a case for presentation in court.

"That's a dreary state of affairs," he lamented.

Dirksen also complained that "you've got criminals running around on bail" awaiting trial for as long as three years "and in the interim they may commit two, three or four more crimes."

As a result, he said, they finally are tried on a variety of charges and generally get a single sentence for all—a sentence shorter than would have been the case had each offense been treated separately.

"That's no way to run a railroad," he said.

Dirksen indicated Nixon will be submitting some bail reform

31 File Suit Aimed At College Militants

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — A suit charging striking San Francisco State College students and teachers with conspiracy to disrupt the educational process was filed in San Francisco Superior Court today on behalf of 23 students and eight faculty members.

Further plaintiffs' names may be added, reported the law firm of Cushing, Cullinan, Hancock and Rothert, who filed the suit.

A long list of defendants fills three legal-sized pages of the complaint. Besides many individuals, it lists the American Federation of Teachers, Students for a Democratic Society, Black Students Union, and several other organizations.

The complaint charges that the conduct of demonstrators at the college from early last November down to date constitutes a public nuisance and asks the court to restrain and enjoin all the defendants from further such actions.

It further alleges that the defendants conspired to commit the acts, the object of the conspiracy being "to bar entrance to and exit from classroom buildings, prevent teaching classes, disrupt education, and endanger the lives and well-being of the plaintiffs and the public.

The court is asked to issue a preliminary restraining order against the conspiracy and the acts, and set a hearing on issuing a permanent injunction.

The purpose of the action, according to the complaint, is to "return an academic environment" to the beleaguered campus.

The request for temporary restraining order was to be heard this afternoon.

Petaluma Youth, Driver Killed

I-J Special Report

NAPA — A 19-year-old Petaluma youth and the driver with whom he had hitched a ride, according to the California Highway Patrol, were killed last night when their automobile cracked up on a rain-slick curve of Highway 37 southwest of Napa.

Killed were Rick F. Plank of 8 Dean Court, Petaluma, and the driver, Carl Brice, 21, of Vallejo.

The car landed upside down in marshland after hitting a telephone pole, it was reported. Only the wheels and bottom of the car remained above water.

California Grapes In Swedish Stores

STOCKHOLM (UPI) — California grapes were on sale in many Swedish stores today despite a trade union boycott of the grapes.

Trade union sources said the grapes had been unloaded in Hamburg, Germany, and then brought to Sweden on trucks. The sources estimated at least 25 tons of grapes entered the country that way in the last few days.

Novato Parents Demand School Crackdown On Marijuana Users

A group of Novato parents, fearful of increased narcotics use at Novato schools, last night urged the expulsion of students caught smoking marijuana off, as well as on, campus. (Another Novato schools story, page 17.)

The call came at a special hearing of the Novato Unified School District board on student discipline and teacher conduct at Marion School.

A man asked what disciplinary standards Novato High School has to protect students from drug users and pushers who, he contended, "taunt my child as square and out of it" because she doesn't use drugs.

Principal Stanley Onderdonk, acknowledging that the school has a drug problem, said those caught on campus are referred to the police department.

The parent noted that a school in San Diego County has a policy of automatic expulsion if a student is caught smoking marijuana, on or off campus.

"We do not have a policy of automatic expulsion," said Onderdonk.

Several persons then said, not quite in unison, "Why not?"

Marijuana smokers are arrested one day and back in school the next day, one parent complained.

"I do not approve of people who use drugs and abuse others," Onderdonk said. But he laid the onus on the district trustees, saying, that if they adopt a policy "to kick out, I'll support that."

Paul Mobley, assistant superintendent for instruction, said often one of the conditions of probation is that the student remain in school.

Police Chief Robert DiGrazia told parents they were directing the complaint to the "wrong body," and should be addressing the Marin County Probation Department.

"At the Novato Police Department our officers have a saying, 'Why book them, they beat us back to Novato'," the chief said. This bitter comment was met with applause.

Hanoi Rejects Ky Proposal For Opening Secret Talks

PARIS (UPI)—North Vietnam today rejected a South Vietnamese suggestion eventually to open secret talks between the two beligerents to settle the Vietnamese conflict.

A North Vietnamese spokesman said if the South Vietnamese delegation to the Paris talks on Vietnam has any suggestion to make, it will have to do so in the plenary sessions held at the Majestic Hotel.

The spokesman again denounced the Saigon government as a "puppet administration in the service of the United States and an administration of traitors to their country and people."

He served notice that Saigon's participation in the talks does not mean its recognition by the Hanoi government.

The Hanoi delegation ruled out secret contacts with Saigon 24 hours after South Vietnamese vice president Nguyen Cao Ky, the chief adviser of the Saigon delegation, hinted he would favor such contacts if the "other side" was willing.

Hanoi's refusal to meet privately with Saigon appeared to make it clear that any eventual secret attempts to untie knots at the Paris talks will have to be done again in bilateral backstage conversations between America and North Vietnamese diplomats.

Nixon Stresses Desire For Orderly Regime

By WALTER R. MEARS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Methodical and cautious, President Nixon is determined to make his an orderly White House, a place where policy emerges through a chain of command, not "off the cuff responses."

The President described the Nixon style at his first news conference yesterday.

"I suppose the nation wonders what a President does in his first week and where is all the action that we have talked about. We have done a great deal, particularly in getting the machinery of government set up which will allow us to move in an orderly way on major problems."

That ordered, studied method of operation is, after all the way Nixon got to the White House. It characterized his campaign for the Republican presidential nomination, and his autumn race against the Democrats.

In the same manner, he shaped his administration: Constant conferences with his deputies, a sweeping study of national issues by 22 teams of expert advisers.

Now, in office, Nixon made clear he intends to operate the same way. "I do not believe, for example, that policy should be made, and particularly foreign policy should be made, by off the cuff responses in press conferences, or any other kind of conferences," he said. "I think it should be made in an orderly way."

So the Nixon White House already has two new policy-shaping panels, on city problems and economic affairs, plus a presidential plan to revitalize and heed the National Security Council.

The Nixon pace and the Nixon caution were displayed at that first news conference when the President noted that in eight separately raised areas of concern, ranging from the tension in the Middle East to crime in the District of Columbia, there would be conferences, decisions and perhaps policy announcements later.

But if there was caution in the Nixon approach, there was also a signal that the new President will swiftly put his stamp upon the national government.

"I have scrupulously followed the line that we have one President at a time," Nixon said, recalling a standard phrase from his campaign days. And now is Nixon's time.

Thus, the President said, he withdrew all pending appointments left behind by former President Lyndon B. Johnson so that the new leadership can decide whether the men involved "would serve the interests of the nation according to the guidelines that the new administration was to lay down."

So, too, with Johnson decisions in policy and government operations, in any area "that may have been questioned . . .

"This administration will reexamine all past decisions where they are not foreclosed . . . by reason of what has gone before," Nixon said. The specific subject was the controversial F111 warplane; the implications were far broader.

AFTER THE STORM — Rescue workers have slippery going as they attempt to remove a car from the flooded Brentwood area in Los Angeles County. Nine days of pouring rain eased yesterday; more than 6,000 persons fled homes hit by high waters or mud slides, damage was estimated at more than $35 million. (UPI Telephoto)

Rains Ease; San Joaquin Valley Still Faces Threat Of Flooding

SAN FRANCISTO (UPI)— The 10-day seige of heavy rain that washed over Northern California let loose with a parting shot of hail as drenched residents began mopping up today and trying to estimate the damage.

But rain-swollen rivers in the San Joaquin Valley were still rising, with the lower San Joaquin River expected to crest at nearly 35 feet and sheriff's deputies put on 24-hour alert.

Surging rivers in the valley triggered the worst flooding in more than a decade, routed hundreds from deluged homes and inundated large areas of rich farm land.

The weatherman predicted the showers would taper off today as the latest storm moved off to the east, leaving in its wake at least three deaths, hundreds homeless and damage in the millions of dollars.

The state Department of Public Works estimated damage to state highways and county and city roads throughout the state at $29 million. Pacific Gas and Electric Co. said it lost "hundreds of thousands of dollars."

More than 2,800 PG&E crewmen worked to repair lines and replace poles that had been swept away by floods or snapped by falling trees.

Water several feet deep in places flowed into homes and businesses in Fresno forcing hundreds to flee. Civil Defense Director Glen Massey placed damage at more than $2 million.

Flooding along the Salinas River was reported to be "far in excess" of the 1966 floods which caused $6.5 million in damages and inundated 32,900 acres of farm land.

The Salinas crested at the town of Salinas, but did little damage in the town itself. The waters flowed over lowlands, up to a mile wide in places, and covered crops of lettuce, sugar beets, garlic, onions, spinach and brocolli.

The Army Corps of Engineers said the damage could have been far worse.

Brig. Gen. William M. Glasgow said yesterday that flood control structures operated by the engineers prevented more than $1.25 billion in damages, largely in Southern California, Sonoma and Mendocino counties.

RULES COMMITTEE

Assembly GOP Assumes Power

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Republicans took control of a majority of the Assembly's 21 committees today and sought to reserve the power to challenge the Senate's Democratic leadership.

Assembly Speaker Robert T. Monagan, R-Tracy, announced committee members yesterday. The new lineup offers Gov. Ronald Reagan a better chance for passage of proposals to combat obscenity and campus disorders and to reform the state's tax structure.

The GOP moved from a 5-5 tie on the Criminal Procedure Committee to a 5-4 majority; from a 9-7 Democratic edge on the Education Committee to 9-8 Republican; from 8-6 Democratic on the Revenue and Taxation Committee to 8-7 Republican, and from Democratic to Republican control of the Ways and Means Committee, which considers the state's budget.

In the Senate, both parties held separate caucuses on 1969 house rules proposed by Senate President pro tem Hugh M. Burns, D-Fresno.

Later, the Senate Republican leader reported that his caucus wanted to ensure that the 40-member house could elect a new president pro tem with 20 votes — the number of seats now held by Republican members.

But Sen. Donald L. Grunsky of Watsonville, the Republican leader, emphasized that the GOP senators only "want to maintain our option" and not move against Burns now.

"We haven't decided what we're going to do," Grunsky said.

Burns' proposed rules, reportedly much the same as last year's would require 21 votes to elect a president pro tem.

But the Republicans hold a majority of seats, since the death of Sen. George Miller Jr., D-Martinez, reduced the Democrats' holding from 20 to 19.

A successor to Miller will be chosen by April.

One key committee with a Democratic majority is the new Urban Affairs and Housing Committee. Monagan created the committee this year although he reduced the total number of Assembly committees from 25 to 21.

Republicans selected for the powerful Rules Committee are Ernest N. Mobley of Sanger, William M. Ketchum of Paso Robles and Ray E. Johnson of Chico. With Chairman Eugene A. Chappie of Cool, the GOP holds a 4-3 edge on the committee.

Other committees controlled by Republicans are Agriculture, Commerce and Public Utilities, Elections and Constitutional Amendments, Finance and Insurance, Governmental Organization, Health and Welfare and Intergovernmental Relations.

Democrats also hold the edge on the Judiciary, Labor Relations, Local Government, Public Employment and Retirement, Transportation and Water committees. The Natural Resources and Conservation and Government Administration committees are split evenly between both parties.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Outpost Attack

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — Nine Laotians were killed and two were wounded in a Pathet Lao attack on a government outpost one mile north of Paksong, the administrator for the Operation Brotherhood hospital said today.

Heart Cases?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Postmortem studies of U.S. casualties in Vietnam reveal a large number of young men killed in the conflict would have faced possible heart attacks in later life had they survived war.

Lt. Col. Kenneth H. Cooper, an Air Force flight surgeon, said a forthcoming report from the Army will show that the percentage of casualties with signs of hardening of the arteries is up over what it was during the Korean conflict.

Occupy Building

LONDON (AP) — Several hundred militant students occupied London University's student unior building last night as part of a campaign to reopen the London School of Economics.

One student spokesman said sympathetic economics teachers would be asked to resume classes for the 3,000 students locked out by school authorities Friday. The facility was closed after militants tore down steel gates installed to help control student demonstrators.

The student union building is the recreational center for 20,000 studying at the university.

Okinawa Boss

NAHA, Okinawa (AP) — Lt. Gen. James Lampert was installed today as U.S. high commissioner of Okinawa and the other Ryukyu Islands and immediately plunged into consultations with local officials on the increasing resentment against the U.S. military bases on Okinawa.

Lampert promised in a television address he would strive for two goals — improving the welfare and living standards of the Ryukyuns and maintaining the U.S. military role to guard non-Communist Asia.

He met with Chobyo Yara, chief executive for the Ryukyus, prior to Yara's departure for Tokyo to confer with Japanese officials on a mass protest strike scheduled Feb. 4 in the islands.

Only One Try

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy says his late brother, Robert F. Kennedy, had decided to make only one try for the presidency.

The Massachusetts senator said in an interview yesterday that if his late brother had lost his 1968 bid for the White House "he said he would just go back to the Senate and not run again."

Attack Fatal

NEW YORK (AP) — Mark Shaw, who served as White House photographer for President Kennedy, died of a heart attack Sunday night in his East Side apartment. He was 47.

Shaw's candid photographs of the late president and his family received wide publication and after Kennedy's death in 1963 he published a book titled, "The John F. Kennedys — A Family Album."

One particular picture, showing Kennedy walking down a sandy path across the wind swept dunes in Hyannisport, Mass., was reported to be the President's favorite picture if himself.

Pakistan Riots

KARACHI, Pakistan (AP) — Pakistan's army, already on patrol in Lahore and parts of Karachi, was ordered into the northwest city of Peshawar today to put down more antigovernment rioting.

Radio Pakistan said Peshawar, on the approach to the storied Khyber Pass, was hit by a general strike protesting President Mohammed Ayub Khan's policies. All shops were closed and no traffic was moving.

The boradcast said Peshawar had been the scene of continuous agitation for several months and there were violent disturbances yesterday, but it gave no details.

Peace Agency

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bill to establish a cabinet-level Department of Peace will be reintroduced next month in the U.S. Senate, this time with Majority Leader Mike Mansfield as co-sponsor.

Sen. Vance Hartke, D-Ind., who first introduced the measure last year, said Mansfield's support enhances passage. A similar bill will be introduced in the House by Rep. Seymour Halpern, D-N.Y.

Maritime Force

BRUSSELS (AP) — Nations in the North Atlantic Treaty organization have agreed to set up a series of plans to bring together a combined fleet of as many as 50 ships in case of a crisis in the Atlantic, diplomats said today.

It was part of the NATO reaction to greatly increased Soviet naval activity in recent years.

This "maritime contingency force" would be under the orders of Adm. Ephraim P. Holmes. an American officer who is supreme commander for the alliance in the Atlantic. His headquarters are at Norfolk, Va.

It would supplement a small standing naval force — four or five ships — which already exists in the Atlantic. The United States, Britian, Belgium, Holland, Germany and Norway have contributed to the existing force, which is set up on a rotating basis.

Reds Shell Marines From Inside Of DMZ

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnamese troops just inside the demilitarized zone shelled U.S. Marines for the first time in more than a month last night, but a U.S. Command spokesman said today it was "trivial."

The spokesman said seven Leathernecks were wounded by 25 mortar shells before Marine artillery silenced the North Vietnamese guns six tenths of a mile inside the southern edge of the buffer zone.

The Marine unit that came under fire was 500 yards south of the southern boundary of the DMZ, said the spokesman. It was from the 3rd Marine Division's 4th Regiment. The spokesman said it was the first time the Marines had been shelled from inside the DMZ since Dec. 21.

The shelling was the second incident of enemy activity in the DMZ reported by the U.S. Command today and the 54th listed as "significant" since the Nov. 1 bombing halt.

Only scattered ground clashes and a few minor shellings were reported across the country.

Military spokesmen said today that American combat deaths have passed 31,000 and could exceed the Korean War's toll by May 13, the first anniversary of the Paris peace talks.

Admiral To Testify Publicly On Pueblo

CORONADO (AP) — The admiral who had operational control of the USS Pueblo told his story of the intelligence ship's seizure behind closed doors yesterday. The Navy then said he would repeat in public tomorrow the unclassified parts of it.

There was no hint of what Rear Adm. Frank L. Johnson, former commander of U.S. naval forces in Japan, testified during an afternoon-long appearance before a Navy Court of Inquiry.

A Navy spokesman, briefing newsmen, said the testimony was classified but that Johnson would appear at the open hearing for at least two hours and answer questions from attorneys for the Pueblo skipper, Cmdr. Lloyd M. Bucher.

"He will go over what he said in the closed session with classified matter taken out," the spokesman said.

As North Korean gunboats closed in on the Pueblo, Bucher radioed Johnson's headquarters at Yokosuka, Japan, with urgent pleas for help.

"These guys mean business" was one of Bucher's messages.

Johnson will have an opportunity to say publicly whether he considered the Pueblo adequately armed. Bucher said he got .50-caliber machine guns for his ship when he wanted larger .20-millimeter cannon.

Johnson's former chief of staff, Forrest A. Pease, spent the morning in closed session.

During the noon recess, Bucher's attorney, E. Miles Harvey, called a news conference to say Bucher thinks the public is wrong in getting indignant over his treatment by the court.

The court warned Bucher last week that he is suspected of breaking military regulations by surrendering the Pueblo and could be court-martialed."

"The court of inquiry has been completely fair," Harvey said.

"We have received hundreds of telegrams from people indignant with the court. This is simply wrong. It is not a big thing."

Harvey also said Bucher wants to command another ship, adding that Bucher "embodies to me everything you want in a commander and a commanding officer." He said Bucher was in good physical condition, that the hearings "have not been taxing on either his physical or mental health."

Harvey said Bucher has received 300 to 400 telegrams and "we have yet to receive one adverse telegram.

Disney Plans $35 Million Park Resort

BURBANK (AP) — A year-round resort 7,800 feet up in the High Sierra in Sequoia National Park received a go-ahead yesterday from the U.S. Forest Service.

The approval means "realization of one of Walt Disney's last and greatest dreams," said Disney's brother, Roy O. Disney, board chairman of the sponsoring Walt Disney Productions.

Among conservation groups opposing the development was the Sierra Club, a nationwide organization headquartered in San Francisco.

Dr. Edgar Wybrun, president, said the Sierra Club has "under consideration the filing of legal action, but first we want to study what the Disney firm plans and what is involved."

Wayburn said the club feared Mineral King Valley would be ruined since Disney plans "to put as many people into Mineral King on a given day as enter Yosemite Valley at any one time, and it is admitted Yosemite is overcrowded (and) Mineral King is one-sixth to one-third the size of Yosemite."

The resort will be known as Mineral King, after the valley. It will be built in a wilderness area 55 miles east of Visalia and about halfway between San Francisco and Los Angeles.

No automobiles will be allowed within one and one-half miles.

An estimated 5,000 skiers will zip down the slopes on weekends by 1973. By 1978 weekend skiers are expected to number 8,500. Most visitors are expected for summers, however, and sports such as horseback riding, hiking, camping and fishing.

Forest Service approval of the $35 million resort was announced at the news conference at the Disney studio by Regional Forester J. W. Deinema.

Crime Hike Ups Police Budget

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A 19 per cent increase in the crime rate will require a $4 million increase in the San Francisco Police Department budget, says Chief Thomas Cahill.

The increased amount would allow 90 more uniformed patrolmen and 49 additional parking control civilians, he told the Police Commission yesterday.

The boost in major crimes brought San Francisco's total to 48,179 in 1968, Cahill reported.

New civilians in the parking control section would relieve other officers for more stringent duties, he said.

His plan calls for tow-away enforcement by civilians and even traffic direction, but the latter would require a change in city law. The board of supervisors took the matter under submission pending detailed study.

Aide Opposes PG&E Rate Hike

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A brief filed by a staff attorney urges the California Public Utilities Commission to reject a $13.7 million gas rate increase asked by the Pacific Gas and Electric Co.

Attorney David R. Larrouy said yesterday the utility was asking the interim increase to compensate for $12 million more it must pay El Paso Natural Gas Co., this year and the rest for the federal government's new surtax.

In his motion, the attorney suggested that the commission consider the entire matter Feb. 6 when it hears PG&E's request for a $37 million boost that would include the $13.7 million.

While the commission has ordered a 6.25 per cent rate of return on utility investments, Larrouy asserted, PG&E is now making a return of 6.50 per cent.

Sgt. Sunshine Starts Jail Term

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Richard R. (Sgt. Sunshine) Bergess started a nine-month jail term today for smoking marijuana on the Hall of Justice steps.

The former policeman, who got his nickname from hippie friends, was sentenced yesterday in Superior Court by Judge Robert Drewes.

Judge Drewes had set bail at $1,500 so that Bergess, 32, could appeal his case but that was revoked when Contra Costa County sheriff's deputies arrested him in the courtroom hallway on additional narcotics charges.

Trade Espionage Attempt Claimed

CHICAGO (AP) — The FBI has arrested two Californians on charges of attempting a possible $1 million sale of a secret, newly developed chemical.

Taken into custody at O'Hare International Airport was Steven Lynn Ellis, 27, of San Jose. Arrested later was his brother, Tim Lloyd Ellis, 17, of Ben Lomond.

Both were charged with interstate transportation of stolen property.

Steven Ellis had 100 pounds of the chemical in his possession, FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said in Washington.

The older brother was a technician with Ray Chem of Menlo Park, California, which developed the chemical, a polymide resin used to insulate electrical wire and cable.

Maine entered the Union March 15, 1820.

New Mexico entered the Union Jan. 6, 1912.

Cars Control Civic Center Stoplights

The new traffic signal system on North San Pedro Road at the entrance to the Civic Center is a new type of vehicle-actuated signal known as Lane Occupancy Control (LOC), county traffic engineer James Robertson explained today.

When the entire intersection is clear of vehicles, all lights are red. The first car entering from any direction gets the green light long enough to let that car or other cars following pass without interruption. The lights respond to the number of cars occupying a lane, Robertson explained.

For example, if only one car is making a left turn, the light will turn amber while the car is making the turn. If a stream of cars are in the lane, the light remains green until the last car has cleared the lane.

A similar system of signals has been installed at Lucas Valley Road and Las Gallinas Avenue, and this should be in operation by the end of this week, said Robertson.

The signal system in front of the Civic Center cost $24,500, and the one in Lucas Valley, $24,715. Robinson said cost of the new LOC system is only slightly more than conventional traffic lights, perhaps $1,000 more for a $25,000 project.

Petaluma Also Eying Rules On Houseboats

The Petaluma City Council — taking note of current Marin County efforts to deal with problems of proliferating houseboats on its waterways and shores — began last night to prepare in advance to meet possible similar developments on the Petaluma River.

City Mgr. Robert H. Meyer said the city should first consider an ordinance that would protect the water quality by requiring all houseboat owners to connect into the city sewage system and not rely on septic or holding tanks.

The council agreed, but said regulations should not be so strict as to chase the river traffic away.

Meyer said that Marin County is battling the problem and predicted the next area to be faced with regulating houseboats will be Petaluma.

He said he had been approached by a developer interested in preparing a floating marina for houseboats at McNear Peninsula in the heart of the city.

"That area once properly dredged, could easily accommodate 12 houseboats," Meyer said, urging that regulations be seriously considered now. "What could we do if houseboats moved in tomorrow?"

City Atty. Edouard E.Robert questioned the necessity of a houseboat ordinance. "Who would want a houseboat on the Petaluma River when they could be on Richardson Bay or Bodega Bay?" He also questioned how the city could enforce any houseboat regulations.

Meyer insisted that consideration of regulations was practical and reported that houseboats are planned for a spot on the San Antonio Creek near the Petaluma River, south of the city.

David Young, city engineer, said any water pollution caused by boats on San Antonio Creek would in turn affect the water quality of the Petaluma River and reflect badly on the city.

Meyer said he would investigate the problem further by contacting Marin County officials to see what is happening there and said he will work with the Sonoma County Planning Department in preparing a uniform houseboat regulation.

The Petaluma City Council also:

WATER PROJECTS — Discussed the capital outlay programs for the water department that would require the full $180,000 budgeted allotment through June 30. Major projects included a water main extension on the Lakeville Highway; a new water main on Petaluma Boulevard South from H Street to Mountain View Road; new pumping stations for McNear and Magnolia avenues; and a new portable pump for summer and emergency use.

DEDICATION POLICY — Discussed briefly with City Attorney Robert a resolution setting city policy on the requiring of land dedication for street widening projects. The resolution will be considered more fully at the Feb. 4 council meeting.

A DRIVE IN MOUNTAIN SNOW

As seen through the window of a California Highway Patrol car, snow covered Mount Tamalpais today. About two inches fell on the upper slopes of the peak, with lighter amounts reported on other Marin ridges. The snow ended 11 days of heavy rain and high winds. state water and disaster officials, legislators and members of his personal staff. A driving hail storm ended just after Reagan took off from Sacramento Metropolitan Airport. After that, the weather was cloudy but dry.

Reconstruction will be funded partially by $3 million made available when President Nixon declared California a disaster area Sunday.

But a Los Angeles County supervisor, Frank G. Bonelli, suggested yesterday that the state gasoline tax be temporarily increased by half a cent to help pay for highway repairs.

Such a method was used in 1965 after highways and bridges in Northern California bore the brunt of flooding late in 1964.

Moe said preliminary estimates show state highways suffered more that $8 million in damage, and city streets and county roads suffered at least $21 million.

ideas as well as a request for more money.

Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell sat in on the meeting with more than a dozen Capitol Hill Republicans, as did Budget Director Robert P. Mayo, and George Romney, secretary of housing and urban development.

In advance of the two hours with congressional leaders, Nixon had an hour-long White House breakfast with Dirksen and House Republican chief Gerald R. Ford of Michigan.

St. Pat's Day Dance Is Set

The annual St. Patrick's Day dance of the Novato Volunteer Firemen's Association was set last night by the association for March 22 from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. at the IDESI Hall at Sweetser and Machin avenues, Novato.

Tino Granucci and his five-piece orchestra, which has played for the past three dances, will furnish the music.

Proceeds from the dance go into the sick and benefit fund of the firemen, according to Fire Chief George Cavallero.

Less Serious Counts Urged For Soldiers

An Army officer investigating the Army's charge of mutiny against six Presidio soldiers has urged that they stand trial for less serious charges.

The general court-martial beginning today at the Presidio could bring sentences of up to life imprisonment. Capt. Richard J. Miller, an attorney, in an investigation rejected by the post commander, has recommended lesser charges, and said that stockade rules may have contravened Army requirements for expression of prisoner grievances.

The six are among 27 charged with mutiny after they staged a sit-down strike in October protesting the killing by shotgun of a soldier who, the Army said, was trying to run away from a stockade work detail.

Among the 27 is Pvt. Keith Mather of San Bruno, one of the so-called Marin City Nine, who chained themselves together last summer in an antiwar protest at St. Andrew United Presbyterian Church.

Another group, the Oakland Seven — on trial with the felony of conspiring to commit misdemeanor crimes during anti-draft demonstrations in Oakland in 1967 — said yesterday they would protest the Presidio court-martial. Their trial in Oakland is recessed on Fridays, and the group, including Michael Smith, formerly of Corte Madera, plans to demand that the charges against the 27 soldiers be dropped and that conditions at the Presidio stockade be investigated.

Dangerous Drug Case In Court

James A. Gronczewski, 37, of 14 Sentinel Court, San Rafael, was arraigned yesterday in Marin Municipal Court on charge of possession of dangerous drugs.

Gronczewski was originally arrested on suspicion of possessing dangerous drugs for sale in a Dec. 3 raid at 14 Sentinel Court but was released while a substance believed to be methamphetamine he was carrying was analyzed.

His case was continued to Feb. 25 in Municipal Court.

Acrobatic Burglars Make A Large Haul

Acrobatic burglars Saturday climbed a tree outside the home of Edward B. Page, 25 San Carlos Avenue, dropped onto the patio and forced a door, Sausalito police said today.

Fair-Marin To Discuss Budget

Fair Marin directors decided last night they will meet every Wednesday night in February at 8 p.m. at the Civic Center to work on the budget for 1969-70.

A rough estimate of Fair-Marin's operating budget is $75,000 for the first year and more than $100,000 thereafter. The first year's expenses are expected to be lower than normal because the Veterans' Memorial Auditorium will not be operating until January 1970.

Chairman Harold Stockstad said directors last night talked with Nye Wilson, former manager of the Cow Palace, about auditorium operation in general. "We don't know whether we'll hire him as a consultant," said Stockstad.

Judge Continues Car Theft Case

The case of David B. Denison, 19, of 75 Lochinvar Road, San Rafael, was continued yesterday in Marin Municipal Court until Monday. He is charged with car theft.

Denison was arrested in Sebatopol with two other San Rafael youth, Mario J. Foglesang, 16, of 40 Miraflores Avenue, and Barry R. Hier, 15, of 248 Laurel Place. Police said they were driving a car stolen Jan. 19 in San Rafael.

The other youths were turned over to juvenile authorities.

Airline Wants Discount Probe

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Pacific Southwest Airlines yesterday complained to the California Public Utilities Commission that Air California is giving 50 per cent discounts to travel agents.

Travel agents usually get an 8 per cent discount on tickets they sell, and Air California offered the increased discount to introduce its new service between the Bay Area and Burbank.

PSA said the special discount was unfair competition and asked the commission to order Air California to cease and desist.

Collision Injures Woman Motorist

Denise M. Parry, 29, of 45 Woodland Avenue, San Rafael, was treated for neck strain at Marin General Hospital yesterday after a car collision in San Rafael.

A car driven by Daniel T. Radke, 33, of San Francisco, struck the Parry car in the rear is it slowed for traffic on Third Street at A Street at 10:30 a.m., San Rafael police said. Miss Parry went to the hospital for treatment at 3:40 p.m.

lege's faculty — struck Jan. 6 for better pay and working conditions and to support the student demands.

It was understood that the teachers, at the first session yesterday, presented their demands in detail.

Louis Heilbron, head of the trustees' liaison committee, reiterated the administration stand:

"Under the law, we are not in a position to sit down and agree on wages, hours and working conditions for 11,000 faculty members."

The 19 state colleges have about 11,000 faculty members of which some 2,000 are AFT members.

Service Station Plan Rejected

The Corte Madera Board of Design last night rejected a plan by Union Oil Co. of San Francisco for a new service station at 800 Tamalpais Drive, but suggested the resubmission of a more detailed drawing.

The original plan lacks a proper drainage solution, members said.

The board approved the design of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Buie for a deck enclosure at 139 Mariner Green Court.

Credit Card Hearing Held

Richard Anthony Conte, 31, of 121 Grove Avenue, Corte Madera, was arraigned yesterday in Marin Municipal Court on a charges of credit card forgery and conspiracy.

Oregon City Braces For More Snow

ENGENE, Ore. (UPI)—Oregon's second largest city prepared for more snow early today as it has faced the worst storm in its recorded history and found itself isolated a good part of the time.

Traffic moved through the area, but only with chains as the slow process of moving 30-inch deep snow proved a burdensome task for a community that doesn't have a snowplow.

The University of Oregon for the second straight day canceled classes, making it the second day weather had ever closed down the Eugene school. At Oregon State University, 40 miles to the northwest at Corvallis, classes were resumed today after a one-day closure—the first in 50 years caused by weather.

Three Perish In Apartment Blaze

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Three persons died and 15 others were injured today in a three-alarm fire that raced through a combination commercial and apartment building in this city adjoining Boston. Fire officials said they suspected arson.

The fire broke out just before dawn. It first was sighted by a passing truck driver. Police said the driver, who was unidentified, blew his air horn for several seconds to alert residents, then dashed inside and began pounding on doors. He slipped away before anyone learned his name, officers said.

Firemen were hampered in their efforts to extinguish the blaze by near-zero temperatures and heavy ice. Heavy smoke added more problems to their fight.

Nurse Pleads Innocent To Theft In Fairfax

A 41-year-old Santa Rosa practical nurse, being held by Santa Rosa authorities investigating the death of a woman whose body was found in her apartment, pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to charges of theft from her Fairfax employer.

Vera Mae Walsh, clad in orange sandals, a flowered house dress and blue sweater, limped slightly as she went before Judge Hadden W. Roth.

She was charged with taking a diamond ring and glassware from the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur C. Grimm of 35 San Gabriel Drive where, until her arrest in Santa Rosa, she was employed as a nurse caring for Grimm's mother.

No charges have been filed against her in Sonoma County, where she is being held for violation of parole while officers look into the death of another patient.

The body of Mrs. Gloria Giannis, 42, was found in Mrs. Walsh's apartment Jan. 10. It was wrapped in a sheet and blanket and tied with cord. Tests have determined Mrs. Giannis, who had been released from Mendocino State Hospital into Mrs. Walsh's care, died of an overdose of drugs.

Yesterday the Sonoma County District Attaorney's office and the Santa Rosa police said they are investigating funds missing from Mrs. Giannis's bank account.

Asst. Dist. Atty. John Hawkes said that funds may have been taken from the account after Mrs. Giannis' death.

Bayside Owners Hear Plan For San Pedro Widening

Preliminary plans for the next phase of the widening of San Pedro Road were outlined for the Bayside Acres Property Owners Association last night by Donald R. Frost, director of the county public works department.

Frost said plans were just getting underway and there are still alternatives on how the stretch from Lochinvar Road to Knight Drive will go, according to Bernie Heare, association president.

Heare said Frost indicated formal hearings will be held in April.

The planned widening may take some homes, Heare said, and about 50 Bayside Acres residents turned out last night to hear the plans.

In other business, Dr. John F. Plank, San Rafael School District superintendent, outlined plans for the new Glenwood Middle School to be built in Bayside Acres, Heare said.

John I. McInnis, chairman of the Marin County Board of Supervisors, appeared unexpectedly to explain why the county fire department sub-station was removed from McNear's brickyard.

Supervisors recently agreed to disband and transfer the substation to Lucas Valley because of lack of rental space for the truck and the fact that the equipment was not suited for protection of residential areas such as Bayside Acres.

The association also re-elected all four officers for another term. They are Bernie Heare, president; Frank O. Guerrini, vice president; Patricia Ewing, treasurer, and Ellen Polak, secretary.

Tac Squad Pair Get Suspensions

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Two members of San Francisco's police tactical squad were suspended yesterday on charges involving the beating of juveniles while drinking beer off-duty.

After hearings they were found guilty by the police commission.

Elbert W. Boyd, convicted of battery earlier in Municipal Court, was suspended for 10 months and Thomas J. Dougherty for 8 months. The commission convicted the men of multiple failures to report the incident, failure to notify their station of the disturbance and failure to perform police duties.

The Novato Police Department will hold a bicycle licensing clinic from 9 a.m. to noon Saturday at the Rancho School.

This clinic will inspect bicycles and issue lifetime licenses to the bicycle for a $1 fee, police reported. The clinic is sponsored by the Rancho School Parent-Teacher Association. There will not be any bicycle licensing at the Novato police station at the same time.

Brickbats Fly During Fairfax Budget Study

The Fairfax City Council ended its laborious item-by-item mid-year review of the current $464,379 budget last night, amid complaints and criticism.

"I think there is more effective spending of money," said Mayor Robert R. Souza following a lengthy discussion on tires and repairs for city equipment.

But Councilman Frank J. Egger pointed out, "At the end of the year we will have spent $20,000 more than we have budgeted." Souza said revenue estimates were up by $34,000.

'A DISASTER'

"The budget is a disaster," declared Stanley W. Little, chairman of the parks and recreation commission, after the session of juggling money from account to account.

The council approved a $1,150 request from Street Supt. Edgar Phillips for tires and maintenance for his department, but turned down until May a $1,000 request for summer salaries from the parks and recreation commission.

Egger criticized the lack of budget controls and read a statement from the city's auditor, calling for better controls through purchase orders.

City Clerk Frances Lestanguet said the only time purchase orders weren't issued was on vehicle repair jobs since it was difficult to determine in advance how much they would cost.

EXTRA COSTS

"Our repair bills are way out of line," Egger shot back.

The $20,000 to be expended over what was budgeted includes council salaries, additional funds for the police and fire departments, a sum for preparation of a master plan for parks and dozens of smaller items.

It was not made clear whether the budget includes a continued $150 a month extra for the city clerk while she handles some of the duties of a city administrator.

In November, the council agreed to pay her the extra $150, but declared the amount a temporary measure, good only until the council and city office personnel make a study of the work involved and the time it takes. Mayor Souza and Councilman Adelaide P. Wilson were appointed by Souza to make the study and report back in January, which they have not yet done.

The Fairfax City Council also:

MEADOWLAND — Rezoned a large, recently annexed subdivision on the west end of Fairfax from single family residential to a planned development district.

POLICE — Authorized Police Chief James R. Orr to recruit police cadet.

Dental Poster Awards Slated

Awards for posters marking children's dental health week, which were made by Marin grade school children, will be presented at a meeting of the Marin Dental Society and its auxiliary on Feb. 11.

The meeting will be at 8 p.m. in the home of Dr. Julian M. Lifschiz, 27 Dunfries Terrace, San Rafael.

Dr. William R. Canihan of Novato will speak at 9 a.m. Feb. 5 on radio station KTIM about dental health week, Feb. 2-8.

Fairfax Council Eyes Congress's Proposals

Recommendations of the Fairfax Congress for Community Progress will be considered item by item at coming city council meetings, despite efforts last night by Mayor Robert R. Souza to "take them under advisement" or appoint a committee.

"I think we can research these items to death," said Councilman Frank J. Egger as he protested the committee idea.

The recommendations include immediate reestablishment of the city administrator form of government; building a new fire-police-administration compex; restriping Sir Francis Drake Boulevard to four lanes and limiting parking on it; placing Center Boulevard in the county urban thoroughfare system and signalizing it, and a host of other items.

Marin County Supervisor Peter R. Arrigoni Jr., a former Fairfax mayor and chairman of one of the panels at the December congress, suggested traffic relief might come another way.

"I think before this year is out you're going to see a new transportation system, and I hope to see a bus system operated by the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District," Arrigoni told the council.

Councilman Adelaine P. Wilson maintained Fairfax couldn't do anything alone on the traffic problem. "When San Anselmo decides what they're going to do then we can decide what we're going to do," she said.

Developer Mathew Farr said changing Sir Francis Drake to four lanes would help his subdivision at the west end of the city and predicted it would help anything else that comes to Fairfax.

Another recommendation from the town meeting, presented formally to the council last night by congress chairman Jack Haley Jr., was to form a group to assist youth's communication with the Establishment.

Stanley W. Little, a member of the congress project committee said 24 persons signed up for such a group and the project committee planned to get them together soon.

Mayor Souza suggested naming a youth delegate to attend meetings of the park and recreation commission with the idea of making the youth a voting member when there is an opening.

Egger suggested appointing a youth advisory commission to the council to take care of more of youth's concerns than recreation.

However, Souza said there would be "administrative problems" in such a commission. He did not elaborate.

The council agreed to begin the continuing study with recommendations of the civic affairs panel, including the city administrator and the fire-police-administration building.

Tiburon Plans To Annex 60 Acres Of County Land

The Tiburon City Council last night announced plans to annex approximately 60 acres of county territory adjacent to Reedland Woods subdivision.

The area, known as Reedland Woods Unit II, has been subdivided but is uninhabited, City Mgr. Lawrence D. Rose said. At present, six homes have been constructed in the subdivision.

The annexation proposal will go before the Marin County Local Agency Formation Commission in February. Rose said subdivision owners have consented to the annexation.

The property, which is also contigious to the new Reedland Woods School and Bel Aire School contains 79 lots of a maximum one-third acre in size, he said.

He also announced that Reed School trustees have informally indicated they are interested in annexing both schools to the city in the near future.

Referring to school district's budget and tax problems, Councilman Branwell D. Fanning said, "The board has a few other hot issues to deal with now but they are interested in annexing when they have time."

This is the first proposal of annexation of unincorporated property by the city since its attempt to annex the entire peninsula, including the coveted tax-rich Strawberry Town and Country Shopping Center, failed in August 1967.

Witness Recalls Blood On Face

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— A prosecution witness testified yesterday that Policeman Michael O'Brien, on trial for manslaughter, had blood on his face after he fatally shot a Negro truck driver to death in an argument.

The defense contends that O'Brien was struck with a small stick by George Baskett during a brawl last year which followed a minor traffic accident while the officer was off duty.

David Anderson, 18, a student at San Francisco State College who witnessed the shooting from a nearby rooftop, testified that he didn't know how the blood got on O'Brien's face. He also said he hadn't mentioned the blood to police investigating the incident.

More Jail Time

Dennis Leslie Yates, 21, of Santa Venetia, was sentenced yesterday in Marin Superior Court to an additional 45 days in the county jail for violation of probation. Yates was sentenced to three years probation in 1966 for possession of a check with intention of defrauding another person.

Tires Stolen

William Rider, manager of the Petaluma Tire Co., 246 Petaluma Boulevard South, Petaluma, reported yesterday that 13 tires were taken from a storage room during the weekend. They were valued at $320. Police said that all doors had been securely locked with no signs of forced entry.

10 Trapped Miners Are Brought Out

MOUNT MORRIS, Pa. (AP) — The last of several men feared trapped deep in a burning coal mine were rescued at noon today.

Gov. Arch A. Moore of nearby West Virginia said in Charleston that the last 10 men had reached safety.

One was taken to a hospital for treatment of smoke inhallation.

They were among nearly 100 men working in Humphrey No. 7 mine at dawn when a portion of the roof collapsed and triggered an electrical fire, Moore said. The rest of the miners reached safety quickly, emerging from three entrances away from the fire.

The mine sprawls under the West Virginia-Pennsylvania line but its main portal, near where the fire occurred, is just south of this Pennsylvania community.

It is about 20 miles northeast of Mannington, W.Va., where 78 miners died in a series of fires and explosions that ripped through another Consolidation-owned mine last Nov. 20.

Early reports indicated the fire was touched off by a roof fall near the mine's main portal. Most of the men working in the shafts made their way to safety through three other entrances.

Three rescue teams entered the mine shortly after the fire was discovered and attempted to prevent the blaze from spreadiing along the main shaft.

Dodging Deer Causes Crash

A San Anselmo motorist attempting to dodge a deer about 2:20 p.m. yesterday suffered a head cut in a three-vehicle collision on Magnolia Avenue near Bon Air Road, Larkspur police said today.

Officers said Kenneth Wayne Darling, 34, of 8 Myrtle Lane, was traveling south on Magnolia in a pickup truck when the deer crossed the street.

Darling slowed his vehicle, they said. A vehicle behind him driven by Philip John Russell, 17, of 48 Woodland Road, Kentfield, also slowed, but was struck in the rear by the third vehicle, a truck driven by Dan Eugene Morrison, 21, of Petaluma, according to the patrol.

Darling was treated at Marin General Hospital.

Admitted Car Theft Brings Tests Order

Daniel Clarence Cameron, 63, of San Rafael pleaded guilty yesterday in Marin Superior Court to stealing a car Nov. 15 from C and D Motor sales in San Rafael by paying for it with a bad check.

Cameron, who has spent 12 to 14 years in various state prisons on bad check charges, was ordered to Vacaville state prison for 90 days psychiatric study.

Tiburon Peninsula Trail Plan Passes

The long sought trails plan for the Tiburon Peninsula last night was approved by the Tiburon City Council.

On a 4-1 vote with Councilman Thomas E. Drohan dissenting, the council approved the alignment of trails and directed that further study be undertaken of how the ridge trail section of the plan can be implemented.

Drohan objected that the plan, as presented, only outlined the trails on the map and did not deal with such questions as police protection, fire hazards, maintenance costs, possible objections of neighbors to riding trails and possible attractiveness to tourists.

Other councilmen argued that such questions would be taken up later. The council also indicated that alignment details were subject to further study.

In its approval, the council deleted Corinthian Island from the trails map, saying trails on the island — specifically, one short lane — would be handled independently by the council at some future date.

Parks and Recreation Commissioner Polly O. Smith said the commission had studied the plan, prepared by Walter Horchler, county planner, for more than a year. Commissioners have also hiked over all the proposed trails, she said.

The plan has also won the approval of the city's planning commission and the county planning commission.

About 77 per cent of the trails outlined on the map are in the county areas of the peninsula, leaving only 23 per cent under city jurisdiction, Mrs. Smith noted.

The plan calls for about eight miles of riding and hiking trails from Point Bluff at the southern tip of the Tiburon Peninsula to Alto Hill. This is supplemented by about nine miles of pedestrian side loops to such points as the Old Tiburon Net Depot and Paradise Park.

Cost of purchasing the entire trail system has been estimated at approximately $900,000 by the county planning staff.

Taxable Retail Sales Up In Third Quarter

Taxable retail sales in Marin were higher in the third quarter of 1968 than in the second, according to reports issued by the state board of equalization.

The third quarter total was $81,666,000, compared to the second quarter total of $75,811,000.

However, the percentage gain was less than the third quarter gain in 1967.

The increase fro April, May, June was 15.7 per cent over the same period a year ago, while sales in July, August, September rose 7.7 per cent over the third quarter of 1967.

A comparison by cities listed in the report, with the second quarter listed first, shows: Corte Madera, $8,222,000, $8,354,000; Novato, $6,724,000, $6,820,000; San Rafael, $30,416,000, $34,559,000.

Sonoma County's retail sales in the second quarter totaled $77,932,000, with Petaluma accounting for $20,125,000 of the total.

In the third quarter, the total for the county was $88,712,000, with Petaluma reporting $10,560,000.

1,000-Foot New Tower For City?

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A slim, white pyramidal office building, with the point of its 240-foot spire 1,000 feet above Montgomery street in the city's financial district, is planned by Transamerica Corp.

The structure, still needing planning commission approval, would be San Francisco's tallest building.

Transamerica, a holding company, unveiled a model of the skyscraper yesterday and said its global headquarters would occupy about one-third of the 475,000 square feet of floor space in the 55-story pyramid.

Work was scheduled to start late this year and completion is set for the spring of 1972. The $30 million tower would be on Montgomery street between Clay and Washington.

At the ground level will be open courtyard around the supporting pillars. Escalators will run to a glass-enclosed lobby on the second floor. As it rises, the building tapers to its spire point, the floors diminishing from 130-feet-square at the bottom to 50-feet-square on the 55th floor.

The design not only affords more light and air to the street below and surrounding buildings but gives "increased stability under seismic stress," according to the architect, William L. Pereira of Los Angeles.

Marinite Named Crusade Officer

Edward W. Bullard Jr. of Ross was elected vice president of the five-county United Bay Area Crusade at a meeting yesterday in San Francisco of the crusade's board of directors.

Bullard will be chairman of the Marin contingent on the board of directors. Marion H. Marks of San Rafael was elected Marin vice chairman. Richard P. Sooley of San Francisco, a former Marin resident, was elected chairman of the crusade.

Workshop Slated On Bayside Bike Trail, Facilities

A luncheon workshop on planning a bicycle trail and recreational facilities along Richardson Bay will be held at 11 a.m. Feb. 8 at the Dock restaurant on Main Street.

Beverly Bastian, president of the Belvedere-Tiburon Landmarks Society, and Third District Supervisor Michael Wornum will be featured speakers at the luncheon, sponsored by the Tiburon Parks and Recreation Commission.

Mrs. Bastian will speak on the "Past History of Richardson Bay" and Wornum on "Future Planning — Now."

The Marin Conservation League will feature members Douglas Ferguson, a Sausalito attorney; and Mill Valley architect Clifford J. Hanssen in a panel discussion of current development in Richardson Bay.

Following the luncheon program, persons attending the workshop will participate in study sessions on use of the railroad right of way, development of Blackie's Pasture, recreational facilities along the bay and the future state highway.

The study groups will schedule future meetings at the end of the workshop.

Pleads Innocent

Joseph Caselli, 50, of Novato, pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Superior Court to a charge of felony drunken driving stemming from an arrest Oct. 26 on Highway 101. The case was continued until Feb. 10 for setting of a trial.

Boulevard Plans Not Acceptable

After a long fight for a safer Sir Francisco Drake Boulevard, the Greenbrae Property Owners Association has decided "we have no recourse but to live with this dangerous condition for the time being."

In a letter to its membership, the association reported turning down a commitment from the county to contribute a quarter of the cost to improve the boulevard if the Kentfield School District would pay one quarter and the local Greenbrae property owners pay the remaining half.

"We do not believe that formula is fair or equitable," said the letter. "We do not believe this community (or the school district) should have to remedy a problem brought into Greenbrae by the county's poor judgment."

The property owners demanded county action for safety improvements after a 12-year-old Greenbrae boy was killed last June when his bicycle swerved off the sidewalk into the path of a cement truck on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

The association will meet 8 p.m. Monday at Greenbrae School, to hear Supervisor Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. give his views on property taxes and the commute problem. The property owners will also elect members of the board of directors.

Eight Receive Abatement Notes At Waldo Point

Eight structures that encroach on county streets at Waldo Point in Richardson Bay have been ordered abated, Deputy County Counsel Joseph A. Forest reported yesterday.

Unless the structures are removed immediately, owners will be ordered to report before Marin supervisors at 3 p.m. Feb. 11 to explain why they have not complied.

The owners, who were served with abatement notices, are:

Donlan J. Arques, who has two properties at Gate 4, a pile driver on Humboldt Street and a sunken barge at Sonoma and Humboldt avenue; Peter Day, houseboat on Sonoma Street; Mary Van Anda, houseboat on Sonoma; Milo Ardison, sailing sloop on Waldo Street; a person identified only as W. Carlson, houseboat on Sonoma; Steve Martin, care of G. A. Woodbury, houseboat at Humboldt Avenue and Sonoma Street; Paul W. Rauquest, trailer on a flotation hull on Waldo Street.

Guilty Plea In Selling Marijuana

Timothy Jack Coy, 24, of no fixed address, pleaded guilty yesterday in Marin Superior Court to selling marijuana on Feb. 24, 1968.

Coy was arrested during a widespread narcotics roundup in the county last February.

Judge Harold J. Haley ordered him to appear for sentencing at 2 p.m. Feb. 24.

Heritage Fair Set

An arts and cultural fair called the "California Heritage Fair" will be held near Muir Woods National Monument on Memorial Day weekend, May 30, 31 and June 1.

County Zoning Administrator Thomas E. Cordill said yesterday he will grant the use permit to Hillwood Academic Day School of San Francisco, which has a five-acre retreat across the road from Muir Woods National Monument parking area. The retreat fronts on Camino De Canon at the intersection with Frank Valley Road.

Mrs. Mary J. Libra, director of the school, told the zoning administrator she had contacted health, police and fire officials to make sure the fair will meet all requirements. "It will be a relaxing and enjoyable outdoor fair compatible with the woodsy surroundings," she said. All neighbors in the area sent letters supporting the fair.

Cordill announced he would issue the use permit within two weeks, after he reviews all conditions such as crowd control, traffic control, parking, fire protection and health and safety.

Windows Broken

Frederick Adrians of 7564 Burton Avenue, Rohnert Park, reported that two windows were broken during the weekend at a home he is building at 413 Fair Street, Petaluma. He estimated damage at $43.

Petaluma Board To Get Report On Film Series

The Petaluma Board of Education will hear a report from study committees including the "Time of Your Life" film series in family education classes today at 8 p.m. at the administration building.

Supt. Lesly H. Meyer, will present a recommendation to the board as well as the study committees from each of the seven elementary schools. The committees and parents had the opportunity to view each segment of the controversial KQED series on sex education.

Also on the agenda is the presentation of plans for an addition to Kenilworth Junior High School as prepared by architects Reynolds and Chamberlain.

Codeine Stolen

Burglars apparently pried a glass door Sunday to enter the office of Dr. Harold M. Lyons, 81 Casa Buena Drive, and made off with about six codeine pills, Corte Madera police said yesterday.

Civic Panel To Organize

The Marin Council Affairs will meet at 8 p.m. tomorrow in planning commission chambers at the Civic Center to organize a new board of directors, which will be approved at an annual meeting next month.

Chairman Walter E. Zurcher said the council will fill vacancies on the 25-member board of directors and set up subcommittees and subcommittee chairmen.

The group will also discuss its role as advisory comittee on the workable program for community improvement. The program is a document prepared annually by the planning staff so that Marin will qualify for federal housing funds.

Mother, Son Suffer Minor Auto Injuries

A Sleepy Hollow resident and her son suffered minor injuries in a two-car collision Sunday at the intersection of Butterfield Road and Rosemont Avenue in San Anselmo.

Mrs. June Reed, 44, of 184 Deer Hollow Road, suffered forehead and nose cuts. Her son, Brian, 12, suffered minor cuts and bruises.

San Anselmo police said they were passengers in a car driven by June Victoria Trail, 48, of 220 Cascade Drive, Fairfax, and traveling south on Butterfield Road.

Officers said the Trail vehicle crossed the center line at 3:15 p.m. and struck a car traveling north and driven by Philip Robert Salminia, 60, of Point Reyes Station.

Mrs. Trail was cited for driving on the wrong side of the road.

She and Salminia were not hurt.

The first air raid was carried out by pilotless balloons sent by the Austrians in 1849 to bomb Venice.

Defraud Charge Suspect Nabbed

A San Anselmo man was booked into Marin County Jail Saturday night on suspicion of defrauding an innkeeper after he was reportedly unable to pay his bill at the Kettle, 209 Third Street, San Rafael.

Police said they went to investigate a report of the man disturbing others and asked him to pay his bill before taking him to jail and he had only $1 of the $5.25 bill.

The man, Ernest Eddy, 39, of 50 Ridge Road, San Anselmo, was freed on bail fo $125 to appear at 2 p.m, tomorrow in Marin Municipal Court.

HONORED AGAIN — Col. Thomas K. Potter, Jr., commander of the Western Aerospace Rescue and Recovery Center at Hamilton Air Force Base, has been awarded his second Legion of Merit medal, this one for outstanding service at Scott Air Force Base, Ill. The first award was for his service with the joint staff of the Joint Chiefs of Staff in Washington, D. C.

Marin Scout Panel Hopes To Get Land

The Marin Boy Scout Council hopes to acquire 900 acres of valley land with a stream running through it, surrounded by steep redwood covered slopes in Mendocino County.

The land has been offered free by Ralph Rupert of San Francisco, owner of San Francisco Materials Co. Boy Scout officials are now negotiating with Rupert on any conditions of the gift, said William H. Sherwood, Marin council executive explained.

Though Rupert is expected to donate the land to the council, the council would have to pay taxes of about $3,000 for its first year of ownership before the acreage could be put on the non-taxable, non-profit rolls, Sherwood said.

Sherwood said the land would be used for small group scout camping and that summer camp facilities probably would not be considered for about 10 years.

The land is located eight miles southwest of Ukiah and was the site of a dam which formerly supplied Ukiah with water. The dam was washed out in 1964, Sherwood said. There is a house, a half completed house and a barn on the property, he said.

Sherwood said the offer of the land came when Rupert happened to meet a Marin scout official wearing a scouting lapel pin which Rupert recognized. Rupert expressed an interest in scouting and the offer of the land followed.

Home Is Looted

Burglars entered the unlocked home of H. Gordon Beesley, 17 Garden Road, Ross, between 4 and 10 a.m. Sunday and stole a portable television set, a .20 gauge shotgun, a .22-caliber rifle and $15 and $25 money orders, Ross police reported yesterday.

EXPERTS' OPINION

Drug Abstinence A Futile Pitch

Educators' efforts to make students abstain from drug use are all but useless, a psychiatrist and drug expert told Tamalpais High School teachers yesterday.

Efforts would probably be better spent teaching young people to avoid abuse of any drug, whether it's tobacco, alcohol, coffee or marijuana, said Sanford J. Feinglass, former coordinator of the Marin County Drug Abuse Education Program.

The United States is a drug-oriented culture, he said. LSD advocates, he said, recommend "one of Owsley's pink wedges, and television says to take the blue compoz."

"If you accept drug use as a pathological state," Feinglass said, "you have to accept that the great majority of the United States is pathological.

He said two other drugs are "infinitely more harmful than marijuana . . . alcohol and amphetamines."

Adults use alcohol, he said, and young people increasingly turn to amphetamines, a "most extravagantly horrendous drug" in its physical effects.

Feinglass and Dr. Gerald Hill, San Rafael psychiatrist, outlined results of several studies of marijuana use.

One study concluded that marijuana is a mild drug with shortlived effects, contrary to previous medical belief, Hill said.

But studies with the drug essence, tetrahydrocannabinol, produced toxic effects, hallucinations and in some cases a psychotic state.

Feinglass suggested the marijuana high may be a matter of indoctrination — new users are told by experienced users to recognize tingling fingers and the like as symptoms, then are conditioned to accept the symptoms as pleasureable and part of the high.

Feinglass said marijuana is a drug, in which the experienced user decides how high he wants to go and will not go higher except by accident.

Hill said some 15 to 20 per cent of marijuana users may become habituated and dependent on it. "This is a major problem, and can't be sluffed off just because for 75 per cent it's nontoxic," he said. "Any drug that can break 15 to 20 per cent of its users is dangerous."

Police Investigating San Rafael Burglaries

San Rafael police are investigating eight burglaries reported to them in the past five days.

Last night someone entered the unlocked home of William A. Muzinich of 106 Reservoir Road and stole $3,000 in cash, a .38-caliber revolver valued at $40 and 10 cartridges and ransacked the house.

An unkown number of television and stereo radio and record player sets were taken from the appliance sales room of McPhails Inc., 917 C Street, when burglars entered through an unlocked side window Sunday night. Store owners were checking inventory to determine the number of sets stolen.

Metal skis and bindings valued at $105 were taken from the unlocked garage at the home of Gene L. Mason of 20 Chestnut Avenue Friday or Saturday.

Burglars broke through a rear window at Marin Metal Salvage, 718A Francisco Boulevard, sometime between Thursday night and Monday morning to take hand tools valued at $25, two fire extinguishers, four used tires valued at $20. A pay telephone was ripped from the wall and taken.

A radio valued at $32 and a guitar cord worth $5 were stolen from a houseboat docked at the rear of 51 Harbor Street. Theft of possession of Thomas J. Lepinski, 34 Sunnyhill Road, Novato, occurred Thursday or Friday. Entrance was gained through an unlocked hatch cover.

Someone broke two glass panels in a door at San Rafael High School over the weekend, entered a driver training instruction room and stole a wrist watch belonging to Paul Eisenberg of Fairfax, a driving teacher at Terra Linda High School.

A 12-volt battery was taken from a San Rafael schools car during the weekend while it was parked in a parking area at 38 Union Street.

James W. Kirchanski of 38 Bonnie Banks Way, San Rafael, reported to police that a sideview mirror valued at $10 was unscrewed from his car as he dined Friday evening at Hansa House Family Buffet at Northgate Shopping Center.

Magnin Pledge Aids Art Cause

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Cyril Magnin, a department store owner, donated $100,000 yesterday to help keep the Avery Brundage art collection in San Francisco.

Magnin, the Greater San Francisco Chamber of Commerce's outgoing president, made the pledge at the chamber's 119th annual dinner.

It is to go towards a $1.5 million fund for the upkeep and enrichment of the collection of Asian art objects which is now in the M. H. de Young Memorial Museum in Golden State Park.

Psychiatrist's Talk Feb. 4 At College

An address by psychiatrist Graham B. Blaine Jr. on "Youth and the Hazards of Affluence" at Dominican College will be at 8 p.m. Feb. 4, not tonight, as reported in yesterday's Independent-Journal.

Dr. Blaine, chief of psychiatry for Harvard University Health Services, will speak in Guzman Hall.

Poetry Reading

Marin Poet Neill Whitman will read selections from the works of Hermann Hesse, Bradford Shank and Kenneth Noyes at 8 p.m. Thursday in the Mill Valley Library gallery.

Novatans To Have Right Of Elected Mayor

The Novato City Council will be told tonight it is empowered to seek voter approval of a plan to make the position of mayor elective.

The mayor is currently chosen by councilmen from among themselves, but a Novato resident asked at the Dec. 10 council meeting whether the public should be given the right to select a mayor.

Divided on whether Novato, as a general law city subject to regulations of the state government code, could elect its mayor, the council asked City Atty. Clark M. Palmer Jr. for an opinion.

BY 1959 ACTION

Palmer said yesterday that general law cities were empowered by the Legislature in 1959 to elect a mayor for a four-year term. Municipal voters must implement the change.

Although an elected mayor draws slightly more pay than an appointed one and enjoys minor appointive powers, the difference between the two types is largely insignificant in Marin and Sonoma County cities whose charters do not grant sweeping power.

An elected mayor would remain as a voting member of the council and still preside over it, Palmer said.

Two local cities which elect a mayor are Petaluma and San Rafael, although both were established much earlier than Novato and are known as charter cities. Novato was incorporated nine years ago.

San Rafael City Mgr. Dan E. Anderson noted a mayor is elected there every two years, although city officials would like the term changed to four years.

BACKS LONGER TERMS

City Mgr. Robert H. Meyer of Petaluma—where a mayor is chosen every four years—said the longer term gives "contiuity" in dealing with federal agencies.

"The people in other governments know that they will be dealing with the same person, so it makes such dealings easier," Meyer said.

The system of rotating council appointees in the mayor's chair has an advantage, Meyer said, in that "if you get someone who does a lousy job, the the city is stuck with him for only a year, but if you elect him for four years, the city is stuck with him for that length of time."

Meyer said Petaluma Mayor Helen Putnam receives $5 more per meeting than other councilman, but said that should be increased.

Folk Songs Set

The Jewish Folk Chorus of San Francisco and Petaluma will sing Yiddish and Hebrew folk songs at the annual meeting of the Jewish Community Center of Marin at 8 p.m. Monday at the center, 200 North San Pedro Road, Santa Venetia. Members will elect directors to the center board.

Bagley Seeks New Data Committee

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Formation of a special legislative study committee to update laws guaranteeing public access to public records and public meetings was proposed yesterday by Assemblyman William T. Bagley of San Rafael.

To be known as the Assembly Committee on Statewide Information Policy, it is to have three Assembly members, one each from the committees on government organization, judiciary and finance-insurance, of which Bagley is the chairman.

Bagley's proposal also provides that the committee will be empowered to create advisory committees composed of representatives of public agencies, private industry and the news media.

The committee is similar to Bagley's Advisory Committee on Public Records, which last year successfully drew up the Public Records Act of 1968.

That act, introduced by Bagley, was the first revision in this century of state laws to guarantee access to public records.

Among the subjects to be studied by the new committee, said Bagley, is "the growing use of computer data banks in both industry and government, which require added attention to the need to protect the right to individual privacy."

Also to be studied are "modern methods of processing, collecting, storing and disseminating information in both public and private agencies," Bagley said.

He reportedly plans to include credit bureaus in this study.

Bagley's proposal, which would set up the committee for one year, was referred to the rules committee.

Shaw Jury Speeded After Report Issue Tossed Out

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—With all questions about the Warren Clay Shaw trial picked up speed Harold W. Bainum Jr., 24, a credit manager at a loan company, and Warren E. Humphrey, 52, a Negro postal clerk, were the ninth and tenth jurors seated. Twelve, plus two alternates, are required.

Of the eight who preceded them to the jury box, seven had to pass a Warren report test. Now no more prospects may be asked:

"Do you believe the Warren Commission's conclusion that no conspiracy existed in the assassination of President John F. Kennedy?" "Do you believe Lee Harvey Oswald was part of a conspiracy?"

Shaw, 55, a retired New Orleans businessman, was charged by Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison with conspiring—with Oswald and others—to murder President Kennedy.

Sizing up a potential juror is often a matter of intuition for a trial lawyer but a key question may provide a clue. Asst. Dist. Atty. James L. Alcock and chief defense lawyer F. Irvin Dymond gauged replies to the Warren Report test intently.

Plainly, both felt the test indicated how a man's sentiments might lean. The only acceptable answer was "no opinion."

But questions about the Warren Report fell on a line of law as thin as a razor's edge. Judge Edward A. Haggerty Jr. had to decide the issue.

First he upheld Dymond, who argued that a man who doubted the Warren Report should be dismissed as possibly prejudiced for the state.

The line of law involved often brought baffled stares from prospective jurors as it was outlined for them.

Actor Charles Winninger Dies

PALM SPRINGS (AP) — Chubby, white-haired Charles Winninger, a veteran of more than 50 years in vaudeville, motion pictures, radio and television, is dead at the age of 84.

Winninger, who began his acting career in 1893, touring with his parents and four brothers and sisters, died yesterday at his home. He had been inactive since breaking a hip four years ago.

He started out as a boy soprano and drummer. With the retirement of his family, he joined the New York production of "Yankee Girl" as a comedian. Later he portrayed the original Captain Andy in Ziegfeld's production of "Showboat."

Sales Tax Hike For BART Backed

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The San Francisco Bay Area Council today announced its approval of a half-cent sales tax increase as the most feasible way of financing the Bay Area Rapid Transit deficit.

A letter to Bay Area legislators, signed by S. Clark Beise, head of the council's rapid transit committee, said the sales tax solution has the merit of being only a temporary tax and requires no additional financing or interest cost.

Park Master Plan Study Under Way

The Rohnert Park Recreation Commission last night began study on a master plan for park development with the aid of members of the Sonoma County Planning Department.

Planning to continue the practice of placing parks adjacent to school sites, Chairman Ronald E. Rasmussen said the commission will arrange a joint meeting with representatives of the Petaluma Board of Education and Cotati School District trustees to further the school-park plans.

The commission agreed last night that athletic facilities will receive more attention than leisure parks since the city has a large population of children who would benefit by increased baseball diamonds and football fields.

"We'd like to see that children needn't leave Rohnert Park to participate in athletic activities," Rasmussen said, adding that a few leisure parks are not being ruled out.

Commissioners also gave thought to ways of developing small, neighborhood parks in areas where there are vacant lots which are overrun with weeds.

The Rohnert Park Recreation Commission also:

SPEAKER — Acknowledged receipts of a portable amplifier system presented by the Faith Presbyterian Church of Rohnert Park. Rasmussen said the speaker system will be used to announce atheltic events and community activities.

RECREATION CENTER—Received for study from City Mgr. Peter M. O. Callinan a list of proposed regulations to govern the use of the new community and recreation center scheduled for completion by March 1.

Tryouts Slated

Tryouts for actors for four contemporary American plays to be produced by David Marshall of Mill Valley will be conducted at 8 p.m. Sunday and Monday in Studio D of the Marin Heliport, 240 Redwood Highway, Mill Valley. Marshall said the plays will be produced at the heliport and in Santa Clara and Berkeley.

Teens Stage Walkout At Juvenile Facility

Nine teen-agers, being held at the preplacement center of Marin County Juvenile Hall, walked out of the "jail with no locks" last night in an apparent protest over what they thought to be the suspension of a counselor.

One youth was still missing this morning, according to juvenile authorities, and one was in Marin County Jail, where he was taken after brandishing a club at police officers.

Probation Officer James Soetart said that the teen-agers apparently thought that a woman counselor whose shift had been changed had been fired.

When they staged the mass walkout about 10:30 p.m., officers at the center pursuaded three to return immediately. Five others, including Michael John Mulqueeney, 17, of no fixed address, who was booked into jail, were arrested by various police officers.

The name of the youth still missing today was not available from juvenile authorities.

The preplacement center, which formerly housed the Family Rehabilitation Center, is used for youngsters who are not considered by juvenile authorities to need the more stringent security of Juvenile Hall.

Novato Planners Give Nod To Rezoning Of Six Acres

The Novato Planning Commission last night approved rezoning approximately six acres between Rancho School and the Nave Shopping Center, west of South Novato Boulevard.

The rezoning from agricultural to planed residential was requested by Paul Pickart, according to Warren Baker, assistant planning director Pickart was required to dedicate the right-of-way for the extension of Hill Road to South Novato Boulevard, Baker said.

The rezoning must be approved by the Novato City Council before it becomes final.

The Novato Planning Commission also:

PIZZA — Granted Marshall A. Benson a permit to operate a takeout and delivery pizza restaurant in the Nave Center on South Novato Boulevard and Center Road.

SIGN — Granted Ted. R. Schuman Chevrolet Co. a variance for a sign for "Schuman's Travel Center" but denied the request for a sign reading "Campers, Trailers and Mobile Homes."

ORDINACE — Requested that the council change the definition of shopping centers from five acres with eight or more stores to a shopping area all under one ownership and also requested the elimination of readerboards from the proposed changes to the zoning ordinance.

CONTINUED — Continued until Feb. 10 consideration of a request by J. C. Youngberg to rezone from multiple to planned residential 63,800 square feet on Diablo Avenue, north of Center Road, and the same request from William J. Guinnane for three acres at 1546 Center Road; consideration in the changes in the Bahia subdivision of 900 acres at the end of Bugeia Lane for Union Bank of Los Angeles and a division of a large lot into two smaller lots on Farvue Road for Leo Wasset.

RESTAURANT — Continued indefinitely the application for a use permit and signs for a "Jack-in-the-Box" restaurant at Diablo Avenue and South Novato Boulevard for Donald B. Krosch.

Judy Garland Reveals Wedding

LONDON (AP) — Judy Garland made a triumphal return last night to the night club where she flopped last week, singing with all her old verve and announcing later that she was secretly married in a London church nearly three weeks ago.

The audience at the Talk of the Town went wild with delight and cheered Miss Garland on the stage from which she fled amid boos and jeers last Thursday night.

In her dressing room afterward Miss Garland said she and Mickey Deans, 35-year-old New York discotheque manager, were married Jan. 9.

The flower of the month for October is the calendula or cosmos.

Paris Presents Youthful, Gay Collections

By LUCIE NOEL

PARIS (AP) — The lone wolf of Paris fashion, Jacques Esterel, presented a gay, young and colorful summer collection Sunday to jump ahead of the official couture week that began yesterday.

Esterel started early because he is not a member of the couturiers organizations. He did a great job with mens wear and injected a group of casual immaculately tailored jersey middies, tunics and pants. They do have snob appeal and are perfect for chic resort or country weekend wear. He shows them in beige or white jersey, with turtle necklines and inserts.

Esterel develops the group into coordinates for the family in a mood of togetherness, and had parents and their youngsters, teen-age boys and girls parading in attractive variations. In certain cases, the girl manequins' tunics and middies are worn with skirts. Hemlines vary from two to four inches above the knees but are no longer authentic miniskirts.

The cutest outfits for young girls were designed as "separates," but made in one piece. Bold checked plaid flared skirts had light tops on shirtwaist line. Both are widely belted at a higher than natural waistline. One belt is slotted through wide fabric buttoned-down tabs. The other is of the skirt checked plaid woolen and all fabric except for the buckle. One had an orange shirt and black and white plaid skirt, the other almond green with a coordinated plaid.

ESTEREL FEATURES ice-cream shades throughout, in little wool dresses and coats grouped under the title of "Neoclassic." They are young without being childish. Two-color effects are frequent. Built-in flapped pockets and inserts at the side, with bouffant bubble fullness in backs of coats and a lifted waistline are typical features.

Esterel's slogan is Vive La Couture Libre and he goes his own way following though on his own ideas. A "five minutes to midnight" swim suit is jeweled on white and veiled in gray chiffon. The bride wore a white nun's habit. Wide silver bangles were attached to garland of white roses. This was followed by a six-tier wedding cake in the colors of the collection.

Color contrasts were a big part of the collection of Philippe Venet which opened the official week of Paris spring and summer fashion showings yesterday.

Venet's spring collection is a big bicolor story. His contrasts are often intense. But white is always used to band hemlines, necklines, waistline inserts and frequently a tabbed band stopping at the waistline.

Venet showed swing back fullness in a beautiful group of coats. The backs are cut on circular lines, and the coats are often three-quarter length. He emphasizes pants suits mainly for chic resort and country wear. They are frequently in white or a bright shade, egg or chrome yellow or persimmon or red.

Venet uses white trim on collars and cuffs on pants suits, too.

The simple slender box jackets are fingertip or knuckle length worn over matching or contrasting pants. Underneath Venet likes finely striped jersey or bicolor effects in plain wool. The prettiest jeune fille costume was a scarlet flared skirt with its own little flared wool bolero edged in a three-inch band of white wool in a circular line.

The smoothly tailored elegant daytime picture gives way to fantasy for evening. Swiss organdies in raised designs and florals make short, bubble skirted dance dresses for girls. For his sophisticated clients he shows wraparound sarong or sari overdresses sometimes one-shouldered, and over slender skirts.

The overdresses have big curved effects in the back. King-size tropical flowers appear on one of these. Flat crepes prevail but a new fabric of interest is printed in blue and white circles for a cocktail dress.

LOUIS FERAUD, one of Brigitte Bardot's favorite designers, showed a young, colorful and imaginative collection to crowded salons. Inspiration is borrowed from Brazil, where Feraud has founded a new factory that will turn out volume production.

Stylewise, Feraud brings from Brazil the brilliant colors typical of jungle flora and birds' plumage. He has invented exclusive prints evoking tigers, giraffes, and the leopard and cat family. They are on sheer organzas and shown for evening dresses and pajamas for terrace and hostess wear. Sometimes designs are picked out in beads and jeweled glitter. Other favorite media are leather, vinyl, steel, mother of pearl and sequins.

The line is feminine. Waists are underlined but never tightly belted by fancy belts, from metal, through fur and vinyl. Skirts are ultrashort and bubbled. They dance as the wearer moves.

For evening organza blouses are worn with pants, and long weskits. Many of these are featured in the exclusive barbaric prints, some imitating tiles, in designs borrowed from pre-Colombian and Mayan excavations.

MOLYNEUX, ORIGINATOR and champion of understated elegance, presented his collection this morning. His cousin, John Tullis, is the actual torch bearer and though Molyneux was being mobbed by his enthusiastic audience, he claimed all honors go to John.

As was to be expected there are some excellent little suits in plain gray botany weave, a third in apple green with good tailored detailing. A white flannel suit has a brown and white print blouse and ascot.

WEDDING GOWN from Paris—Designer Philippe Venet showed this white crepe bridal gown in his spring and summer collection at the world fashion capital yesterday. It is styled with cape-like sleeves hemmed with white organza feathers which match the coiffe.

COUTURIER JACQUES Esteral presented these one-piece "separates" as his showing in Paris. Model at left wears an almond green shirt coordinated with plaid skirt, and at right, the model shows an orange shirt with black and white plaid skirt. Both outfits are widely belted with higher than natural waistline. (AP Wirephotos from Paris)

Brown and white is a faverite blend in prints. The dress has the colors reversed and is white with brown, the coat brown and white a lovely ensemble for summer afternoon anywhere.

Sausalito's New Librarian Likes Friendly Atmosphere

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

Kathleen Worsley (Mrs. Stephen Worsley), Sausalito's new librarian, says that the most appealing feature of the library for her is that it is a branch library — the kind that is usually the most friendly and that offers the best opportunity to know many people.

"I am especially interested in working toward the new library," she said. "We're bursting at the seams. I was surprised to find how much a new building is needed. For every new book we buy we have to take one off the shelves and store it in the North Bay Cooperative Library storage area in Petaluma.

"A MODERN LIBRARY need not be bureaucratic, as some people fear. It can be a friendly and welcoming place for the public, and we want to be able to offer more services. These include giving more help with references and having a record collection, and we hope in a new building to be able to display more art works, especially those of local artists.

"One of our first projects now will be to do more work with the schools, since this is what the library board is interested in. I want to say that the board and staff have been marvelous during my first week on the job."

Mrs. Worsley's own interests center in art, particularly graphics, for she has an unusual hobby of collecting books produced by private presses.

She explained, "Private presses print books for format and looks regardless of cost for people who love fine printing. One of the projects I especially enjoyed when I was working in the Seattle Public Library was working up an exhibit on private presses in the state of Washington.

"I have tried silk screening and have made my own Christmas cards, bound like one of these books, and printed with a little hand printing set."

A NATIVE OF Santa Clara, Mrs. Worsley is also much interested in California history and wrote a master's thesis on the history of the Santa Clara Public Library. She is a member of the California Historical Society and of the American Library Association.

Kathleen was graduated from Notre Dame High School in San Jose and from San Jose State College in 1962 with a bachelor's degree in history. She did some work in the Santa Clara Public Library before she met her husband, who is presently an associate professor of business at the University of San Francisco.

Following their marriage they moved immediately to Charlotte Amalie, a city of 17,000 people on the island of St. Thomas in the Virgin Islands.

"They were starting an English speaking college in the Caribbean," she said, "and we thought it looked like a chance to get in on the ground floor of a very interesting educational setup. My husband taught business courses in the College of the Virgin Islands, and I worked in the library, but we found it was too slow moving, and we stayed only a year.

"It was a very interesting place in some ways. It is a tourist economy — an island paradise though it is very hot and lacks water, which they obtain through desalinization, from cachments in the hills and having it transported from Puerto Rico about 40 miles away.

"CELEBRITIES WERE always passing through. We met Lady Bird Johnson, former Vice President Humphrey, the famous anthropologist Margaret Mead and a nephew of the impressionist artist Camille Pissarro, who was born in what is now the Sears-Roebuck store.

"But not much can happen on a small island only three miles by 13 miles, and you tend to feel very confined. We spent the summer in England.

"First my husband returned to the United States to get a doctorate in business administration at the University of Washington in Seattle, while I completed courses for a master's degree in librarianship in 1966 at San Jose State College.

"Then I joined him and worked first in a branch library and after a year was transferred as map librarian to the central public library's history department, where we handled a heavy volume of reference work."

Mrs. Worsley said they love California and were very happy when they both obtained positions in the Bay Area. At present they are living in San Francisco but hope to move to Marin soon. They have no children.

ART IS ONE of the interests of Mrs. Stephen Worsley, new Sausalito librarian. While looking through library's collection of art books she found and is admiring "The Flowering of Art Nouveau" by Maurice Rheims. This is one of the books bought with money given by a friend in memory of Ada Saline, who was a teacher and assistant Sausalito librarian until she retired. (Independent-Journal photo)

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Now That He Is Not A Teen, Man Questions Parent's Attitude

DEAR HELEN:

Talk about the generation gap, I'll tell you the worst one. It's the gap created by parents between 20- and 21-year-old guys and their precious little teen-age girls.

Enough of that adult language. I am going to sock it to you in the only way groovy little chicks will understand. Like I'm tired of over-protective mammas who tell these babes, "Now sweetie, you stay away from those old boys. They have been around and they're dangerous."

Believe me, we "old guys" are more to be trusted than these young punks just starting out. All 15 to 17-year-old boys think about is how far they can get, and they won't take "No." Don't think it doesn't happen. I've had too many telephone calls from girls asking me to come and take them home so their dear mothers won't know what kind of a boy they let their daughters date. I've seen girls who were actually beat up because they wouldn't give in, and then they were put out to walk home.

Why can't parents see that it's because we "older men" have been around that we've learned how to act. We have grown up enough to know that when we get married we don't want some girl that has given in to every punk that either threatened her or handed her a big line. Their daughters are safer with us, but we can't get around the "mother barrier."

Don't say young boys aren't that bad. And don't say that I learned from personal experience, because God help me, I wasn't one of them! — SHUT OUT

DEAR SHUT OUT:

All teen-age boys aren't devils any more than all 21-year-old men are angels. Substitute patience for the put-down and your girl's mother may decide you're a good risk — especially if you learn how to talk to her without scaring her green. —H.

DEAR HELEN:

My parents think my sister and I watch television too much, so they took a tube out and hid it. But we searched the house and found the tube.

Then we watched our shows until just before Mom and Dad got home from work, when we put the tube back in its hiding place. But we didn't get it in the right place, so, the next day, Dad took the tube to work with him, as he was on to us.

They say we should do our homework and not goof off. We think this is unfair treatment and we wonder if we shouldn't go on a sleeping strike or something until they put back the tube. — M.U.M.

DEAR M:

Have you ever thought of minding your parents? When it comes to "strikes" they have the upper hand and I think you're just about to get it!—H.

DEAR HELEN:

I have two problems that may seem trivial, but they're important to me. Two of my girl friends call me and I talk to them around 20 minutes, then I try to hang up, but they keep right on talking, or else they'll call right back. How can I get off the hook?

My second question is: I babysit for a doctor and his wife. Sometimes he is called to the hospital and they have to cancel at the last minute. That means I've lost an evening. Shouldn't they pay me something? — LESLIE

DEAR LESLIE:

First question: Be firm. Tell the girls your parents have set a 20-minute phone limit, and if they ring again, have your mother answer the phone. She'll be glad to!

Second question: If a babysitting job is cancelled at the last minute, the employers should offer to pay half price, as an inconvenience fee. — H.

Mrs. Robert F. Clark President Of Planned Parenthood Auxiliary

"Most of all I enjoy activities with my family and being involved in the life of my community," says Mrs. Robert Fuller Clark, new president of the Planned Parenthood Auxiliary. "A perfect balance between the two is the ideal for which I strive."

Joan Clark is a charter member of the auxiliary, which was formed in March of last year. During the first year she served as corresponding secretary and membership chairman. The auxiliary supports the work of the Planned Parenthood Association of Marin by promoting a better understanding of the problems and needs within the community.

Mrs. Clark was graduated from the Baldwin School in Bryn Mawr, Pa., and received a bachelor's degree in sociology from Chatham College in Pittsburgh, Pa. She and her husband, a steel corporation salesman, have lived in Marin for three years. They make their home in Greenbrae with their three children: Robert, six; Stewart, five; and Emily, four years old.

The new president is also a member of the Junior League of San Francisco and serves as vice president of the Marin County Juvenile Court Auxiliary Board.

Serving with Mrs. Clark are Mmes. V. Neil Fulton, vice president; Herman E. Frentzel, secretary; Herbert Briggin, treasurer; Richard S. Smith, corresponding secretary and membership chairman; B. Marin Y-Wives Club To Install Officers

Playing the piano, sewing for the entire family, reading, gardening and participating in a local yoga class are among the interests and pastimes of the new president of the Marin Y-Wives Club.

Mrs. Robert Leon Rettig of Novato, the new president, also enjoys traveling, and she and her husband have visited 40 of the 50 states. She accompanied her husband to Europe and stayed in Munich for a month while he was on a business trip. Mrs. Rettig is a senior research engineer for Chevron Research Company in Richmond.

They plan a vacation to Hawaii and the surrounding islands this year and have just returned from a trip to the Grand Canyon, Mexico, Phoenix and Death Valley. Their two children, Tami, 6, and Randy, 4 years old, accompanied them.

The new president has lived in Marin two years. She attended high school in Portland, Ore., and Oregon State University in Corvallis. She was graduated from the University of Wisconsin in Madison, where she received a degree in sociology.

Pamela Rettig is also active as a member of the Novato Community Players.

The Marin Y-Wives provide a varied program, including service to the community and social events for the young wife and mother. Membership is available to any woman in the county, with special emphasis on those with small children as child care is provided.

Other officers are Mmes. Louis Toulon, first vice president, Fairfax; William E. Bishop, second vice president, Fairfax; Daniel J. Ritter, treasurer, Glenwood; and Louis Otanez, secretary; San Rafael.

Men Urging Women To The Pants Suit Trend

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press

If the pants fit, wear 'em. That's the advice the nation's males have for women who want to join the pants suit parade that's sweeping the country.

Although many men held out for the miniskirt—"I like to see a lady's legs," said one—most of those replying to an Associated Press survey gave qualified approval to women wearing pants, both for day and evening.

"They look good on girls if the girls are good looking," said Robert Winter, a Detroit businessman.

"They look great on young girls, but they're inappropriate for more mature women," said Sam T. Milliken, a stock broker from Denver. Milliken added, however, "When I take a lady out for dinner or drinks or dancing, I like to see her in a dress."

Robert Chace, city manager of Loveland, Ohio, a Cincinnati suburb, said, "I have no exceptions to them. In fact, I would rather see women in pants than miniskirts. God gave us an imagination . . ."

The manager of a Philadelphia night spot, the Red Garter, said women of all kinds—both young and old—wore pants to his club. Does he like them? "Depends on who's wearing them, you know."

The fit, cut and cost of pants suits determines not only male approval, but also whether a woman will be accepted at many of the country's top nightclubs and restaurants.

In Hollywood, dressy pants suits are okay. Tight-fitting capri pants are outlawed. A spokesman for the Brown Derby, for example, said pants suits are perfectly acceptable in the restaurant, "but plain old slacks eat in the bar."

Mr. Kelly's, a Chicago night spot, is typical of many clubs in the windy city. A spokesman—a woman—said the club recently changed its policy and now admits women in evening slacks or pants suits. "No blue jeans," the spokesman added.

About the only place pants suits haven't appeared is in church. And an Albuquerque attorney who insisted that his wife buy several pants suits said, "I'm not so sure they wouldn't be acceptable there."

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. William Drumm, chancellor of the Archdiocese of St. Louis, said miniskirts are more of a problem in church than pants. "Right now," he said, "we're worrying about the highs—not the lows."

Lids Decorate

One, two and three pound size plastic coffee lids are great holiday decoration material. Use only the rims by cutting out the center with a razor blade or scissors. Spray with gold paint, wind with yarn, or trim with lace. Rims can be used in various way, says National Family Opinion Inc. which passes along the decorating tip. Use three sizes, tied together and suspended.

Venison

Originally the term venison meant the meat of any animal or bird of the chase. Today it refers only to the meat of antlered animals—deer, elk, antelope, moose and caribou. Most of the venison eaten in the United States is deer; elk is second in importance.

Dining Rooms Are Popular

Formal dining roomas are steadily regaining the popularity they had a few decades ago, says the Tile Council of America. However, formal dining rooms of today bear little resemblance to those of yesteryear.

For one thing, says the Tile Council, the word "formal" as it defines dining room is no longer synonymous with delicate. Easty-to-clean, durable surfacing materials such as ceramic tile have replaced the dainty, not-so-endurable materials that used to adorn the walls and floors in dining rooms of old.

This is not to say that the surfacings available today are less decorative, notes the Tile Council. In fact, the decorative abilities of most wall and floor coverings have been greatly enhanced over the years. Ceramic tile, for example, is available in a profusion of colors, designs, textures, sizes and shapes, permitting imaginative uses.

$1 Tax Hike For Financing Schools Eyed

A $1 tax rate increase, 63 cents to be levied initially and the rest over the succeeding three or four years, was proposed in a report on projected school costs given the Mill Valley School District board last night.

The board took no action, but asked Supt. James A. Collins to bring in more specific recommendations for the Feb. 10 meeting.

A cut in state aid, combined with an unexpected drop in enrollment, has reduced district money by $82,000 this year.

For the 1969-70 budget, Collins proposed three choices — a cutback to make costs which would require a 38-cent tax increase and cost $268,280, and improving ecuational programs to meet the envisioned goals of the district, which would require an estimated 63-cent tax raise or an additional $174,170.

Specific figures were presented for only one alternative, cutting costs to meet presently-anticipated income. The proposed 1969-70 budget in that case was $2,799,875, a cut from this year's initial budget of $2,988,325. The revised current budget has been cut to $2,906,047 because of the cut in state support.

Cuts in the 1969-70 budget would come in instruction (from $2,116,760 to $2,078,095), in captial outlay (from $45,300 to $5,000) and in reserves (from $35,597 to $1,390).

Collins warned the board, however, against cutting reserves to the paper-thin $1,390 figure. He said further budget cuts would be required to keep reserves at a reasonable amount. The proposed no-tax-boost budget, he said, included no allowance for pay raises or cost of living increases.

The board also took a fascinated look at a proposed 200-day school year operating on four quarters, with three-week vacations four times a year, but took no action.

Teacher John Rojas explained a pilot program in the Hayward School District where one school has kindergarten through sixth grade pupils on a four-quarter system, the first in the nation.

Advantages of the plan, Rojas, said, included more time to ease school crowding, more use of school facilities, an end to the long summer vacation and the resultant loss of learning and better coordination with the quarter system coming into use in higher education.

The main disadvantage, Rojas said, is that teachers would have no time to take summer school graduate courses as they now do.

Board members were enthusiastic about the quarter plan, but Trustee William L. Clark objected that year-round studying might make students lose interest.

The Mill Valley School District board also:

SUMMER SCHOOL — Authorized a joint summer school with Sausalito pupils after seeing a slide and tape presentation of last year's summer school by its principal, Robert DeVilbiss.

HIRING — Approved hiring Kathleen von Langen as sixth grade teacher at Tamalpais Valley School at a salary of $4,750 for the rest of the school year, and Rosann Baron as kindergarten teacher at Tamalpais Valley for $4,405 for the rest of the year.

LEAVE — Granted a year's leave to Joan Jackson' librarian at Park and Homestead schools.

RESIGNATION — Accepted the resignation of Carol Floyd, french teacher at Edna Maguire School, who is taking a job with the Tamalpais High School District. Mrs. Floyd's resignation was submitted in French, and Collins promised the board the response would also be in French.

YOUTH CENTER — Asked for opinions of architects and legal counsel on a proposal by the Mill Valley City Council to move the city recreation center to a site near the Mill Valley Horsemen's Association ring, part of the middle school site. Action will be taken Feb. 10, the board said.

HOMESTEAD — Was told that construction of walks, rest rooms and storage space at Homestead School is to be finished by June 15, completing current rehabilitation work in the district.

AIR FORCE — Approved an agreement to pay the Air Force $2,842 to bus children of parents living on Air Force property.

NEXT MEETING — Set next meeting for 8 p.m. Feb. 10 at Edna Maguire School.

Youth Is Cited For Marijuana

A 14-year-old Mill Valley youth was cited Saturday to the juvenile probation department for possession of marijuana after police found what appeared to be some in his coat pocket.

Police said a resident reported seeing the youth passing out unusual appearing cigarettes in front of the Mill Valley bus depot at 3 p.m.

When the police searched the youth, officers said they found marijuana seeds and debris in his coat pocket.

Driver Treated For Car Injuries

Mardiese Lee Nickel, 32, of 115 Duran Drive, San Rafael, was treated for cut lips and a broken tooth at Marin General Hospital Saturday night following an accident on Frietas Parkway near Los Gamos Road.

Police said Mrs. Nickel's car hit a parked vehicle during the wind and rain storm. The owner of the parked car was not known.

$193,800 Is Sought For Street Projects

The priority selection committee for the Marin Urban Thoroughfare System yesterday unanimously recommended to the board of supervisors that $193,800 be alloted to five projects for the next fiscal year in county gas tax matching funds.

The $193,800 is for road project funds requested by Sausalito, Corte Madera, Ross, San Anselmo and Larkspur. Action on an additional $132,400 in requests for projects by Mill Valley and Novato and a second project by San Anseomo was continued until another meeting to be scheduled.

Recommended for approval are requests by San Anselmo for $51,500 for improvement of the Hub intersection; $48,000 by Corte Madera for widening Tamalpais Drive from Highway 101 to Pixley Avenue; $26,000 by Sausalito for widening and signalization of Bridgeway from Easterby to Napa Street; $18,300 by Ross for signalization on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard at Laurel Grove Avenue and at Lagunitas Road, and $50,000 by Larkspur for widening of Magnolia Avenue from Doherty Drive to Bon Air Road.

Tabled were requests by San Anselmo for $25,000 for signalization on Sir Francis Drake; and by Mill Valley for $85,000 to acquire right-of-way for improvement of Camino Alto and for building a bridge on that street.

All requests total $326,200, with only $274,000 available in county gas tax funds for 1969-70 projects. The cities would match the funds alloted by the county.

The committee also unanimously voted to place Center Boulevard in San Anselmo and Fairfax in the urban thoroughfare system. This would make that street eligible for county funds as a major county thoroughfare.

Committee chairman Ronald L. Usher, Corte Madera town manager, said the committee recommendations must be received by the board of supervisors by Feb. 28. The board then will consider the requests during its 1969-70 budget hearings.

History Of Club Told By President

Club president James Knight reviewed 30 years of service by the Fairfax Lions Club at a recent ceremonies when new members were installed by Dist. Gov. William H. Schwartz of Corte Madera.

Among the club's activities have been donation of an auxiliary fire truck to the city and donation of $10,000 for purchase of the parkade Knight noted.

Silver Beaver Awards Slated

Two Marin Boy Scout officials will be given Silver Beaver awards, the high local scout council award, at the Marin council's annual meeting tonight.

More than 200 Marin adult scout officials are expected to attend the dinner meeting beginning at 6:45 p.m at the Hamilton Air Force Base Officers' Open Mess.

Other adult scouting awards will be presented during the evening and newly elected officers of the Marin council will be installed.

Guilty Plea Made On Burglary Charge

Peter Michael Casali, 19, of Novato, pleaded guilty in Marin Superior Court yesterday to a charge of second degree burglary in that city Dec. 15. Casali, who has been held in Juvenile Hall, was ordered to return for sentencing Feb. 24.

BLACK, WHITE TOGETHER

Teens Want To Span Race Gap

By RICHARD D. BOYLE
(Second of three articles)

After deciding there has not been enough constructive action, black students at Terra Linda High School have formed a club they believe will help bridge the gap of racial understanding.

Making it clear they offer the open hand of friendship to white youths who seek it, the black youngsters also have a clenched fist ready for those who would rather fight.

It has been reported that the Marinwood-Lucas Valley community in which many of the black younsters live, are centers of racial prejudice and harassment of black residents. The reports drew public notice when one resident in Marin Municipal Court, on a charge of displaying a revolver in his white neighbor's home — so accused the communities.

That there was some substance to the bitter complaint was borne out by the fact that concerned parents, both black and white, have formed a special human relations council in the area to work with the schools for better interracial understanding.

Paralleling the adults' action, was the teen-ager's formation of their club.

ARLENE THIBODEAUX
Brought students together

JOE BELLE
'People must wake up'

Arlene Thibodeaux of 642 Blackberry Lane, Lucas Valley, said the major reason for forming the De-Lagwati Club was to bring black and white students together.

"I think that if both races could be brought together and could get along with each other; this could be a much better world for everyone," said Arlene, a pert, attractive 17-year-old Terra Linda senior.

"Most white kids have never heard about great black people," she said, "and this is why it is important that white youngsters attend the regular meetings of the club." Arlene even changed the name of the Afro-American Club because it led white students to believe the club was only for black students.

De-Lagwati doesn't mean anything, she said, but made it up because it sounded African.

Joe Belle of 855 Rincon Way Santa Venetia, another co-founder of the club, agreed it was important that white students participate in the clubs discussions. Joe, a tall 17-year-old senior, flashed a friendly, outgoing smile as he spoke.

The black youths showed no rancor toward whites, but rather laughed and good-naturedly joked about some of the problems of 39 black students in an almost all-white school. At first a little reserved, the youngsters quickly loosened up when talking about their first experiences at Terra Linda.

"It was bad at first," said Joe, "but when they found out they couldn't walk all over us it got better."

Speaking in low and deliberate tone, Joe told of a recent incident, an attack by four white youths while he was working at night for Cliff's Chevron Station in Santa Venetia. While he was serving another customer, one of the youths shouted, "I'm tired of waiting," jumped out of his car with others and beat Joe to the ground. "I'm tired of you niggers getting away with stuff," the youthful assailant shouted as he and his friends drove off.

"People have just got to wake up to this sort of thing," Joe said. "Too many parents of white kids close their eyes and just can't believe their kids can do things like that."

Arlene said being stared at by white youngsters made her uncomfortable when she first came to Terra Linda. But that problem ended after few months when her fellow students got to know her.

She was called "nigger," she said, when she first moved to Santa Venetia, but she has had no problems since moving to Lucas Valley several months ago.

Both Arlene and her sister, Joyce have had fights at Terra Linda. Joyce, who is 16, hit a girl she said had called her a "black nigger." The two sisters objected to being suspended when the girls they said used the slurs were not punished.

"They (school officials) expect us to ignore that, but I'm not going to take it. If you do, it will just happen again," said Joyce.

The youngsters spoke of some of the myths whites have retained about black people.

George Gaines, 16, of 805 Rincon Way, Santa Venetia, who although looking fierce with a high African-style haircut and goatee, actually had a very quiet and winning way. "Most white kids think all blacks are militants," he said.

JOYCE THIBODEAUX
Slugged white girl

Telling of a day when a rumor spread through the school that the Black Panthers were coming to stomp on white people, George, who came from Alabama last year, said: "You would never believe how many white kids wanted to be my friend that day. They wanted me to tell the Panthers I was their friend." George chuckled to himself after telling the story.

Arlene quickly joined George saying: "They think when black kids are together there will be a riot." Mrs. Margaret Rattray, administrator-in-charge of girls, said, didn't want the black students to stand around together or walk down the halls in a group.

Mrs. Rattray gave a different account of that incident, saying the black girls had cut a wide swath down the halls, bumping those that didn't get out of their way. The dean of girls said she told the girls they were irrating other youngsters and teachers. "Young ladies do not hit people," answered Mrs. Rattray to the charge that the black girls were punished unfairly for striking white girls. "And there is some debate as to whether any name calling did take place."

Arlene said the only time white people start thinking about helping black people is after a riot. The others agreed with her on that point.

Although Joe accepted the love theme of the hippies, he disavowed the more militant stance of the yippies. "It's the yippies that are messing things up and causing all the trouble," said Joe.

All agreed that today education was a necessity, but they also felt their chances of learning were better in a mostly white school than one with a majority of black students.

"If education was equal, everyone here would rather go to a black school," said Joe, "but tomorrow an all black school will be as good."

After talking about getting a better education in a white school, they said having black students at Terra Linda was also giving white students a better understanding of the world.

Joe Gaines, who was beaten the night before by four white youths, reflected for a moment, and said, "There are a lot of good people, you can't forget that."

Esthetics Of Corte Madera Creek Plans Bring Applause

Preserving the natural beauty of Corte Madera Creek is uppermost in the minds of the Army Corps of Engineers, a uniformed colonel assured the Marin County Board of Supervisors this morning at Civic Center.

Col. Frank C. Boerger, district engineer, spoke of "textured borders" on the tops of the concrete channel that will be a part of the Corte Madera Creek flood control project. He spoke of landscaping, planting, channel screening and green vinyl fences "to mitigate the offensiveness of stark concrete."

Supervisor Chairman John F. McInnis said he was delighted with the extent to which the Army is now going to provide for esthetics on projects which in the past has been efficient, but sterile.

Colonel Boerger announced that the Army Corps of Engineers has adopted a policy of setting aside 3 per cent of the cost of a project for beautification.

Supervisors Michael Wornum and Peter F. Arrigoni Jr. said they do not think 3 per cent would be enough to provide adequate landscaping.

Neil R. Brixon of Greenbrae, member of the Corte Madera Creek Flood Control Advisory Board, got an assurance from Boerger that he would attend a public meeting in Ross on Feb. 27 to explain the beautification program. Brixon said the colonel's explanation is needed to soothe that town, which will be the hardest hit by the flood control project.

Colonel Boerger said these steps are being taken for the beautification of Corte Madera Creek:

A curing compound in the concrete will keep the concrete gray-green in color instead of bleached white. The top of the concrete wall will be textured. Bridges like Bon Air and Lagunitas will have landscaping and screening. Chain link fences and posts will be of green vinyl instead of the conventional light metal. Automatic sprinklers will be installed in landscaped areas to keep the plants irrigated. In the downstream mudflat areas that were dredged cord grass and pickleweed will be replanted to restore the natural appearance.

The colonel gave this overall picture of the flood control project:

The first phase, from the bay to Bon Air bridge, was completed last June at a cost of $500,000.

The second phase, from Bon Air bridge to College Avenue, is about half completed. It will cost $2,500,000, and should be finished by the end of this year.

The third phase, from College Avenue to Shady Lane bridge in Ross, will be concrete channel and will cost about $2,500,000. The contract has not been awarded, work will start about April 1970 and completion date is November 1971.

Four Are Selected To Aviation Panel

The Marin County Board of Supervisors today appointed four men to the county aviation commission, drawing a bitter complaint from outgoing Commissioner Benjamin R. Ostlind, who had sought reappointment.

Appointed were:

Al Hansen of San Rafael, business representative of Operating Engineers Local 3; Herbert M. Hanson, Kentfield investment banker; William W. Schwartzer, Mill Valley attorney, and incumbent Melville Dickson of Woodacre.

The terms of former chairman Tris M. Coffin, Douglas M. Christensen, Dickson and Ostlind expired Jan. 1.

Coffin, Dickson and Ostlind had asked reappointment to the seven-member commission, which serves without pay, but only Ostlind reacted publicly to the outcome.

Ostlind told the board, "I do not take this lightly." He said he was the only member to attend all 37 commission meetings and added, "I have been working terribly hard" on aviation matters.

Accusing the supervisors of "gross bad faith," he said he had not been reappointed because he had made too many "waves" in his espousal of aviation policy for the county. He then stormed out of the meeting.

Supervisors making the successful nominations were John I. McInnis for Hansen, Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. for Hanson, Michael Wornum of Schwartzer and Louis H. Baar for Dickson.

Teener Accused In Hit-Run Crash

Robert R. Adams, 17, of 111 Deer Hollow Road, Sleepy Hollow, was booked at juvenile hall on suspicion of car theft and hit-run driving after an accident Sunday night in Manor, the California Highway Patrol said today.

The patrol reported the accident yesterday but not Adams's arrest.

Adams was stopped by Fairfax police near the scene where a stolen car sideswiped two parked cars on Oak Manor Drive at 11:30 p.m. Witnesses said the driver fled.

Other witnesses said Adams was seen a few minutes later taking a coat and suitcase — later found to be his—from the stolen car. Police stopped him a moment later and turned him over to the highway patrol.

The patrol said the car, registered to Modesto Erquiaga, was reported stolen Friday by a San Francisco firm Adams works for.

Victim Misnamed

The Independent-Journal incorrectly reported yesterday the name of a woman who reported her Point Reyes Station home was burglarized and her piggy band robbed. The victim's name is Irene McWilliams, not Irene Simondi, as was reported.

Two Hurt In U-Turn Span Crash

A Kentfield man and an Oakland soldier were injured last night when the soldier tried a U-turn on Golden Gate Bridge, the California Highway Patrol said today.

Alfred C. Dowlin, 38, of headquarters company, Army personnel center, Oakland, was booked into San Francisco City Prison on suspicion of felonious drunken driving after the 9:45 p.m. accident.

The highway patrol said Dowlin was southbound and made the U-turn into the path of a car driven by Samuel Silverman, 55, of 8 Butterfly Lane, Kentfield.

Silverman, who had a cut chin and bruised ribs, was held overnight at Kaiser Foundation Hospital, San Francisco ,and released today.

Dowlin was treated for a cut leg at Mission Emergency Hospital before being booked. He was held in lieu of $2,500 bail and no time has been set for a court appearance, the jailer at city prison said.

Almonte Sanitary Aide Voted Raise

Almonte Sanitary District directors last night unanimously voted to give board secretary Betty Davis a 6 per cent salary increase, Director Robert C. Odmark reported.

Mrs. Davis, wife of director Herbert E. Davis, is now paid $125 a month, Odmark said.

Novato School Discipline Brings Split

Fears of eroding student discipline and teacher permissiveness in Novato schools were largely dismissed last night by students and school and county officials — to the apparent dissatisfaction of some parents. (Another Novato schools story, page 1.)

The occesion was a hearing called by the Novato Unified School District board last night after a group of parents expressed concern about conduct in the schools following the arrest in November of teacher James D. Kimmel on marijuana charges.

The meeting, at Marion School, consisted of panel discussions on two topics: what is being done to discipline disruptive students and why can't the school board dismiss teachers considered permissive by members of the community?

About 200 persons attended the hearing. Audience participation was limited to written questions at the conclusion of the panel discussions.

One spectator called the program a "railroad job" and a "whitewash." Other members of the audience muttered in dissatisfaction at panel opinions on student discipline.

Supt. James G. Bunker noted that hair styles and dress, upsetting to many people, are short-lived, and "in five years will be different and a lot of us won't like them."

W. Leigh Metteer, principal of Sinaloa Junior High School, recalled "when the first crew cut was suspended from school, and it later became the symbol of the All-American boy."

Trustee William Schneeflock said he was concerned about parents "who are afraid of their children," and want the schools to pass rules to make their children get a haircut or make them stop smoking.

"You and I have to assume responsiblity at home," he said.

Discipline was discussed by a nine-member panel: Police Chief Robert DiGrazia; Paul Mobley, assistant superintendent for instruction; Richard V. Godino, assistant county counsel; Stanley Onderdonk, principal of Novato High School; Nancy Glass, a student at San Marin High School; Steve Loegering, president of the student body at Novato High School; Bunker, Schneeflock and Metteer.

Bunker noted the country "is in the midst of tremendous change" and people are disturbed by changing patterns of behavior. He advocated self-discipline, which leads a student to achieve his goal without interrupting others from achieving their goals.

There was some muttering in the audience when Loegering said what is happening on college campuses is "is an overreaction to discipline they got in school."

Metteer said "only a very, very small minority of students" are discipline problems, and Onderdonk said "most students get along extremely well in school."

There are a lot of repeaters, giving the impression that there are a lot of bad students, but this isn't the case, Onderdonk said.

Chief DiGrazia said Juvenile arrests in 1968 reached 999, up 75 per cent from 1967, but there were many repeaters. "Maybe there was a hard core of 200."

He told of the program his department has started to have students ride with officers in patrol cars for better understanding, and he invited everyone in the audience to take a tour of duty with a patrol officer.

Tenure was discussed by a six-member panel: Arthur Atwood, president of the Novato Chapter, American Federation of Teachers; Jerrold D. Moore, president of the Novato Teacher Association; Ralph Giovanniello, deputy superintendent; Bunker, Godino and Schneeflock.

Bunker likened tenure to the job protection afforded civil service employees and many in private industry.

Giovanniello said tenure was established because in the past districts abused their firing power and he outlined Novato's system of hiring, evaluating and firing teachers.

"Dismissal is not just a matter of calling them in," he said. It is a very technical, legal procedure, and has to be based on cause, he explained.

Atwood, who said he was speaking only for himself, said teachers, as well as the community, want a competent staff, and aren't interested in "protecting incompetent people".

Moore opposed retaining teachers who are not properly prepared or who are "in any way detrimental to pupil welfare or to the school program."

Some teachers think that tenure gives them absolute protection against being dismissed and some poeple think there is no way a teacher can be dismissed, but neither is true, Godino said.

One resident asked what the procedure is for parents to complain about a teacher's conduct. Giovanniello said "the first person to go to is the teacher."

Board President Dan H. Barber was moderator of both discussions.

The complaint about the hearing procedure came in a written question.

It read, "Are you as educated men proud of the railroad job done tonite. Do you realize we the parents wanted a meeting for our reasons, not a white wash job and an evening of lecture on words we could look up! Do you feel, as teachers, that you know us, as parents, any better? I don't know how you could, since not one parent has been allowed the freedom to open his mouth."

Barber explained the meeting rules were established so the session could cover more ground, and not get stuck on one subject.

"Those of you who feel it was a white wash can come to me after the meeting, and we'll stay as long as you wish," he said.

A group of about 25 persons remained after the adjournment.

Trustee William Schneeflock pointed out that it wasn't an official school board meeting, and no policy could be set.

Barber, who acted as moderator, advised those who had matters to bring before the board seek a place on the regular board meeting agenda.

Ross School Budget Estimated

A preliminary budget estimate of $416,778 for the 1969-70 fiscal year was submitted to the Ross School District trustees last night, reported Robert Gowan, superintendent.

This figure, said Gowan, does not include increase in teachers' salaries, purchase of equipment or increases in school maintenance costs. The 1968-69 fiscal budget totaled $437,947, but Gowan would not speculate if next year's budget would be higher. He predicted a firm budget figure by May.

Trustees Gay Maclise and Mrs. Marjorie McGeen will meet with a teachers' salary committee on Feb. 11 to discuss salary increases, said Gowan.

The trustees also voted to send a resolution to the County Committee on school district reorganization recommending a three-way split of the Tamalpais High School District, said Gowan. The trustees urged creating separate districts for Tamalpais, Drake and Redwood High Schools.

Petaluma Wreck Injures Two

Two persons were injured in a two-car accident Sunday at 10:15 a.m., at the intersection of Lakeville Highway and Freitas Road, east of Petaluma.

Nick Hahn, 17, of 425 Stewart Drive, Petaluma, was treated at Petaluma General Hospital for facial cuts, and Mrs. Pearl Madsen, 73, of Stockton, was treated for a cut forehead.

The California Highway Patrol said the Hahn car collided in the intersection with a car driven by Russell C. Madsen, 77, of Stockton.

Special Meeting On Unification

A special meeting of the Marin County Committee on School District Organization is scheduled for 8 p.m. today to consider adoption of a tentative unification study plan for the Tamalpais High School District area.

The committee meets at the county schools office, 201 Tamal Vista Boulevard, Corte Madera. It has four possible unification plans for the district area.

Why Promote Segregation Within Our Colleges?

Why black studies? Why a separate black studies department?

These are questions it seems nobody has asked, although demands for black studies departments staffed and controlled by blacks have been used as the excuse for student-faculty strikes that are maiming American higher education, in California and elsewhere.

Probably nobody has voiced the questions because of the nagging of conscience.

THE EVENTS of the last 10 years have made us all realize how little actually has been done to implement the 13th, 14th and 15th Amendments since they were added to the Constitution nearly a century ago.

With this realization has come a guilt complex. And because of it, we have not carefully examined claims and demands put forward ostensibly on behalf of Negro citizens.

So, when some of them asked for classes in colleges and high schools to teach them more about their own race, educators acceded readily — aware that few history books give the black American his due.

THIS WAS TOO EASY. But it opened the door for the separatist movement that had started with the Black Muslims and been taken over by the Black Panthers and Black Students Union. Its spokesmen, with the help of assorted New Left anarchists who allied themselves for the sake of starting trouble, increased the demands.

Instead of merely black history and culture courses, they demanded separate black studies departments, staffed by blacks.

When many of the colleges yielded readily even to this, they added two more : That these departments be controlled by the black students, and that they be set up and put into full operation immediately —right now!

These being impossible even for the most yielding and well-meaning college head to meet, the fat was in the fire.

BUT ALL THIS TIME, it seems, nobody had asked why there should be black studies or a black studies department.

Certainly, courses in Negro history and culture may help black Americans learn more about their own backgrounds. This may help them carry their heads higher. They need this.

But what purpose, in 20th Century America, is to be served by an entire curriculum of black studies — by a separate, segregated college department devoted entirely to them?

Will it help the black student become a better citizen? Will it give him a fuller, more rounded culture that will make his life have more meaning? Will it help him to rise in an integrated society?

It will do none of these. But it will do something else: make his segregation more complete than it has been at any time since the Civil War.

IT HAS REMAINED for the organization that has done most for the Negro's cause over the years to call a halt on this turning back of the calendar.

The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People has served notice that it will go to court to block creation of autonomous black studies departments on college campuses.

Thus, the responsible voice of responsible Negroes has been raised to voice the challenge that white citizens have been too guilt-ridden, too timid, too pusillanimous to raise.

It may be hoped this will encourage school administrators to ask the question that should have been asked in the first place.

Top-Secret File Tells Story Of Hope, Discouragement

WASHINGTON — On one particular top-secret file which the Nixon Administration inherits, much of the future turns, not just for a new political order but for mankind. In that most secret of files is both heartbreak and hope.

How this blueprint for negotiation with the Soviet Union to try to check the nuclear arms race — it is just that — was put together is a largely untold story. A painstaking record of patience and persistence, all that has been done may still come to nought with the change of administrations.

When Sec. of Defense Melvin R. Laird was before the Seante Armed Services Committee for a confirmation hearing he was asked whether he believed negotiation with the Russians should be delayed until the United States was demonstrably strong enough to enter such negotiations. His reply was interpreted as suggesting a postponement of nine to 12 months.

"We have to start preparing all over again," he told the committee, "so that we can meet with success in these negotiations."

STARTING all over again has a dismaying sound to those who put so many hundreds of hours into getting complete agreement on a negotiating blueprint. The work began after former President Lyndon B. Johnson's meeting with Premier Alexei Kosygin at Glassboro, N. J., in June of 1967.

Two committees were formed. One was top level, representing State, Defense, the Joint Chiefs of Staff, the Atomic Energy Commission and the heads of the Disarmament Agency. Contrary to what is often the practice, the top men rather than substitutes were present at almost every meeting.

The second committee was made up of technicians devoting full time to working out agreed principles for the American approach to negotiation on both anti-ballistic missiles and offensive missiles. Occasionally the two committees met together to coordinate their efforts. What evolved, as one of the principal participants put it, was complete agreement by all parties on a basis set of guide lines. This meant a green light for what could prove to be the most momentous conference between the two nuclear giants since the end of World War II.

While this work was going on, Johnson and Kosygin were exchanging letters. In the file are at least a dozen separate exchanges between the two heads of state. When and if this correspondence is ever published it will show one of the most remarkable diplomatic adventures in recent history.

JOHNSON'S objective, as the letters went back and forth between Washington and Moscow, was to educate Kosygin as to the fantastic cost of an all-out ABM system — a minimum of $40 billion and probably a lot more — and what this would mean in strain on the economies of the two countries. He underscored the futility of such a system.

Increasingly the response out of Moscow favored a conference. The preliminaries were discussed. The President had his bags packed for Geneva or Moscow. Then came the heartbreak. On the night of Aug. 20-21 the Russians invaded Czechaslovakia.

But still the President and his close collaborators refused to believe that all their work had gone down the drain.

THE ULTIMATE decision would be up to the incoming administration.

Moscow has just signalled a strong interest in the talks. President Nixon's inaugural address was a fervent commitment to the search for peace. So the top-secret file on missiles may be the first order of business in the new White House.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Supervisors Need Closer Scrutiny

When other communities in the U.S. have had courage and determination to resolutely oppose the installation of anti-ballistic missiles in their area, why were some members of the board of supervisors irresolute in defending Marin County against this kind of arbitrary nuclear invasion? Should these elected officials (AND public servants) act in concert for the general good of total Marin, or react according to the sectional interest of their geopraphical districts? Is it probable that residents of West, North or Central Marin would be less concerned that the people in Wolf Grade area, should their locale be proposed as an ABM site? The accident factor is a realistic possibility, no matter what specious reassurance the ABM proponents attempt to convey.

Aside from special-interest groups, increased public attendance at BOS meetings would be an illuminating experience for citizens. As observers, to sense the supervisors' attitudes, the climate of discussion, the equity of decisions, the tempo set by chairman of the board, the breath (or bias) or posture . . .

The public should exercise the right or reasonable scrutiny of any level of government. Static attitudes cannot meet the critical requirements of today's society. . . .

Animal Birth Control Promoted

I was appalled to read recently that some 90 million dogs and cats are killed yearly in our pounds and shelters, for the "crime" of being surplus and unwanted animals. These are the tragic consequences of indiscriminate "back yard" breeding, of indifference and ignorance. With puppies and kittens being born at the rate of 180 a minute, 10,800 per hour, there simply are not and never could be enough homes for them all.

So I was glad to learn, and thought your readers might also, of a fine humane organization, the Animal Protection Institute of America, which is meeting this problem in a direct and practical fashion. They are planning low-cost spaying clinics in major cities throughout the country, to encourage the spaying of pets and discourage careless breeding.

Surely such an organization deserves the help and support of every decent, humane-minded person in the country. Should anyone wish further information about this program, they can drop a note or postcard to API, Box P, Sacramento, Calif. 95813. API also fights to protect all animals.

"We The People' Acquire Spokesman

We assume that we have a "free" society, a society wherein there are "free communications" between various important forces. When employers and employees are involved, we call it "meaningful negotiations."

In a communist or a fascist dictatorship it is otherwise. Or, perhaps, in a democracy during "all-out war" the free communications are set aside; the needs of such war say: "Orders."

Today, many conscientious teachers in higher education deeply feel the need to negotiate. Repeated frustration. Strikes. Their employers are the selected representatives of "the people" of our state.

But smiling Ronnie says, "I don't believe in public employees striking against the people." His "belief" is his excuse for shirking his responsibility to set up real negotiations. Like a child: "I don't want to."

"The people" have hired the governor to represent the people. Yes, "we, the People" demand that Governor Reagan act as if he were in democratic California.

Don't Let Freeways Take Over Again

Recently, Governor Reagan came out strongly for a "solution" to San Francisco's freeway problem, citing in particular the "dire straits" of Marin County commuters.

Presently, the traffic congestion on the south side of Golden Gate Bridge is a major factor in stemming a flood of would-be motorists from inundating Marin County with traffic every weekend. It would be surprising to me if Marin County residents really favor improving the freeway access into their county.

Two Kinds Of Racism In Britain's Tough Problem

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

When Britain a year ago passed legislation drastically curtailing immigration of nonwhites, she created a whole new class of men without a country and for herself a moral problem.

The problem concerns the future of up to 200,000 Asian holders of British passports who are being deprived of their means of livelihood in Kenya, Zambia, Uganda and Tanzania.

Britain's hopes of finding a solution during the recently concluded meeting of commonwealth prime ministers collapsed when the four nations named above boycotted meetings of a 17-nation committee set up to discuss it.

THEY HAD demanded assurances that Britain would revise the Commonwealth Immigrants Act of 1968, which limits non-white immigration to 1,500 a year plus dependents even though the applicant holds and travels on a British passport.

This Britain refused to do on the grounds that most of the Asians seeking entry would arrive penniless and that the services of Britain's welfare state already are over-burdened.

Each side has accused the other of racism.

MOST OF THOSE affected are in Kenya, which has the largest communities of non-citizens, including about 160,000 Indians or Pakistanis.

On the side of the African nations, the purge mainly is against those who elected to retain British passports rather than take citizenship in the newly independent countries. The Africans claim such persons have no loyalties to the country from which they take their living.

In Kenya, the economy is about 80 per cent in Indian hands.

The purge of Indian shopkeepers and traders is more active now than a year ago when 20,000 panicky Indians and Pakistanis fled the country, mostly to Britain but also to India and Pakistan.

It was that exodus that led to passage of Britain's restrictive immigration act.

SINCE MANY of Asian descent were born in Africa, neither India nor Pakistan wants them. Burma began expelling Indians in 1965.

It bothers the British conscience, but Britons don't want them either.

Kenya limits the amount of money a departing alien may take with him, and one suggestion is that Britain could advance funds to these people departing under duress, balancing British aid to Kenya against these frozen funds.

Haerle's Quitting Sacramento Raises Republican Speculations

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

When one of Marin's fastest rising political stars quits a key post in the Reagan administration, the question naturally arises, why?

Paul R. Haerle, appointments secretary for the past two years, conceded he is leaving partly because of what he termed "an economic differential" between the $20,000-a-year salary and the income he previously enjoyed as an attorney practicing in a large San Francisco firm.

"Two years was the maximum I could invest in it," he said of his Sacramento job.

His decision also was based on his preference for being a practicing attorney instead of a professional staff man, he told the Independent-Journal.

HE WILL REJOIN the law firm on March 1, and commute until summer, when he and his family will move back from Sacramento to San Rafael.

Haerle insisted he has "no political plans," except to try for the job of secretary of the California Republican Central Committee.

That post traditionally is two rungs down from the state chairmanship, but only for someone from Southern California. Haerle would have a long wait, and at age 37 he is not used to waiting.

Other versions hold that Haerle was squeezed out of his administration job as a result of office politics, and another is that he left so he could be freer to seek elected office.

But Haerle denies he has any interest in trying for Marin's Assembly or Senate seats if either became available — a denial some find unconvincing.

There are also reports he is interested in getting a job in the Nixon administration, but California patronage is in the hands of former California Lt. Gov. Robert H. Finch — no particular friend of Reagan or his minions.

Haerle's assistant in the appointments office, incidentally, James J. Crumpacker, also a former Marinite, now is assistant for program development in the administration. That's the public relations term for public relations.

SOME BRIGHT SOUL in the capitol in Sacramento last week arranged for new signs to be driven into the walls outside the office doors of all 80 assemblymen — just about one week before most of them will be shifting offices and committees as the Republicans take over.

Former Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh, D-Los Angeles, now demoted, did not like his new sign, which read "minority leader." So he had it replaced with one that reads "Assembly Democratic leader."

ONE ILLUSTRATION of the fact that Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, is close to the new GOP leadership running the lower house is that his desk assignment was moved from an outside aisle to the second row on the center aisle.

That puts him in the middle of the most important huddles on the floor — and that's where the action is.

Sousa? Oh, Sure–He's The Fire Chief In San Anselmo

Some time ago, Rosemary Edwards, music teacher for the Novato schools, was talking to the music students at Pacheco School. Her topic was John Philip Sousa, the march king who died in 1932. She hoped that a few of the students would have heard of him. So she asked that all who knew of Sousa stand up.

To her surprise, all of the students stood. Then it came out. They were thinking of Carol Sousa, the clerk at the Pacheco School Library.

WHEN THE SATURDAY Evening Post distributes its last issue on Feb. 6, one Novato resident will shed a tear.

That is Paul Brindel, because he once contributed an article to that famous magazine which was a household word in America for generations.

Brindel, a native of Kansas, was a college chum of Wesley Stout, son of the managing editor of the Kansas City Star. In 1936, Stout became editor of the Saturday Evening Post.

At that time, Brindel was appraising houses for the California Veterans Administration in San Francisco. He wrote to Stout suggesting an article on housing.

By lucky coincidence, the Post had an issue coming with 40 pages of housing advertising and needed an article on housing. So Stout asked his old friend Brindel to do the article, giving him a week to turn it out.

The article, entitled "Eighty-seven Questions To Ask Your House," appeared in the Feb. 20, 1937, issue of the Post. It included a picture of Brindel's house in San Francisco. The house had cost Brindel $4,400 and the picture caption said it would cost $6,500 to duplicate it at the inflated prices of 1937. (Brindel said he saw it listed recently for $30,000.)

Brindel received $500 for the article and used it to go to France.

ART BUCHWALD

Nixon Threat To Humorists Or Humor Threat To Presidency?

Dear President Nixon:

This will be the fist of many letters I will write to you in the next four years telling you how to run the country. You'll be very happy to hear that there is no charge for this advice as I fell it's my duty as a loyal American to help the President solve the many problems of the day.

Now the first thing, Mr. President, I think you're going to have to stop is the jokes. I watched you on television making the rounds of the inaugural balls last week, and while I chuckled as much as you did at everything you had to say, my fear is that you can't keep up that pace of humor and also perform the duties of President of the United States.

The trouble with being President and using witty lines is that by the third time you've told them everyone in the country has heard them, and you get to sound like a recorded announcement.

I'M NOT SAYING you shouldn't have humor in your administration, because heaven knows the country needs a laugh, but I think you could turn this problem over to your vice president, Mr. Agnew, or if worse comes to worst your secretary of the interior, Walter Hickel.

As a matter of fact, there are many people in Washington, including Congress, the Supreme Court and the Pentagon, who can provide the laughs for this country, without you having to work on your own humor.

It's a strain to come up with quips every day, and while there is no doubt in my mind that you could do it, I don't want you to feel you have to. Warren Harding and Calvin Coolidge did tremendous jobs as Presidents, and I doubt fi you'll find six humorous things either one of them said that people are still quoting.

I must admit you had a few beauts on inaugural night. That one about Spiro Agnew marrying above himself was a rib-tickler, and the one about former President Eisenhower saying he was glad he called you the night before the inauguration so he could still call you "Dick" was a beaut, and the one about someone giving you the key to the White House and you thought you better go there was good enough for "Laugh-In."

THE ONLY ONE I didn't understand was the joke about Guy Lombardo. You said at the Smithsonian that you and Pat had danced to Guy Lombardo's orchestra on VJ night, and you hoped Guy Lombardo would still be playing when the next war ended.

I started to laught at that one and then I got pretty shaken. Mr. President, do you know something we don't know?

I know it's gratuitous for me to discuss your humor with you, but I thought if I mentioned it now, it might save you time later on. No one can come up with as many good one-liners as you did on inaugural night, and keep it up for four years.

I've balked it over with my colleagues, Russ Baker, Art Hoppe, Herblock, Bill Mauldin, Paul Conrad, and many other people in the political humor business and we all agreed that you should be spared the problem of entertaining us while running the country. To paraphrase the Greyhound Bus advertisement: "Go Air Force One and leave the joking to us."

Sincerely,
A. B.

P.S. How could Guy Lombardo still be playing after the next war?

Mansfield Sees Filibuster Change–Not This Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — Majority Leader Mike Mansfield says efforts to change the Senate's filibuster rule ar ebound to succeed, but apparently not in this Congress.

Mansfield reported yesterday that efforts to work out a compromise between opponents and defenders of Rule 22, which requires a two-thirds vote to shut of debate, were unsucessful.

But he predicted that "in time —in my opinion, a very short time," the Senate would vote to let a majority invoke cloture. This, he said, would change the basic character of the Senate as a deliberative body to the detriment of both the Senate and the country.

The last hope for a change this session was today's vote on a petition by 35 senators—27 Democrats and eight Republicans — to end debate and allow a vote on a motion to consider a proposal that would let three-fifths of the senators voting and present invoke cloture.

The motion has been pending for three weeks but defenders of the present two-thirds rule have filibustered against it, preventing a vote.

The fight over the Senate's cloture rule broke out shortly after Congress convened. It was a repetition of what has happened at the start of each new Congress in recent years.

The session's first vote on cutting off the debate was taken Jan. 16. The count was 51 to 47, 15 short of a two-thirds majority.

Iraq's Hanging Of 14 Bringing World Scorn

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Iraq's public hanging of 14 men, including nine Jews, on charges of spying for Israel drew widespread condemnation around the world today.

Coupled with reactions of shock and outrage was an Israeli report that another group of Jews was threatened with execution in Iraq, an Arab participant in the June war of 1967. Iraq still has some troops based in Jordan near Israel's frontier.

The Vatican City newspaper L'Osservatore Romano deplored the hangings and said the cause of peace in the Middle East "can only seriously suffer."

The newspaper disclosed that the Vatican had appealed to the Baghdad government through an envoy of Pope Paul VI for clemency.

Israel's ambassador to the United Nations, Joel Barromi, told Secretary-General U Thant that death threatened another group of jews in Iraq. Thant said he would look into the report immediately.

After the Iraqi government announced that the 14 were hanged yesterday for spying for Israel, Iraqi Information Minister Abdullah El Samarrai told a news conference in Baghdad that 65 other persons would be brought to trial soon on charges of spying for Israel and plotting against the Iraqi government. Barromi in his warning to Thant possibly was referring to members of this group.

Israel denied that those executed were spying for her and said their only crime was being Jewish. Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban in a statement to Thant said the Baghdad government "has perpetrated an act of barbarity which exceeds even what the world has come to expect from a country in which violence and murder have become almost commonplace."

Thant expressed fear that the executions would upset U.N. efforts to achieve peace in the Middle East. The Iraqi delegation to the United Nations at once complained that Thant was mixing in something that was "entirely an internal affair of Iraq."

Former Ambassador and Supreme Court Justice Arthur Goldberg, the president of the American Jewish Committee, expressed "shock and outrage" and urged the United States and the United Nations to "join with us in condemning what has occurred."

In Rome, more than 1,000 shouting Jews marched to the Iraqi Embassy today, and hurled stones and other objects against the building, breaking several windows.

Police guards pushed the crowd back and scuffled with youths in the crowd. An older demonstrator collapsed, apparently from a heart attack.

Police said Wilson's car jumped the curb and hit a metal power pole, snapping it off and causing a local blackout.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Infants' Better Chances Aid Life Expectancy For All Ages

VAN DELLEN

Life expectancy statistics are made up on a group basis, usually per 100,000 of the population, and represent the projected average length of life of all its members. In other words, at any age following birth, the life expectancy is the average number of years remaining to each person in that group.

Figures change yearly, and when a particularly hazardous period is passed (such as infancy), the chances of living longer are better and this good fortune is reflected in life enxpectancy tables.

CHILDHOOD IS AN especially dangerous period. In any group of 100,000 newborns, more than 95,000 will celebrate their first birthdy. Of the remainder, all but one-quarter of 1 per cent will live for a third year.

The percentage of deaths lessens with each succeeding year, until by age 10, less than one-tenth of 1 per cent die.

The reason our life expectancy at birth is so good is that childhood now is safer because of vaccines, penicillin, and progress in infant care.

LIFE EXPECTANCY in middle-aged or older males has not changed much. Men who lived to be 60 in 1850 had to be healthy to survive. Their life expectancy on raching 60 was 15.6 years, in contrast to the 1953 figure of 15.8.

Not too great a difference, but one

Glen G. Lovitt, 15, and James R. Lank, 16, both of Simi Valley, Ventura County, were booked on suspicion of burgling the homes of Irving Igdaloff at 135 Glen Drive, and Jack Shelton at 69 Crecienta. Another patrol car stopped a car with the other four youths, found one was Glen Lovitt's brother, and brought the four in for questioning.

One of the youths admitted burgling the two houses, police said. The coins were the only reported loss from Shelton's house. Taken from Igdaloff's house were a tape recorder, a watch, and three lighters. The tape recorder was found in the youth's car, police said.

Sonoma State Boosts Services For Marin

Sonoma State College's extension program in Marin County continues to grow at a rapid pace, making it the largest program in the six county area, according to Dr. Carroll V. Mjelde, dean of educational services and summer sessions.

Students in Marin comprise more than 25 per cent of the students in the service area that includes Sonoma, Solano, Napa, Lake and a portion of Mendocino County.

Dr. Mjelde said that in the 1967-68 school year a total of 4,079 took advantage of the programs and said he expects the number to increase to more than 6,000 this year.

Coordinating the program through he Marin County Superintendent of Schools office, he said it attempts to provide courses for continuing education for teachers as well as for persons not seeking a degree. And many courses are taught by teachers residing in Marin.

"Many people have vocational or personal interests in some of our programs," Dr. Mjelde said, "So we try to develop a program to meet individual needs."

"Some adults would hesitate going to a college campus for courses because they are not oriented to a degree program, so by holding classes in local schools, we find these students are more at ease," he said.

Dr. Mjelde said extension programs are designed to stretch the strengths of the college to the community and predicted community problems will soon become a part of extension programs.

He indicated this trend has already begun with local seminars such as conferences on drug abuse planned in the Marin-Sonoma area.

Nearly 100 Sonoma State courses will be offered in Marin County during the spring semester which begins the week of Feb. 10. Dr. Mjelde said anyone interested in receiving an extension division bulletin of classes should contact Lawrence A. Lindberg at the Marin superintendent's office or the educational services department at Sonama State.

Mill Valley Approves Flood Design Criteria

Design standards for the Arroyo Corte Madera del Presidio recommended in the 701 planning study for the Miller Avenue, downtown and Alto shopping areas were approved last night by the Mill Valley Planning Commission.

Commissioners made no recommendation on a specific design for the creek as a future flood control channel but indicated, instead, that the several design possibilities required further study before the flood control channel is approved according to Planning Director Harvey E. Bragdon.

In a general policy statement, the commission said the creek design should be compatible with existing and future development along the creek.

Design standards recommended by the 701 study, specify that from Gardner Street to Throckmorton Avenue and from Sunnyside Avenue to Willow Lane the creek should be maintained in its natural condition while between Throckmorton and Sunnyside avenues and from Willow Lane to Richardson Bay, the creek should reflect the "more man-modified setting, avoiding materials and construction details with natural or rustic overtones."

Public access should be facilitated and pedestrian and bicycle trails should be developed along the entire right of way, the 701 study said.

The Mill Valley Planning Commission Also:

DENSITY — Increased the density for 17 acres owned by Manuel Gomez on Camino Alto above the Christian Science Church from between 1.5 and 2 dwelling units to three units per acre. Gomez had asked for a density of 5.4 units per acre.

VARIANCE — Approved a variance requested by Fred W. Peters Jr. of 325 Buena Vista Avenue to permit construction of a car deck with no sideyard setback at one corner instead of the required 10 feet.

STUDY — Named Commissioners Sally Garoutte, Harlan L. Soeten and Robert E. Burton to a committee to study and make recommendations on the housing element to be included in the general plan as required by state law.

ELECTION — Named Richard J. Hiatt chairman; Burton vice chairman; Mrs. Garoutte liaison to the city-county planning council; and Edward J. Boessenecker, liaison to the city council.

Kent School Annex Plan Eyed Again

The Kentfield School District board last night discussed further the proposed building by the county schools office of a four-classroom annex next to the Adaline E. Kent School campus.

Supt. Anthony G. Bacich said the plan, for teaching hearing handicapped pupils, calls for the county schools office to acquire the land. The district would apply for the approximately $200,000 in state funds required for construction.

Bacich said half of this amount would be donated in state funds, and the other half would be repaid to the district by the county schools office and the district would then reimburse the state.

The Kentfield School District board also:

2 Bandits Force Jetliner To Cuba

MIAMI (AP) — Two men armed with a revolver and what appeared to be a bomb hijacked a National Airlines jet high over the Gulf of Mexico today and forced the pilot, Capt. James Brown, to fly them to Cuba.

The plane landed in Havana at 10:03 a.m. EST.

The crew brought the plane back, landing in Miami at 10:15 a.m. (PST). Another plane was being readied to pick up the passengers at the Cuban airport of Vanradero, where they were transported by bus from Havana.

It was the second National plane taken over by aerial pirates in five days. A Key West to New York flight was commandeered and taken to Havana Friday by a knife-wielding man who said he deserted the U.S. Navy because he did not want to go to Vietnam and kill.

Shortly after 6 a.m., Brown advised the Miami control tower that two men were in the cockpit, one brandishing "some kind of an explosive" and the other holding a .38-caliber revolver at the pilot's head.

"Please be advised we are going to Havana," Brown said tersely.

The plane was on a flight from Los Angeles and had stopped at Houston. It was bound from New Orleans to Miami with 25 passengers and seven crewmen aboard and was 200 miles west of Tampa when the message was radioed.

Others in the crew were co-pilot James Durr, flight engineer David Schneider, and stewardesses Barbara Mohney, Victoria Sikorski, Pamela Yorba and Donna Yost.

It was the ninth commercial airliner hijacked to Cuba this year. One other attempt failed.

Brown gave officers a description of their car, police said, and the pair was apprehended in the center soon after. Officers said Brown identified both men, but the television set was not recovered.

Barulich was freed on $940 bail and was scheduled to appear in Marin Municipal Court this afternoon. Correnti, also to appear today, was freed on $315 bail.

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — One-sixth of Warsaw's population—more than 200,000 people, are suffering from Hong Kong flu, Polish papers said today.

Sentence Of Life For Sommerhalder

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — Johnny Lee Sommerhalder, 25, was sentenced to life imprisonment yesterday in Sonoma Superior Court for the murder of Charles Kaufmann, a Santa Rosa Junior College student, on Oct. 7, 1967.

Sommerhalder changed his innocent plea to guilty last Wednesday before Judge Lincoln F. Mahon. The trial had been in its second day of jury selection.

He had already been convicted and sentenced to die by a Marin county jury for the murders of Curtis and Shirley Ackley in their Santa Venetia trailer home on Jan. 12, 1968.

In Sonoma County, Sommerhalder was charged with shooting Kaufmann to death and kidnaping and raping Kaufmann's companion in a secluded lovers' lane section of Santa Rosa. District Atty. Kiernan Hyland dropped the kidnap and rape charges when the murder plea was changed.

Jack Brockman, 21, a member of Sommerhalder's "Grim Reapers" motorcycle gang, was convicted of the Kaufmann murder on Sept. 11 and sentenced to life imprisonment. A third gang member, Kenneth Preston, 20, was sentenced to one to 15 years on the kidnap charge in the Kaufmann murder.

Preston was also convicted and given the death penalty in Marin County for the Ackley murders.

Rumor Is Held False On VA Dividend Pay

Persistent reports that certain veterans may get up to $200 on an unpaid 1948 GI insurance dividend are false, the Veterans Administration declared today.

Gordon R. Elliott, manager of VA's Northern California regional office, said that dozens of California newspapers, radio and TV stations are still carrying reports of this dividend.

James V. Burdick, VA service officer for Marin, said his office has received a half dozen calls from veterans who had heard the false report.

Hospital District Trustees To Elect

Marin Hospital District trustees will elect officers at a meeting at 6 p.m. today at Marin General Hospital.

The board will also hear a progress report on the Community Mental Health Center.

Imlay Named To Bay Area Crime Panel

BERKELEY — Sausalito City Councilman Alexander R. Imlay has been appointed to represent Marin County on the Association of Bay Area Governments' regional criminal justice advisory board.

Sonoma County Supervisor Arthur Ruonavaara and that county's chief probation officer, William Mulligan, also were named to the 24-member board by the president of ABAG, Contra Costa County Supervisor James P. Kenny.

Imlay is an attorney.

The board is to receive a $113,000 federal planning grant to draw a comprehensive plan to improve law enforcement in the nine-county Bay Area.

The Crime Control and Safe Streets Act by Congress will channel funds for law enforcement programs to local governments, but first requires that comprehensive plans be drawn, stating which regional needs are most important.

Named chairman of the board was San Francisco Supervisor Terry A. Francois. Also a member is Shirley Temple Black of Woodside who was selected to represent the public.

TELEVISION REVIEW

Status Of The Black Person Picking Up In The Industry

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Ebony, the black-oriented magazine, have given space to a major article about Negroes in television. And the fact that it is basically a hopeful and positive article is of significance.

Pointedly, the added fact that the piece is not a bit of Pollyanna fluff, and does not look at television through rose-colored glasses, is also significant. The writer, Louie Robinson, knows what things are all about, and has a healthy perspective.

"It must be remembered," he writes, "that although there is now a brighter minority employment picture on the tube, the Negro's high visibility makes him appear to be in greater TV abundance than he really is.

"The most recent surveys of the Joint Equality Committee formed by the artists, directors, screen actors and writers' guilds in New York showed that minorities got only about 6 per cent of the acting jobs and less than 3 per cent of the commercials."

The title of Robinson's article is: "TV discovers the Black Man." And a subtitle section adds: "Unprecedented large number of Afro-Americans make appearances on top network shows."

Robinson points out properly that this television season has been, "in a rather strong sense...the year of the black people." He writes:

"Click! There's a big, bad, black stud riding tall in the saddle, with lightning in his gun-hand and a deadly eye...." He is talking about ABC-TV's "The Outcasts."

"Click! There's a lean young cat wearing a natural who knows where it's at and tells it like it is; but watch him, he's the fuzz." He is talking about ABC-TV's "Mod Squad."

"Click! Click! There's the finest little brown girl you ever wanted to see, lives in a sharp pad and has this kid; her husband got clobbered in Vietnam." He is talking about NBC-TV's "Julia."

According to Robinson, "A monitoring survey made four years ago showed that, in a five-hour viewing period, three Negroes were likely to be seen on TV, two of them for less than a minute....At the beginning of the 1968-69 television season, there were black people starring or costarring in 14 network evening shows...

"And in the housewives' domain of daytime TV, the drama and the trauma of the soap opera is no longer for whites only. Colored people have problems too. In further daytime adventures, black contestants are no longer a rarity on the quiz shows."

Things, however, are still far from perfect from the black point of view. Quoted in the article is Ivan Dixon, a Negro performer in CBS-TV's "Hogan's Heroes," who says:

"The industry does feel a need to project black images, but they don't really know how. It's kind of confusing on the part of film producers basically because they still don't really comprehend what and where we really are."

Today is Tuesday, Jan. 28, the 28th day of 1969 with 337 to follow.

The moon is between its first quarter and full phase. The morning stars are Mars and Jupiter. The evening stars are Venus and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1915 Congress passed legislation creating the U.S. Coast Guard.

In 1922 the roof of Washington's Knickerbocker Theatre collapsed under the weight of heavy snow, killing 95 persons.

In 1963 Harvey Gantt became the first Negro to attend school with whites in South Carolina by enrolling without incident at Clemson College.

In 1965 Nicholas Katzenbach was named Attorney General.

A thought for the day: Isaac Goldberg said, "Diplomacy is to do and say the nastiest thing in the nicest way."

HOW TO PLAY
WINNING BRIDGE
By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

After Bid Of Two Clubs Show Your Partner Both Major Suits

When you use an opening bid of two clubs as your only way of showing a very powerful hand you can indicate a strong no-trump hand by your rebid. A rebid of two no-trump promises 23 or 24 points; a jump to three no-trump shows 25 or 26 points.

TWO NO-TRUMP

South would open with two no-trump if he had one point less than his actual hand. North would then pass.

With a full 23 points, South opens with two clubs and then bids two no-trump. North can afford to raise to game with his meager values.

This method enables the opener to describe a strong no-trump hand to within one point of its actual value. Responder will tell accurately whether the combined count is likely to be the 26 points needed for game or the 33 needed for slam.

EARLY START

South must overtake dummy's jack of spades with the king, beginning early with a cautious line of play. Dummy's spade entry must be saved until South knows what to do with it.

South needs three diamond tricks for his contract and should begin by leading the ace of diamonds. Then he switches to the king of hearts. East refuses the trick and likewise refuses the queen of hearts at the next trick, hoping to hamper declarer by preventing him from getting to dummy with the jack of hearts.

NOT DISTURBED

As it happens, South is not disturbed. He leads a low diamond, using dummy's nine to drive out the jack. West's discard makes the diamond situation crystal clear.

East can take the ace and ten of hearts, but then declarer can get to dummy with the queen of spades to lead a diamond for a finesse through East's queen.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with two clubs, you bid two diamonds, and partner bids two no-trump.

It is once more up to you, holding:

♣— K Q 10 4

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid three spades. If partner has three-card spade support you prefer a contract of four spades to three no-trump.

George Archer Picks Up $25,000 Crosby Prize

PEBBLE BEACH (AP)—Your average golfer doesn't generally consider double bogeys and triple bogeys blessings in disguise. But then, George Archer isn't your average golfer.

Sitting in an overstuffed chair while sipping a short beer, Archer was flushed with victory after carrying off the $25,000 first prize in the Bing Crosby National Pro-Amateur Golf Tournament. He shot a 71 yesterday for a 283 total, five strokes under par.

One stroke back on the Pebble Beach course were Bob Dickson and Howie Johnson, who found missed putts costly, and third-round leader Dale Douglass, who got that close with a birdie on the final hole.

They were that close only because of what had happened to Archer the day before. Playing the back nine of the Spyglass Hill course, Archer got bogged down in sand on the 17th and 18th holes and took a double and triple bogey.

He came in with three birdie putts and finished at even par, two strokes behind Douglass and one in back of Johnson.

"If I hadn't made double bogey and triple bogey," the 29-year-old pro said, "I'd have teed off today with a five-shot lead and I'd have been scared to death. It's the hardest thing in the world to keep a lead."

Dickson who turned 25 Saturday, shot one of the day's best rounds, a 68, but missed a tie for the lead when he blew a 10-inch putt while three-putting the 11th hole.

"It's one of the shortest putts I've ever missed," he said. "I rushed it. I guess I wanted to get it over with.

"I have quite a record. I do quite well in a tournament or I miss the cut. I've still got a long way to go and a lot to learn."

Johnson, from Palm Springs, Calif., was tied with Archer but missed a 12-foot par putt on 17 and slipped a stroke. Douglass bogeyed seven, eight and nine to drop out of contention.

Jack Nicklaus, at 71—287, Billy Casper at 70—290 and Arnold Palmer at 73—297 were well out of contention while young John Lotz, shooting a 72, came up to take fifth place at 285.

Dickson and actor Jack Ging, won the pro-am best ball competition with a 64 yesterday and a 257 total. Dickson added the $3,500 first prize to his winnings.

Archer, fourth leading money with more than $150,000 on the tour last year but still not the best known of golfers, now sets his sights on the Masters, U.S. Open and PGA titles.

The reason, he says, is the extra money that goes to the winner of those prestigious titles, but he remains almost boyish about playing golf.

"I've heard a lot of guys say, 'If I could make a million dollars I'd quit golf', but if someone offered me a million to quit. I wouldn't do it.

"I remember the first year I went on the tour, I figured if I could make $10,000 it would be a lot of money.

"By the way," he said, looking up at the scoreboard, "what did I make? Nobody told me."

His wife quickly filled him in.

Sentimental Journey For Walter Mails

SPECIAL DELIVERY MAILS — When Walter "The Great" Mails is inducted into the Marin County Hall of Fame Friday night at Mill Valley it will be a sentimental journey for the former major league pitching star.

During a chat yesterday Mails told me that it was in Mill Valley that he donned his very first baseball uniform.

"That was in 1912 or 1913," he recalled. "At the time I pitched for the San Quentin Grammar School team and we played in our street clothes. But one day a man named Walter Krausgrill saw me pitch against San Rafael Grammar School and asked me if I'd like to pitch for the Mill Valley semi-pro team. It was sponsored by the Bass Hueter Paint Co. and they had beautiful blue uniforms trimmed in white. It was quite a thrill because I was so young and dreamed of playing in a uniform. Of course, I jumped at the chance. I don't remember how I got from San Quentin to Mill Valley, but I think maybe my grandfather drove me down in his horse and buggy.

Teammate In Mill Valley

"My memory is a bit hazy after all these years, but I remember another player on that Mill Valley team was Tommy Bickerstaff who is still living in Marin County. I hope he'll come to the Hall of Fame affair Friday night."

Mails said semi-pro baseball was big stuff in Marin County during his childhood as every little town had its own team. Mails finally organized one at San Quentin — but barely. "We had only eight boys in town," he said, "so we had to use a girl named Hazel Williams as our right fielder. It turned out that she was a helluva player. She could run, throw, hit, slide — everything."

Mails, who is on a great comeback from recent illness and back at his desk in the San Francisco Giants' publicity department at Candlestick Park, went from the sandlots of Marin County to pitching fame in the Pacific Coast League and then to the major leagues with Cleveland of the American League and Brooklyn of the National, engraving his name and accomplishments in the World Series record books along the way.

A Close Friend Of Connolly

Mails says he is highly honored to be selected for the Marin Hall of Fame by the Knights of Columbus of Southern Marin County. "I'll be just as excited to visit Mill Valley Friday night as I was about 55 years ago to put on my first baseball uniform," he said.

The former southpaw, whose reputation as an after dinner speaker landed him the publicity job with the Giants when they moved to San Francisco in 1958, said he was deeply saddened by the death Sunday of John J. Connolly, former Hearst organization sports editor who authored a baseball column for the Independent-Journal for eight years up until 1966.

"I knew John for years and years," Mails said. "We'd have a lot of bull sessions at Candlestick, invariably we'd argue about something and he'd get mad at me. But the next morning I'd stop by his real estate office in Kentfield and we'd make up, enjoy a good laugh and everything was peaches and cream. Until our next bull session and we'd go through the whole routine over again."

OUT OF A TRAP TO VICTORY

Boost For S.F. Receiving Corps

NEW YORK (AP) — Surprise!

The Buffalo Bills of the American Football League picked Heisman Trophy Winner and All-American halfback O. J. Simpson as their first round pick as the third annual combined pro football draft got under way today.

The San Francisco 49ers gave John Brodie more talented hands to throw at by picking what his coach described as a "perfect" tight end and a local favorite.

TED KWALICK
49ers' No. 1

6-FOOT-4

The 49ers, using the first-round draft choice acquired from the New Orleans in a deal that sent Dave Parks to the Saints, picked Ted Kwalick, a massive, 6-foot-4, 230-pound All-American from unbeaten Penn State, then grabbed Gene Washington, flankerback from Stanford and the nation's fourth-best receiver.

The 49ers failed to get a breakaway running back in the first round. They have no second-round pick. Still left up for grabs after the 49ers chose Washington were such outstanding backs as Eugene "Mercury" Morris of West Texas State, Ron Johnson of Michigan and Paul Gipson of Houston, among others.

"PERFECT"

Penn State coach Joe Paterno said that if "you were to diagram what a perfect tight end should look like and what his abilities and capabilities should be, the finished product would be Ted Kwalick."

Kwalick,, with huge hands potent blocking and good running ability, may be the best tight end prospect since Mike Ditka of the Chicago Bears and John Mackey of the Baltimore Colts.

Washington, six-foot-one and 182 pounds, is a converted quarterback on the receiving end of tosses from Stanford sophomore whiz Jim Plunkett.

600 GRAND

Simpson has indicated that he would demand as much as a $600,000 bonus, equalling the highest price ever paid for a graduating collegian. Donny Anderson of Texas Tech reportedly received that figure in a long term contract with the Green Bay Packers in 1966.

The ten teams of the American League and the 16 of the older National Football League will choose 442 college seniors during the next two days.

Simpson, a 6-1, 207-pounder rushed for 1,709 yards, an all-time record, and scored 22 touchdowns. He had an 80-yard scoring run in the Rose Bowl, in which Southern California lost to Ohio State.

The choice of Simpson marked the second straight year that a Southern California player had been No. 1 in the draft.

YARY

Last year the honor went to Ron Yary, a giant tackle, grabbed by the Minnesota Vikings. However, Yary saw little action during the past season.

Atlanta of the National Football League, the second to pick, chose George Kunz, a tackle from Notre Dame.

Kunz is 6-foot-5, 245 pounds and 21 years old. He was the Irish co-captain and a member on The Associated Press' second All-American team.

New Steeler Coach Burns Midnight Oil

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Chuck Noll, going from the heights to the depths of pro football, has taken over the head coaching duties of the Pittsburgh Steelers.

The Steelers have won only 11 games in the last three National Football League seasons and never have gained an NFL championship.

But that doesn't bother Noll, who came to Pittsburgh from the NFL champion Baltimore Colts.

"I just don't believe that any certain area is doomed to have losers," said Noll at a news conference yesterday.

Noll's first big job will be to help the Steelers in their selections in the college draft, which got under way today.

Noll worked late into the night yesterday, reviewing films and data on Pittesburgh's personnel to, as he put it, "bolster weak spots on the roster."

After the draft, Noll said he'll get down to selecting his assistants.

"I want people who are not just in it (football) for hanging on," he said. "I want people who are dedicated to bringing the best out of the players we have."

Noll said he was on the phone talking to prospective assistants minutes after he took the job offer from Dan Rooney, Steelers vice president.

Rooney, commenting on Noll's selection, said, "We were looking for someone who knows the pro game. We expect to get five of the best players in the country Tuesday and we want someone to motivate them."

Noll succeeds Bill Austin, fired after posting an 11-28-3 record in three seasons.

Noll played college football at the University of Dayton, then played guard and linebacker for the Cleveland Browns.

He was an assistant coach for the old Los Angeles Chargers, a team that captured five of six Western Division titles in the American Football League, and then went to Baltimore.

Rebirth Of Old League

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — The American Association, final stepping stone to the major leagues for Stan Musial, Ted Williams, Willie Mays and many other baseball stars, is back in business after a six-year layoff.

Former pitching great Allie Reynolds was named president of the six-team league at an organizational meeting yesterday. League headquarters will be in his home town, Oklahoma City.

Members of the reborn Class AAA league include four teams in the Pacific Coast League last season—Oklahoma City, Tulsa, Denver and Indianapolis. Omaha and Des Moines are the other teams.

"The American Association has fallen heir to the best territory in the land. The Midwest has always been a great baseball area," Reynolds said yesterday.

The league adopted a 140-game schedule for its 1969 season that will open April 18 and close Sept. 1.

It also recommended that baseball's rules committee make changes to speed up the game and drew up a league rule that will require a batter to stay in the batter's box until his turn has ended unless he has the plate umpire's permission to step out.

Another former pitching star, Carl Erskine of Anderson, Ind., was named a special assistant to Reynolds and will scout for two more cities so the league can expand to eight teams in 1970.

Reynolds pitched for Cleveland and the New York Yankees in his 15-year major league career. Erskine was with the Brooklyn and Los Angeles Dodgers.

Eagles Trade Ditka For Untried Cowboy

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Mike Ditka is delighted . . . and Dave McDaniels is excited. It just goes to show what a change of scenery in the National Football League will do for you.

The Philadelphia Eagles yesterday traded former All-Pro tight end Ditka to the Dallas Cowboys for untested split end McDaniels, prompting these euphorious comments:

Ditka: "I don't know anything about it, but if it's true, I'm delighted."

EXCITED

McDaniels: "I'm real excited about going to Philadelphia. The main thing is that I will get a chance to play."

Ditka was obviously happy about clearing out of town. His battle with Coach-General Manager Joe Kuharich was an open war. In fact, Ditka had said publicly he would never again play for the Eagles' field boss.

Ditka, 29, an eight-year NFL veteran, had his brightest years with the Chicago Bears. Before coming here two years ago in a trade for quarterback Jack Concannon, Ditka was Rookie of the Year in 1961 and four times a nember of the All-Pro team.

His performance, which reached a high of 75 pass receptions in 1964, deteriorated after coming to the Eagles. Ditka blamed his two sub-par seasons here on Kuharich.

CLASHED

"I couldn't play for Kuharich under the same situation and system," he had said in a recent interview. "We just clashed, and I blame the way I was misused . . ."

The 6-foot-3, 235-pounder, who broke into the NFL with a rush by catching 56 passes for 1,076 yards and 12 touchdowns in 1961, spent most of 1968 on the sidelines and managed only 13 receptions.

The Eagles were apparently building for the future in acquiring McDaniels, 23, a speedster from Mississippi Valley College chosen as the Cowboys' second draft pick last year.

McDaniels was a super prospect in college, where he set a National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics' reception mark of 65 passes for 1,236 yards and seven touchdowns in his junior year.

The 6-4, 200-pound McDaniels sat out most of his rookie season, behind Bob Hayes and Lance Rentzel.

"It's hard to play when you're behind Hayes and Rentzel, and trying to break in," McDaniels said yesterday from Dallas.

"I don't want to disappoint them (the Eagles) and I hope I can do a good job."

Red Shield Wins In Rec Basketball

Red Shield survived a furious Ghilotti Brothers rally to take a high-scoring 83-72 Class A victory in San Rafael Recreational Department basketball play yesterday at San Rafael.

Red Shield had a 22-point lead going into the final period. Ken Anderson was high for Ghilotti Brothers with 19 points.

In Class B games, Cain's Tire downed Taberna, 67-52, behind 23 points by Terry Thomas, and the Xerox Repros stopped the San Francisco Theological Seminary, 76-56 as Bob Haxton scored 18 points.

East Vs. West ABA All-Stars

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The second annual American Basketball Association's All-Star Game will be played tonight with Coach Alex Hannum of the West looking for a sleeper to pull out a victory.

The sleeper on Hannum's West All-Star team is Denver's Wayne Hightower, one of the two players picked by the coach for his team.

"The writers and broadcasters go with the glamor boys," Hannum said yesterday. "There's nothing wrong with that, but I added Hightower to help us win the game."

Hightower have averaged 14.8 points and 9.1 rebounds a game for the Rockets, but Hannum says these figures do not tell the entire story of the player's worth.

"He has great ability to play defense," Hannum explained. "He is big enough to guard a big man and still agile enough to handle a good-sized guard."

Hannum, who coaches the Oakland Oaks, said he isn't unhappy with the players named by the newsmen and broadcasters "but any system can be improved."

After newsmen picked the first 10 members of the two squads, Hannum and Jim Harding, coach of the East All-Stars, each selected two more.

Hannum's other choice was Merv Jackson of Los Angeles while Harding, coach of the Minnesota Pipers, completed his roster with Jim Ligon of Kentucky and Art Heyman of Minnesota.

The West will be gunning for its first victory after losing the initial encounter 26-120 at Indianapolis last year.

Hannum is the first coach to direct an All-Star team in both major basketball leagues. Last year, as coach of the Philadelphia 76ers, he guided the East to a 144-124 victory over the West in the National Basketball Association All-Star Game.

Pro Football Stars In A Military Tour

TOKYO (AP) — New York Jets' quarterback Joe Namath, who has faced some of the toughest football opponents without flinching, retreated today when he met a Vietnam veteran suffering from a skin infection.

"It's okay, it's not catching," Air Force Sgt. Gerald Powers of Buffalo, N.Y., assured the football star.

Namath was visiting a U.S. military hospital in Tachikawa, near Tokyo, as part of a government-sponsored tour of military instalations in Japan, Guam, Okinawa and the Philippines.

Namath was accompanied by Jim Otto of the Oakland Raiders, Steve Wright of the New York Giants and Marv Fleming of the Green Bay Packers.

The players spent about two hours touring the wards and Fleming drew chuckles by wearing a jacket with the words "Go, Jets Go!" The players distributed team stickers and signed autographs, some on the casts of patients.

Namath and Otto approached Powers and, after discussing football, someone asked the soldier why he was in the hospital.

"I'm suffering from a skin infection, similar to poison oak," explained Powers. Namath and Otto quickly shifted away, but Powers assured them it was not catching.

They were later honored at a reception at the non-commissioned Officers Club and then toured the Yokota Air Force Hospital at Yokota Air Base.

Tomorrow they will fly by helicopter to Yokosuka Navy Base to visit the Navy hospital there.

BIG ICE SHOW SCHEDULED FOR OAKLAND

This unusual photograph shows pretty Jennie Walsh of Los Angeles in practice for the North American Figure Skating Championships to be held at the Oakland Coliseum Arena Feb. 6-7-8. Miss Walsh was the 1968 winner of the French Grand Prix ladies' skating title and is just one of 36 American and Canadian champion skaters entered in the Oakland event, sponsored by the St. Moritz Ice Skating Club of Berkeley.

They Glide Across Ice With Greatest Of Ease

Most graceful of all winter sports is figure skating. It certainly is most pleasing to watch them performed by pretty young ladies such as Tina Noyes and Janet Lynn who will be competing Feb. 6-7-8 in the 1969 North American Figure Skating Championships at Oakland Coliseum.

In 1961 the entire U. S. figure skating team was wiped out in the Brussels air tragedy but now the United States is back on top in world competition. Peggy Fleming, the Olympic champion, has retired. But some experts say Miss Lynn is farther advanced at age 15 than was Miss Fleming.

The North American is the highest level competition ever held in the Bay Area and second in Northern California only to the VIII Winter Olympics at Squaw Valley in 1960. The top 18 U. S. skaters compete against the top 18 Canadian in the North American.

SWIMMERS SWIM against time. Skaters skate against perfection. To achieve perfection in figure skating requires years of long, hard and tedious practice, plus expert instrruction.

Jerry Carpenter, for more than four decades the "daddy" of California winter sports, traces the history of figure skating in his book appropriately called "California Winter Sports." Carpenter writes:

"Jackson Haines, an American ballet master, is credited with revolutionizing the art of skating. His business fell away sharply after the Civil War, and knowing Austrians loved dancing he shifted his base of operations to Vienna.

"THE VIENNESE liked to skate but skating at that time was more or less aimless. Jackson thought that if he could transfer the waltz and other dance movements to the ice, skating would be far more interesting.

"So he became a ballet teacher to ice skaters. He waltzed, gilded, twirled and went through the movements that ballet dancers do. The new form of skating spread throughout Europe and later was adopted in the United States and Canada. Figure skating was well on its way."

FIGURE SKATING competition isn't just a test of free skating. There are 42 separate figures that must be learned on each foot. For top competition all must be mastered. In Olympic competition 6 of the 42 are selected by five judges who draw them by lot. These are the compulsory figures which must be skated by each contestant in triple competition. They account for 60 per cent of the total points.

Compulsory figures at the North American next week will be held Thursday, Feb. 6, the free skating on Friday and Saturday.

Giant Voice Will Head Seal Drive

Russ Hodges, San Francisco Giants' sportscaster and resident of Mill Valley, today was announced as chairman of the 1969 Easter Seal campaign in Marin County.

James Donovan, M.D., president of the Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults of Marin, said Hodges will lead more than 250 local volunteers in seeking a total of $30,000 to finance rehabilitation and recreation services for crippled children and adults in the county.

The 1969 campaign will be conducted March 1 to April 6.

In accepting the Easter Seal Chairmanship, Hodges said: "I am deeply honored to take such a prominent role in activities of the Easter Seal organization. I invite the volunteer cooperation of all residents in helping to bring this finest, far reaching good work to as many crippled children and adults as possible in 1969."

SPECIAL EVENTS

Some 60,000 Marin homes will receive Easter Seals in the mail, and community groups will conduct a series of special events and activities to provide additional funds for crippled children and adults.

Hodges, well-known as the "Voice of the Giants," is also known for his volunteer activities and personal appearances on behalf of Lions' International, Cancer Society and American Red Cross.

The Marin Society is an affiliate of the Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults of California and of the National Easter Seal Society, dedicated to serving all handicapped persons regardless of age, cause of crippling, race, religion, or economic status. Last year the local unit served more than 400 crippled children and adults in Marin.

A Slam-Bang Boxing Show At Novato

By GARY TISCHLER

Well, it's that time of year again, and we don't mean spring.

Right in the middle of an excruciating basketball race, Novato High School will sponsor its fifth annual boxing night, with, it is hoped, the same spectacular success that accompanied the four previous slugrests.

The fistic spectacular comes off Feb. 5 at Novato High.

Three previous champions are back to try for more honors. Two fo them — Wally Campbell and Randy Smith are gunning for their third titles, but only one of them is going to get it. They're paired against each other.

The other returning champ is Larry Yager.

WELL, IT'S official.

Soccer will join the Marin County Athletic League's retinue of winter sports next season, after a trial run this season.

A board of managers made up of principals from the eight league schools gave the sport league sanction Jan. 8. It will provide another outlet of participation for athletics-starved youngsters, if there are any left.

THE REGULAR season wrestling title will be decided today at Mill Valley when Tamalpais and Novato, both unbeaten, go at it in a dual meet.

Novato, a ho-hum repeater year after year in wrestling, isn't as strong as in past years, with weaknesses at both extreme ends of the weight lists, but the Hornets are still tough as nails, with the Donaldsen twins, Ken and Kirt, still around.

REDWOOD HIGH School practically rules the MCAL basketball world right at the moment. The Giants are tied for first in varsity play and they are unbeaten in both Junior Varsity and Class B play with 5-0 records.

THERE IS a wealth of promising and talented sophomores on display in basketball circles this year, giving the league a nucleus of strength for the next couple of years.

All of them are tall, and reportedly still growing. There's Dana La Ferriere at Novato, a 6-foot, 7-inch type who already has a keen instinct to go after the ball on the boards. At Drake, there's thin, 6-3, Jeff Meeker, a starter for the beleagured Pirates. And at Redwood, there is 6-6 Bill Challender, big, strong with precocious finesse and shooting ability.

Redwood-Novato Tilt Switched To Friday

The Marin County Athletic League basketball game between Redwood and Novato high schools, originally scheduled for Thursday night at Larkspur, has been switched to Friday night in Larkspur.

The junior varsity teams will play at 7 p.m. to be followed by the varsity game at almost 8:30.

Leroy Keyes, the great running Purdue halfback.

He is 6-foot-3, 205, a standout on the Purdue team that played in the Rose Bowl in 1968. He gained 1,003 yards and scored 15 touchdowns in his senior year despite a run of injuries. He also was an ace pass-catcher. Keyes also was outstanding on defense.

GREENE

The Pittsburgh Steelers of the NFL, with the No. 4 pick, grabbed Joe Greene, a North Texas State defensive tackle, an All-American. He is 6-foot-4, 274 and 21 years old.

Greene was rated one of the outstanding defensive men of the 1968 college season.

Cincinnati of the AFL, fifth in the order of the draw, took quarterback Greg Cook of the University of Cincinnati.

Cook is 6-foot-4, 200 pounds and 21 years old. He was on the All-Missouri Valley team. He was the major college total offense leader with 3,210 yards.

The Boston Patriots of the AFL, picked Ron Sellers, Florida State split end, a lanky, loose-jointed ex-basketball player who was on the All-American team. Sellers is the all-time college receiving champion, with 3,598 yards. He led the major college ranks with 86 catches.

SURPRISE

There was mild surprise that teams to this point had passed up Terry Hanratty, the Notre Dame quarterback.

Los Angeles of the NFL, using Detroit's No. 1 pick acquired in the Bill Munson deal, took Larry Smith, second-leading rusher in the Southeast Conference. The Florida senior is 6-foot-4 and 221.

San Diego surprised by picking Marty Domres, Columbia quarterback who is 6-foot-4 and 212.

Domres, who holds 15 Columbia and 12 Ivy League records, was the fourth leading passer in the country and third in total offense last season.

His career total yardage was 5,345 yards, fifth best of all time.

Los Angeles, using its second of three first-round picks, selected receiver Jim Seymour of Notre Dame, 6-foot-4 and 205. The choice was acquired in a trade with Washington for Gary Beban. The All-American split end caught 53 passed for 736 yards last season.

The Miami Dolphins of the AFL took defensive tackle Bill Stanfill of Georgia, winner of the Outland Trophy as the best interior lineman in the nation. The Dolphins said they plan to use the 6-foot-5, 245pound All-American as a defensive end.

Green Bay, which picked last in each of the previous two drafts, went 12th this time and took Richie Moore, defensive tackle from Villanova. Moore, a surprise selection, is 6-7 and weighs 291. He played both ways at Villanova.

The Packers obviously are concerned with their defensive tackle situation. Both Henry Jordan and Ron Kostelnik were plagued with injuries last season, and Jordan reportedly is considering retirement.

The Chicago Bears were next but they were unable to come up with a selection in the 15 minutes allotted and were bypassed. The New York Giants then almost immediately selected Fred Dryer, a defensive end from San Diego State.

Minutes later the Bears chose Rufus Mayes, tackle from Ohio State. Mayes, 6-5 and 250, was a tight end until his senior year. He started every game for the Buckeyes for three seasons.

The Houston Oilers of the AFL picked Ron Pritchard, linebacker from Arizona State. The 6-foot, 230-pounder was a second-team All-American choice.

New Orleans, using Minnesota's pick acuired in a trade for Gary Cuozzo, named John Shiners, a 6-3, 255-pound guard from Xavier.

San Diego of the AFL, making its second pick of the round, took linebacker Bob Babich, 6-2, 225, of Miami of Ohio. He was also a second-team All-American.

St. Louis of the NFL followed immediately by selecting Roger Wehrli, a 6-0, 184-pound All-American defensive back from Missouri. He also was the top punt returner in the nation with an 11.7-yard average.

The Cleveland Browns of the NFL selected running back Ron Johnson of Michigan, 6-1, 196-pounder who was a second team All-American. He broke Tom Harmon's Michigan records for yards gained and rushing attempts and was the sixth leading rusher last season with 1,391 yards and the fourth top scorer with 116 points.

The Rams, finally using their own selection, took Bob Klein, a tight end from Southern California, a 6-foot-5, 238-pounder who was an All-Coast selection.

The Oakland Raiders of the AFL selected Art Thomas, a defensive tackle from Syracuse. He's 6-5 and 236 and was an all-East team member.

CAGE COACHES

Dick Hart Has Winning Tradition At Redwood

(Fifth in a series on Marin County Athletic League basketball coaches.)

After 20 years of coaching basketball, Dick Hart, your jolly old mentor at Redwood High School in Larkspur, is still smiling. This year, more so than usual.

A lot of fairly knowledgeable people are talking in title terms when they talk about Redwood. And even Hart, who won't say much about titles, seems optimistic, talking about his "faceless wonders" and the great togetherness his team has displayed enroute to a 14-4 won-lost record.

Fellows like Roger Smith, Jerry Piro, John Boro, Skip Corsini and Jim Peters could give Hart his third Marin County Athletic League title and another winning season in a long line of winning seasons.

"I hope I'm not overly optimistic," Hart says. "I've got a good feeling about these boys. It's the best shooting team we've had. They have great spirit. They don't quit."

WINNING RECORDS

Hart may or may not win a title but he will win his share of games. Basketball victories just come naturally at Redwood where junior varsity coach Duncan McSwain, B coach Stan Buchanan and new frosh coach Bob Sargent all hold winning records in the past.

In addition to his regular starters, Hart will have 6 foot, 7 inch Pete Webb joining the team in the second half of league and he has 6-6 sophomore Bill Challender in reserve.

With that kind of team, Hart would probably get a ticker-tape parade back in his native Iowa, if it wasn't snowing too hard. In Marin County, super-prep sports teams get lost in the shuffle.

Hart was raised in the Midwest, a geographic area near Ohio State University, a flat landscape dotted with baskets hanging on barns and cold gymnasiums.

"Back in Iowa, a basketball game would be an event," Hart recalled. "Players were treated as some kind of heroes by the whole town. And the towns had a kind of identity of their own.

"This is a unique situation in Marin," he said. "A boy who comes out for basketball is really giving up something because there are so many things to do, so many places to go, so much elso to get interested in."

Hart, however, is not complaining even if high school basketball or high school anything is not king. He usually gets enough boys who want to sacrifice a little bit. And he plays them all.

"I don't think you can get by on just five players," he said. "If a boy is good enough to make the team, then I ought to be able to play him. And that bench can get awfully hard."

Hart has won MCAL titles in 1961 and 1965 but he still gets nervous and feels that he likes it that way.

"The day I stop feeling nervous is the day I quit," he said.

Which probably won't be too soon.

NIXON CALLS TO HELP

Reagan Touring Storm-Hit State

FRESNO (AP) — Gov. Ronald Reagan viewed flooded sections of California from the air today after President Nixon telephoned him and promised the hard-hit state all available federal help.

Reagan received Nixon's call last night, before embarking on his jet tour of the state for a personal look at damage that has topped $50 million and taken more than 90 lives. It is the worst California flood in three decades in the central and southern sections of the state. (See also story, page 2.)

"The President assured him the federal government will do everything it can for California," said Paul Beck, Reagan's press secretary.

Sunday, the California-born Nixon had declared the state a disaster area and sent an initial allocation of $3 million. In his telephone call, Nixon assured Reagan more is available when needed.

Thousands of acres of flooded land were visible from the air as Reagan flew the length of the state in a chartered airlines DC9 jet.

Beck said five more counties are being declared state disaster areas during the day — Kern, San Joaquin, Solano, Madera and Kings. That brings the total to 14.

The 10,000 acres of Sherman Island, a low-lying farming area in the delta of the Sacramento and San Joaquin rivers, was under water. Three miles of California 160 were inundated and state officials on the plane didn't know when they could reopen it.

Reagan scheduled a bus tour of damaged portions of Santa Barbara and a meeting with local officials in Burbank following his stop in Fresno, where he talked with Central Valley disaster officers.

During the morning, Reagan sat in the front left hand seat of the plane viewing the high waters.

Two-Inch Snowfall On Mt. Tamalpais

Road Closed, Visibility Near Zero At Summit

Snow dusted wide areas of Marin today, capping 11 days of some of the most unsettled weather in the county's history.

About two inches of snow was reported on the upper flanks of Mount Tamalpais. The flakes were still coming down at mid-morning and zero visibility was reported near the summit.

The road to the mountain top from the entrance to the 666th Radar Squadron was closed because of slippery conditions.

Flakes danced along Bolinas Ridge and the hills of Terra Linda, Lucas Valley and Novato. Some snow was even reported in San Rafael's low-lying Northgate area.

Stinson Beach residents were surprised by a brief, but intense, hailstorm.

Rain fell in other parts of Marin and Southern Sonoma and a chance of showers was predicted through tomorrow. Continued cool temperatures were forecast.

The reading was 43 in San Rafael at noon today, compared to 52 at that time yesterday.

The snow was the first to fall in Marin on other than the summit of Mount Tamalpais in a year and a day. On Jan. 27, 1968, snow fell in downtown San Rafael and other low-lying areas for the first time in 19 years.

The skies cleared over much of Marin shortly before noon today, and Mount Tamalpais was white to its base.

Before the snow, 10.74 inches of rain had fallen on downtown San Rafael in an 11-day period. This brought the total for the season to 37.07 inches, already surpassing the seasonal average of 36.44.

Rain totals in a 24-hour period to 8 a.m. today varied from .23 of an inch at Hamilton Air Force Base to .91 of an inch in Bolinas.

San Rafael had .42 of an inch at noon for 24 hours.

In the aftermath of the prolonged rainstorm, a small houseboat, believed to be from Waldo Point, was found washed up at the Belvedere Lagoon flood gates on San Rafael Avenue today. No other significant damage was reported in Marin or Southern Sonoma.

The Army Corps of Engineers was to remove the houseboat today, police said.

Picket-Line Teachers Facing Loss Of Pay

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — With the customary pickets braving cold rains, San Francisco State College began its final week of the chaotic winter semester today amid reports of loss of pay or jobs for striking teachers and the threat of a bigger effort by dissidents.

A list of 277 college employees most of them teachers, was sent to the state controller's office yesterday afternoon for docking of pay.

However, the report did not say who are to be docked for striking or how much their checks — due Thursday and Friday — are to be reduced.

College officials said they made no recommendations of dismissals but hope to file a report by Thursday on how long certain teachers were out of class without authorization.

Under state law, teachers off the job five straight days have automatically resigned. The teachers strike began a month ago but school officials have been reluctant to apply the rule.

Meanwhile, a student strike leader said outside backers would be invited to a "community mobilization day."

"We're going to shut it down until the 15 demands are met," Hari Dillon, a spokesman for the Third World Liberation Front, declared at a news conference yesterday.

He said the strike, which began Nov. 6, has "no room for pacificism or non-violence."

A rally staged last Thursday in defiance of a campus ban resulted in 456 arrests.

Meantime, the striking American Federation of Teachers continued to meet in closed-door session with several state college trustees.

Thant Favoring Mideast Pressure

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Secretary-General U Thant agreed today with President Nixon's views on the dangers of the Middle East situation and called for big power initiatives to seek a U.N. settlement through moral pressure.

Thant told a news conference the United States, Britain, France and the Soviet Union must be actively involved in Middle East peace efforts "either singly or collectively."

He declared a settlement should not be imposed on Israel and the Arab countries, but expressed belief that the situation had reached such an explosive stage that pressure was required.

Nixon Plans Anticrime Fund Pitch

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon told Republican congressional leaders today he will soon ask Congress for extra money to combat crime, with emphasis on speedier court trials and unclogging of crowded courtroom calendars.

After Nixon conferred with the GOP chiefs for more than two hours, the party's Senate leader, Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, said a supplemental appropriation to cover anticrime activities between now and June 30 would be submitted by the President "shortly."

Dirksen said that in order to "bring crime to heel" there will have to be more judges and a large Justice Department staff. U.S. attorneys are so overworked, he reported, that people in their offices can devote an average of only 45 minutes to the preparation of a case for presentation in court.

"That's a dreary state of affairs," he lamented.

Dirksen also complained that "you've got criminals running around on bail" awaiting trial for as long as three years "and in the interim they may commit two, three or four more crimes."

As a result, he said, they finally are tried on a variety of charges and generally get a single sentence for all—a sentence shorter than would have been the case had each offense been treated separately.

"That's no way to run a railroad," he said.

Dirksen indicated Nixon will be submitting some bail reform

31 File Suit Aimed At College Militants

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — A suit charging striking San Francisco State College students and teachers with conspiracy to disrupt the educational process was filed in San Francisco Superior Court today on behalf of 23 students and eight faculty members.

Further plaintiffs' names may be added, reported the law firm of Cushing, Cullinan, Hancock and Rothert, who filed the suit.

A long list of defendants fills three legal-sized pages of the complaint. Besides many individuals, it lists the American Federation of Teachers, Students for a Democratic Society, Black Students Union, and several other organizations.

The complaint charges that the conduct of demonstrators at the college from early last November down to date constitutes a public nuisance and asks the court to restrain and enjoin all the defendants from further such actions.

It further alleges that the defendants conspired to commit the acts, the object of the conspiracy being "to bar entrance to and exit from classroom buildings, prevent teaching classes, disrupt education, and endanger the lives and well-being of the plaintiffs and the public.

The court is asked to issue a preliminary restraining order against the conspiracy and the acts, and set a hearing on issuing a permanent injunction.

The purpose of the action, according to the complaint, is to "return an academic environment" to the beleaguered campus.

The request for temporary restraining order was to be heard this afternoon.

Petaluma Youth, Driver Killed

I-J Special Report

NAPA — A 19-year-old Petaluma youth and the driver with whom he had hitched a ride, according to the California Highway Patrol, were killed last night when their automobile cracked up on a rain-slick curve of Highway 37 southwest of Napa.

Killed were Rick F. Plank of 8 Dean Court, Petaluma, and the driver, Carl Brice, 21, of Vallejo.

The car landed upside down in marshland after hitting a telephone pole, it was reported. Only the wheels and bottom of the car remained above water.

California Grapes In Swedish Stores

STOCKHOLM (UPI) — California grapes were on sale in many Swedish stores today despite a trade union boycott of the grapes.

Trade union sources said the grapes had been unloaded in Hamburg, Germany, and then brought to Sweden on trucks. The sources estimated at least 25 tons of grapes entered the country that way in the last few days.

Novato Parents Demand School Crackdown On Marijuana Users

A group of Novato parents, fearful of increased narcotics use at Novato schools, last night urged the expulsion of students caught smoking marijuana off, as well as on, campus. (Another Novato schools story, page 17.)

The call came at a special hearing of the Novato Unified School District board on student discipline and teacher conduct at Marion School.

A man asked what disciplinary standards Novato High School has to protect students from drug users and pushers who, he contended, "taunt my child as square and out of it" because she doesn't use drugs.

Principal Stanley Onderdonk, acknowledging that the school has a drug problem, said those caught on campus are referred to the police department.

The parent noted that a school in San Diego County has a policy of automatic expulsion if a student is caught smoking marijuana, on or off campus.

"We do not have a policy of automatic expulsion," said Onderdonk.

Several persons then said, not quite in unison, "Why not?"

Marijuana smokers are arrested one day and back in school the next day, one parent complained.

"I do not approve of people who use drugs and abuse others," Onderdonk said. But he laid the onus on the district trustees, saying, that if they adopt a policy "to kick out, I'll support that."

Paul Mobley, assistant superintendent for instruction, said often one of the conditions of probation is that the student remain in school.

Police Chief Robert DiGrazia told parents they were directing the complaint to the "wrong body," and should be addressing the Marin County Probation Department.

"At the Novato Police Department our officers have a saying, 'Why book them, they beat us back to Novato'," the chief said. This bitter comment was met with applause.

Hanoi Rejects Ky Proposal For Opening Secret Talks

PARIS (UPI)—North Vietnam today rejected a South Vietnamese suggestion eventually to open secret talks between the two beligerents to settle the Vietnamese conflict.

A North Vietnamese spokesman said if the South Vietnamese delegation to the Paris talks on Vietnam has any suggestion to make, it will have to do so in the plenary sessions held at the Majestic Hotel.

The spokesman again denounced the Saigon government as a "puppet administration in the service of the United States and an administration of traitors to their country and people."

He served notice that Saigon's participation in the talks does not mean its recognition by the Hanoi government.

The Hanoi delegation ruled out secret contacts with Saigon 24 hours after South Vietnamese vice president Nguyen Cao Ky, the chief adviser of the Saigon delegation, hinted he would favor such contacts if the "other side" was willing.

Hanoi's refusal to meet privately with Saigon appeared to make it clear that any eventual secret attempts to untie knots at the Paris talks will have to be done again in bilateral backstage conversations between America and North Vietnamese diplomats.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Class Ring Stock Worthy Investment

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I have recently started investing in the stock market and own Continental Air Lines, Del Monte and National Aviation. Please advise if a shift is necessary. What stock do you recommend for growth as well as income? Should I add to Continental Air Lines? — A. B.

A. President Johnson's approval of the Civil Aeronautic Board's decision to grant Continental the profitable transpacific routes whould help lift future earnings. National Aviation, an investment company, has about 20 per cent of its assets invested in airlines. For the sake of balance, these two holdings are as much exposure as you should have in airlines.

Del Monte has expanded its operations into soft drinks, snack food and vending, maintenance service and banana importing; the last two named were entered through acquisitions. Although earnings growth may slow down this year, shares should move ahead as earnings trend is steadily upward over the long term.

Jostens, Inc., a Minnesota-based class ring maker and yearbook and diploma printer, has propelled sales since 1956 at a 15 per cent annual compounded rate to over $61 million in 1968. Earnings have moved ahead at a 17 per cent rate and should reach $1.50 a share for the year ending next June. With 14 million high school students comprising a $15 billion market, a commitment in Jostens should work out well.

Q. Stock market people laugh when I say I own Roan Selection Trust. Shares sell at only 4.5 times earnings which were up $2.4 million in the first quarter. American Metal Climax owns 44 per cent of the stock — they must really be crazy. — D. D.

A. Although you have read up on your investment, you have failed to grasp the implications of the figures. An abnormally low P-E ratio usually reflects lack of investor confidence. And in this case, company location — Zambia, surrounded by politically precarious nations — could mean loss of production due to an upsurge of nationalsim.

As for American Metal Climax, company statements lack some of their former enthusiasm, stressing the need for African governments to curb inflation and rising costs. You may be willing to take the gamble — I personally would rather not.

Southern Pacific Reports Record Profits For 68

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Southern Pacific today reported a record net profit in 1968 of $107.6 million.

The figure, representing $3.96 per share, was an increase over 1967 net income which was $90.3 million.

Benjamin F. Biaggini, SP president, credited his firm's improved report to "our consistently large capital improvement programs in recent years."

"We have introduced new services and operating methods to hold down our customers' costs and attract new business," he said.

Construction Under Way On New Telephone Center

Construction has begun on a new building at 820 Las Gallinas Avenue, San Rafael, which Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. will lease to provide a directory assistance office.

District manager Jack Eddy said the 11,000-square-foot structure will eventually contain 180 telephone operators and supervisors. He said the office will fill a need for an expanded directory assistance service, due to the continuing growth of Marin County.

Located at one edge of the Northgate Shopping Center, the building will feature 30 spaces of sheltered parking at the first floor level, with an additional 80 spaces adjacent to the building.

The new structure, owned by Rawson Kelham of Kentfield is expected to cost over $250,000 and is scheduled for completion by late summer. It was designed by Bushnell, Jessup, Murphy and Van de Weghe of San Francisco and will be constructed by Olsen Construction Co. of Santa Rosa.

3-M Co. Again Lists Record Sales, Income

ST. PAUL, Minn. (BW) — The 3M Co. has reported record sales and net income for 1968, and for the 17th consecutive year.

Worldwide sales of the multi-industry manufacturer were $1.4 billion, an increase of 13 per cent over 1967's $1.2 billion.

Net income of $161.3 million rose 8.4 per cent, from 148.9 million a year ago. Earnings per share of common stocks were $2.98, compared with $2.76 the previous year.

Computer Products Gains In First Half

ANAHEIM (BW) — California Computer Products, Inc., has reported a 27 per cent increase in gross revenues and a 20 per cent increase in net earnings for the first six months of fiscal year 1969, ended Dec. 31, compared to the same period last year.

Net earnings were $557,072 on gross revenue of $8,934,543 for the period, compared with earnings of $460,786 on gross revenue of $7,033,479 last year. Earnings per share amounted to 25 cents per share on 2,225,828 average shares outstanding, compared with 21 cents per share on 2,197,240 average outstanding shares a year ago.

Dymo Income Up

BERKELEY (BW) — Net income for Dymo Industries, Inc., second quarter ended Dec. 31 was $769,072, of 34 cents per share, as compared with $665,901, or 29 cents per share in the similar period a year ago.

Stocks Close Mixed In Moderate Trading

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stocks closed mixed today in moderately active trading.

The cutback in automobile production by Chrysler Corp. helped slow demand, although some traders were inspired by bright corporate earnings results, steady demand for steel and belief that Vietnam talks in Paris are moving in the right direction.

Chrysler was weaker in response to the reduced production schedule. General Motors, which said it has no plans to cut output in February, was firm much of the day.

Steels and chemicals generally traded in narrow ranges, but some oils issues gave up more than a point.

Rails were mostly easier, while airlines and aircrafts moved in uncertain fashion.

Electronics moved in both directions, but a number of issues lost more than 1. Xerox and American Research Development were under pressure.

OTHER PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

Junior Achievement Trade Fair Slated Friday, Saturday

Since last fall there have been four Junior Achievement "companies" meeting once a week in Marin County. Together they will put on a "Junior Achievement Trade Fair" at the Emporium's Northgate store Friday and Saturday to show and sell their wares.

They were organized under the sponsorship of actual business firms, each of which has been helping a different group and lending it four of its own management personnel as advisors. All advisors are Marin County residents.

Each group is made up of 20 to 25 students from Marin high schools and they operate under their own company names — Telecom, Newco, Unifloral and Chenille Hangup.

These companies were organized as corporate structures. Student members form their own board of directors, working force and sales staff. They elected their own officers and capitalized each business through the sale of capital stock at $1 per share.

The juniors have been learning all the procedures of conducting a business by setting up production lines, planning distribution, advertising, promotion and selling their products, keeping books, paying themselves salaries, paying taxes — and they will pay their stockholders dividends if the enterprises are successful.

The trade fair at the Emporium will help them realize a profit. It will be held at the foot of the escalator on the first floor from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. on Friday night and from 9:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. on Saturday. Juniors will man their exhibits in two-hour exhibits.

Telecom is sponsored by Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. Its products are listed as papier-mache piggy banks and fire starters.

Newco is sponsored by Pacific Gas and Electric Co. The product it offers is listed as "Newton's Knockers."

Unifloral offers plastic flowers and is sponsored by Fairchild Semiconductor.

Chenille Hangup, as the name implies, makes chenille covered clothes hangers. It is sponsored by the Northwestern Pacific Railroad.

TWO MARIN MEN have received promotions at Crocker-Citizens National Bank offices in San Francisco.

Douglas W. Brown of Belvedere has been appointed assistant manager of the Van Ness-California office. He joined the bank in 1961 following several years of banking and business experience in California, then served two years as installment loan manager at the 16th and Mission branch. He entered the bank's administrative training program and has served at Santa Rosa and Tiburon Belvedere offices.

Thomas F. Maddox of Novato has been promoted to bank properties officer in San Francisco. Following 20 years in the U. S. Air Force he joined the bank in 1965, entered its training program and was then assigned to the Novato office. He has been assistant bank properties officer in San Francisco since 1967.

JACK R. WARNER of Sausalito has been promoted to director of broadcast operations for KCBS Newsradio 74, where he has been manager of broadcast operations since last June. He began his radio career over 30 years ago with KQW in San Jose and has served at a number of other California stations.

HERBERT WELP, formerly of Novato, has been named vice president and national sales manager of Educational Marketing and Research, Inc. at national headquarters in La Jolla. He joined the company last May as a division manager. Previously he had managerial positions with Encyclopedia Brittanica.

MISS JAN OLOFSON of Tiburon has been appointed Northern California representative for Pictorial California, bi-monthly magazine published in Southern California. She is headquartered at 2 Pine Street, San Francisco.

Nixon Stresses Desire For Orderly Regime

By WALTER R. MEARS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Methodical and cautious, President Nixon is determined to make his an orderly White House, a place where policy emerges through a chain of command, not "off the cuff responses."

The President described the Nixon style at his first news conference yesterday.

"I suppose the nation wonders what a President does in his first week and where is all the action that we have talked about. We have done a great deal, particularly in getting the machinery of government set up which will allow us to move in an orderly way on major problems."

That ordered, studied method of operation is, after all the way Nixon got to the White House. It characterized his campaign for the Republican presidential nomination, and his autumn race against the Democrats.

In the same manner, he shaped his administration: Constant conferences with his deputies, a sweeping study of national issues by 22 teams of expert advisers.

Now, in office, Nixon made clear he intends to operate the same way. "I do not believe, for example, that policy should be made, and particularly foreign policy should be made, by off the cuff responses in press conferences, or any other kind of conferences," he said. "I think it should be made in an orderly way."

So the Nixon White House already has two new policy-shaping panels, on city problems and economic affairs, plus a presidential plan to revitalize and heed the National Security Council.

The Nixon pace and the Nixon caution were displayed at that first news conference when the President noted that in eight separately raised areas of concern, ranging from the tension in the Middle East to crime in the District of Columbia, there would be conferences, decisions and perhaps policy announcements later.

But if there was caution in the Nixon approach, there was also a signal that the new President will swiftly put his stamp upon the national government.

"I have scrupulously followed the line that we have one President at a time," Nixon said, recalling a standard phrase from his campaign days. And now is Nixon's time.

Thus, the President said, he withdrew all pending appointments left behind by former President Lyndon B. Johnson so that the new leadership can decide whether the men involved "would serve the interests of the nation according to the guidelines that the new administration was to lay down."

So, too, with Johnson decisions in policy and government operations, in any area "that may have been questioned . . .

"This administration will reexamine all past decisions where they are not foreclosed . . . by reason of what has gone before," Nixon said. The specific subject was the controversial F111 warplane; the implications were far broader.

AFTER THE STORM — Rescue workers have slippery going as they attempt to remove a car from the flooded Brentwood area in Los Angeles County. Nine days of pouring rain eased yesterday; more than 6,000 persons fled homes hit by high waters or mud slides, damage was estimated at more than $35 million. (UPI Telephoto)

Rains Ease; San Joaquin Valley Still Faces Threat Of Flooding

SAN FRANCISTO (UPI)— The 10-day seige of heavy rain that washed over Northern California let loose with a parting shot of hail as drenched residents began mopping up today and trying to estimate the damage.

But rain-swollen rivers in the San Joaquin Valley were still rising, with the lower San Joaquin River expected to crest at nearly 35 feet and sheriff's deputies put on 24-hour alert.

Surging rivers in the valley triggered the worst flooding in more than a decade, routed hundreds from deluged homes and inundated large areas of rich farm land.

The weatherman predicted the showers would taper off today as the latest storm moved off to the east, leaving in its wake at least three deaths, hundreds homeless and damage in the millions of dollars.

The state Department of Public Works estimated damage to state highways and county and city roads throughout the state at $29 million. Pacific Gas and Electric Co. said it lost "hundreds of thousands of dollars."

More than 2,800 PG&E crewmen worked to repair lines and replace poles that had been swept away by floods or snapped by falling trees.

Water several feet deep in places flowed into homes and businesses in Fresno forcing hundreds to flee. Civil Defense Director Glen Massey placed damage at more than $2 million.

Flooding along the Salinas River was reported to be "far in excess" of the 1966 floods which caused $6.5 million in damages and inundated 32,900 acres of farm land.

The Salinas crested at the town of Salinas, but did little damage in the town itself. The waters flowed over lowlands, up to a mile wide in places, and covered crops of lettuce, sugar beets, garlic, onions, spinach and brocolli.

The Army Corps of Engineers said the damage could have been far worse.

Brig. Gen. William M. Glasgow said yesterday that flood control structures operated by the engineers prevented more than $1.25 billion in damages, largely in Southern California, Sonoma and Mendocino counties.

RULES COMMITTEE

Assembly GOP Assumes Power

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Republicans took control of a majority of the Assembly's 21 committees today and sought to reserve the power to challenge the Senate's Democratic leadership.

Assembly Speaker Robert T. Monagan, R-Tracy, announced committee members yesterday. The new lineup offers Gov. Ronald Reagan a better chance for passage of proposals to combat obscenity and campus disorders and to reform the state's tax structure.

The GOP moved from a 5-5 tie on the Criminal Procedure Committee to a 5-4 majority; from a 9-7 Democratic edge on the Education Committee to 9-8 Republican; from 8-6 Democratic on the Revenue and Taxation Committee to 8-7 Republican, and from Democratic to Republican control of the Ways and Means Committee, which considers the state's budget.

In the Senate, both parties held separate caucuses on 1969 house rules proposed by Senate President pro tem Hugh M. Burns, D-Fresno.

Later, the Senate Republican leader reported that his caucus wanted to ensure that the 40-member house could elect a new president pro tem with 20 votes — the number of seats now held by Republican members.

But Sen. Donald L. Grunsky of Watsonville, the Republican leader, emphasized that the GOP senators only "want to maintain our option" and not move against Burns now.

"We haven't decided what we're going to do," Grunsky said.

Burns' proposed rules, reportedly much the same as last year's would require 21 votes to elect a president pro tem.

But the Republicans hold a majority of seats, since the death of Sen. George Miller Jr., D-Martinez, reduced the Democrats' holding from 20 to 19.

A successor to Miller will be chosen by April.

One key committee with a Democratic majority is the new Urban Affairs and Housing Committee. Monagan created the committee this year although he reduced the total number of Assembly committees from 25 to 21.

Republicans selected for the powerful Rules Committee are Ernest N. Mobley of Sanger, William M. Ketchum of Paso Robles and Ray E. Johnson of Chico. With Chairman Eugene A. Chappie of Cool, the GOP holds a 4-3 edge on the committee.

Other committees controlled by Republicans are Agriculture, Commerce and Public Utilities, Elections and Constitutional Amendments, Finance and Insurance, Governmental Organization, Health and Welfare and Intergovernmental Relations.

Democrats also hold the edge on the Judiciary, Labor Relations, Local Government, Public Employment and Retirement, Transportation and Water committees. The Natural Resources and Conservation and Government Administration committees are split evenly between both parties.

Crime Hike Ups Police Budget

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A 19 per cent increase in the crime rate will require a $4 million increase in the San Francisco Police Department budget, says Chief Thomas Cahill.

The increased amount would allow 90 more uniformed patrolmen and 49 additional parking control civilians, he told the Police Commission yesterday.

The boost in major crimes brought San Francisco's total to 48,179 in 1968, Cahill reported.

New civilians in the parking control section would relieve other officers for more stringent duties, he said.

His plan calls for tow-away enforcement by civilians and even traffic direction, but the latter would require a change in city law. The board of supervisors took the matter under submission pending detailed study.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Outpost Attack

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — Nine Laotians were killed and two were wounded in a Pathet Lao attack on a government outpost one mile north of Paksong, the administrator for the Operation Brotherhood hospital said today.

Heart Cases?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Postmortem studies of U.S. casualties in Vietnam reveal a large number of young men killed in the conflict would have faced possible heart attacks in later life had they survived war.

Lt. Col. Kenneth H. Cooper, an Air Force flight surgeon, said a forthcoming report from the Army will show that the percentage of casualties with signs of hardening of the arteries is up over what it was during the Korean conflict.

Occupy Building

LONDON (AP) — Several hundred militant students occupied London University's student unior building last night as part of a campaign to reopen the London School of Economics.

One student spokesman said sympathetic economics teachers would be asked to resume classes for the 3,000 students locked out by school authorities Friday. The facility was closed after militants tore down steel gates installed to help control student demonstrators.

The student union building is the recreational center for 20,000 studying at the university.

Okinawa Boss

NAHA, Okinawa (AP) — Lt. Gen. James Lampert was installed today as U.S. high commissioner of Okinawa and the other Ryukyu Islands and immediately plunged into consultations with local officials on the increasing resentment against the U.S. military bases on Okinawa.

Lampert promised in a television address he would strive for two goals — improving the welfare and living standards of the Ryukyuns and maintaining the U.S. military role to guard non-Communist Asia.

He met with Chobyo Yara, chief executive for the Ryukyus, prior to Yara's departure for Tokyo to confer with Japanese officials on a mass protest strike scheduled Feb. 4 in the islands.

Only One Try

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy says his late brother, Robert F. Kennedy, had decided to make only one try for the presidency.

The Massachusetts senator said in an interview yesterday that if his late brother had lost his 1968 bid for the White House "he said he would just go back to the Senate and not run again."

Attack Fatal

NEW YORK (AP) — Mark Shaw, who served as White House photographer for President Kennedy, died of a heart attack Sunday night in his East Side apartment. He was 47.

Shaw's candid photographs of the late president and his family received wide publication and after Kennedy's death in 1963 he published a book titled, "The John F. Kennedys — A Family Album."

One particular picture, showing Kennedy walking down a sandy path across the wind swept dunes in Hyannisport, Mass., was reported to be the President's favorite picture if himself.

Pakistan Riots

KARACHI, Pakistan (AP) — Pakistan's army, already on patrol in Lahore and parts of Karachi, was ordered into the northwest city of Peshawar today to put down more antigovernment rioting.

Radio Pakistan said Peshawar, on the approach to the storied Khyber Pass, was hit by a general strike protesting President Mohammed Ayub Khan's policies. All shops were closed and no traffic was moving.

The boradcast said Peshawar had been the scene of continuous agitation for several months and there were violent disturbances yesterday, but it gave no details.

Peace Agency

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bill to establish a cabinet-level Department of Peace will be reintroduced next month in the U.S. Senate, this time with Majority Leader Mike Mansfield as co-sponsor.

Sen. Vance Hartke, D-Ind., who first introduced the measure last year, said Mansfield's support enhances passage. A similar bill will be introduced in the House by Rep. Seymour Halpern, D-N.Y.

Maritime Force

BRUSSELS (AP) — Nations in the North Atlantic Treaty organization have agreed to set up a series of plans to bring together a combined fleet of as many as 50 ships in case of a crisis in the Atlantic, diplomats said today.

It was part of the NATO reaction to greatly increased Soviet naval activity in recent years.

This "maritime contingency force" would be under the orders of Adm. Ephraim P. Holmes, an American officer who is supreme commander for the alliance in the Atlantic. His headquarters are at Norfolk, Va.

It would supplement a small standing naval force — four or five ships — which already exists in the Atlantic. The United States, Britian, Belgium, Holland, Germany and Norway have contributed to the existing force, which is set up on a rotating basis.

Reds Shell Marines From Inside Of DMZ

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnamese troops just inside the demilitarized zone shelled U.S. Marines for the first time in more than a month last night, but a U.S. Command spokesman said today it was "trivial."

The spokesman said seven Leathernecks were wounded by 25 mortar shells before Marine artillery silenced the North Vietnamese guns six tenths of a mile inside the southern edge of the buffer zone.

The Marine unit that came under fire was 500 yards south of the southern boundary of the DMZ, said the spokesman. It was from the 3rd Marine Division's 4th Regiment. The spokesman said it was the first time the Marines had been shelled from inside the DMZ since Dec. 21.

The shelling was the second incident of enemy activity in the DMZ reported by the U.S. Command today and the 54th listed as "significant" since the Nov. 1 bombing halt.

Only scattered ground clashes and a few minor shellings were reported across the country.

Military spokesmen said today that American combat deaths have passed 31,000 and could exceed the Korean War's toll by May 13, the first anniversary of the Paris peace talks.

Admiral To Testify Publicly On Pueblo

CORONADO (AP) — The admiral who had operational control of the USS Pueblo told his story of the intelligence ship's seizure behind closed doors yesterday. The Navy then said he would repeat in public tomorrow the unclassified parts of it.

There was no hint of what Rear Adm. Frank L. Johnson, former commander of U.S. naval forces in Japan, testified during an afternoon-long appearance before a Navy Court of Inquiry.

A Navy spokesman, briefing newsmen, said the testimony was classified but that Johnson would appear at the open hearing for at least two hours and answer questions from attorneys for the Pueblo skipper, Cmdr. Lloyd M. Bucher.

"He will go over what he said in the closed session with classified matter taken out," the spokesman said.

As North Korean gunboats closed in on the Pueblo, Bucher radioed Johnson's headquarters at Yokosuka, Japan, with urgent pleas for help.

"These guys mean business" was one of Bucher's messages.

Johnson will have an opportunity to say publicly whether he considered the Pueblo adequately armed. Bucher said he got .50-caliber machine guns for his ship when he wanted larger .20-millimeter cannon.

Johnson's former chief of staff, Forrest A. Pease, spent the morning in closed session.

During the noon recess, Bucher's attorney, E. Miles Harvey, called a news conference to say Bucher thinks the public is wrong in getting indignant over his treatment by the court.

The court warned Bucher last week that he is suspected of breaking military regulations by surrendering the Pueblo and could be court-martialed."

"The court of inquiry has been completely fair," Harvey said.

"We have received hundreds of telegrams from people indignant with the court. This is simply wrong. It is not a big thing."

Harvey also said Bucher wants to command another ship, adding that Bucher "embodies to me everything you want in a commander and a commanding officer." He said Bucher was in good physical condition, that the hearings "have not been taxing on either his physical or mental health."

Harvey said Bucher has received 300 to 400 telegrams and "we have yet to receive one adverse telegram.

Disney Plans $35 Million Park Resort

BURBANK (AP) — A year-round resort 7,800 feet up in the High Sierra in Sequoia National Park received a go-ahead yesterday from the U.S. Forest Service.

The approval means "realization of one of Walt Disney's last and greatest dreams," said Disney's brother, Roy O. Disney, board chairman of the sponsoring Walt Disney Productions.

Among conservation groups opposing the development was the Sierra Club, a nationwide organization headquartered in San Francisco.

Dr. Edgar Wybrun, president, said the Sierra Club has "under consideration the filing of legal action, but first we want to study what the Disney firm plans and what is involved."

Wayburn said the club feared Mineral King Valley would be ruined since Disney plans "to put as many people into Mineral King on a given day as enter Yosemite Valley at any one time, and it is admitted Yosemite is overcrowded (and) Mineral King is one-sixth to one-third the size of Yosemite."

The resort will be known as Mineral King, after the valley. It will be built in a wilderness area 55 miles east of Visalia and about halfway between San Francisco and Los Angeles.

No automobiles will be allowed within one and one-half miles.

An estimated 5,000 skiers will zip down the slopes on weekends by 1973. By 1978 weekend skiers are expected to number 8,500. Most visitors are expected for summers, however, and sports such as horseback riding, hiking, camping and fishing.

Forest Service approval of the $35 million resort was announced at the news conference at the Disney studio by Regional Forester J. W. Deinema.

Aide Opposes PG&E Rate Hike

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A brief filed by a staff attorney urges the California Public Utilities Commission to reject a $13.7 million gas rate increase asked by the Pacific Gas and Electric Co.

Attorney David R. Larrouy said yesterday the utility was asking the interim increase to compensate for $12 million more it must pay El Paso Natural Gas Co., this year and the rest for the federal government's new surtax.

In his motion, the attorney suggested that the commission consider the entire matter Feb. 6 when it hears PG&E's request for a $37 million boost that would include the $13.7 million.

While the commission has ordered a 6.25 per cent rate of return on utility investments, Larrouy asserted, PG&E is now making a return of 6.50 per cent.

Sgt. Sunshine Starts Jail Term

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Richard R. (Sgt. Sunshine) Bergess started a nine-month jail term today for smoking marijuana on the Hall of Justice steps.

The former policeman, who got his nickname from hippie friends, was sentenced yesterday in Superior Court by Judge Robert Drewes.

Judge Drewes had set bail at $1,500 so that Bergess, 32, could appeal his case but that was revoked when Contra Costa County sheriff's deputies arrested him in the courtroom hallway on additional narcotics charges.

Trade Espionage Attempt Claimed

CHICAGO (AP) — The FBI has arrested two Californians on charges of attempting a possible $1 million sale of a secret, newly developed chemical.

Taken into custody at O'Hare International Airport was Steven Lynn Ellis, 27, of San Jose. Arrested later was his brother, Tim Lloyd Ellis, 17, of Ben Lomond.

Both were charged with interstate transportation of stolen property.

Steven Ellis had 100 pounds of the chemical in his possession, FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said in Washington.

The older brother was a technician with Ray Chem of Menlo Park, California, which developed the chemical, a polymide resin used to insulate electrical wire and cable.

Maine entered the Union March 15, 1820.

New Mexico entered the Union Jan. 6, 1912.

Cars Control Civic Center Stoplights

The new traffic signal system on North San Pedro Road at the entrance to the Civic Center is a new type of vehicle-actuated signal known as Lane Occupancy Control (LOC), county traffic engineer James Robertson explained today.

When the entire intersection is clear of vehicles, all lights are red. The first car entering from any direction gets the green light long enough to let that car or other cars following pass without interruption. The lights respond to the number of cars occupying a lane, Robertson explained.

For example, if only one car is making a left turn, the light will turn amber while the car is making the turn. If a stream of cars are in the lane, the light remains green until the last car has cleared the lane.

A similar system of signals has been installed at Lucas Valley Road and Las Gallinas Avenue, and this should be in operation by the end of this week, said Robertson.

The signal system in front of the Civic Center cost $24,500, and the one in Lucas Valley, $24,715. Robinson said cost of the new LOC system is only slightly more than conventional traffic lights, perhaps $1,000 more for a $25,000 project.

S/Sgt. Land, retiring after 22 years of active duty, entered the army in Louisville, Ky. in 1947. He has been in combat in Vietnam and Korea and has served as a mess steward in the United States, the Caribbean, far east, Germany and Vietnam.

Land who joined headquarters company, army garrison, at the Presidio in October 1967, has received nine awards during his military career.

Petaluma Also Eying Rules On Houseboats

The Petaluma City Council — taking note of current Marin County efforts to deal with problems of proliferating houseboats on its waterways and shores — began last night to prepare in advance to meet possible similar developments on the Petaluma River.

City Mgr. Robert H. Meyer said the city should first consider an ordinance that would protect the water quality by requiring all houseboat owners to connect into the city sewage system and not rely on septic or holding tanks.

The council agreed, but said regulations should not be so strict as to chase the river traffic away.

Meyer said that Marin County is battling the problem and predicted the next area to be faced with regulating houseboats will be Petaluma.

He said he had been approached by a developer interested in preparing a floating marina for houseboats at McNear Peninsula in the heart of the city.

"That area once properly dredged, could easily accommodate 12 houseboats," Meyer said, urging that regulations be seriously considered now. "What could we do if houseboats moved in tomorrow?"

City Atty. Edouard E.Robert questioned the necessity of a houseboat ordinance. "Who would want a houseboat on the Petaluma River when they could be on Richardson Bay or Bodega Bay?" He also questioned how the city could enforce any houseboat regulations.

Meyer insisted that consideration of regulations was practical and reported that houseboats are planned for a spot on the San Antonio Creek near the Petaluma River, south of the city.

David Young, city engineer, said any water pollution caused by boats on San Antonio Creek would in turn affect the water quality of the Petaluma River and reflect badly on the city.

Meyer said he would investigate the problem further by contacting Marin County officials to see what is happening there and said he will work with the Sonoma County Planning Department in preparing a uniform houseboat regulation.

The Petaluma City Council also:

WATER PROJECTS — Discussed the capital outlay programs for the water department that would require the full $180,000 budgeted allotment through June 30. Major projects included a water main extension on the Lakeville Highway; a new water main on Petaluma Boulevard South from H Street to Mountain View Road; new pumping stations for McNear and Magnolia avenues; and a new portable pump for summer and emergency use.

DEDICATION POLICY — Discussed briefly with City Attorney Robert a resolution setting city policy on the requiring of land dedication for street widening projects. The resolution will be considered more fully at the Feb. 4 council meeting.

Jail Term Ordered For Writing Checks

He was arrested May 25 in San Rafael.

Driver Treated Following Crash

Frank J. Antonio, 28, of 1880 Virginia Street, Novato, was treated at Marin General Hospital early Sunday for a cut forehead and lip and a broken tooth after his car hit a power pole on Francisco Boulevard at Tiburon Street.

Police said Antonio reported he swerved to avoid a car heading at him and hit a puddle which obscured his vision.

A passenger, Ronald Charles Smith, 28, of 1666 Center Road, Novato, was treated for a scalp cut.

A DRIVE IN MOUNTAIN SNOW

As seen through the window of a California Highway Patrol car, snow covered Mount Tamalpais today. About two inches fell on the upper slopes of the peak, with lighter amounts reported on other Marin ridges. The snow ended 11 days of heavy rain and high winds. state water and disaster officials, legislators and members of his personal staff. A driving hail storm ended just after Reagan took off from Sacramento Metropolitan Airport. After that, the weather was cloudy but dry.

Reconstruction will be funded partially by $3 million made available when President Nixon declared California a disaster area Sunday.

But a Los Angeles County supervisor, Frank G. Bonelli, suggested yesterday that the state gasoline tax be temporarily increased by half a cent to help pay for highway repairs.

Such a method was used in 1965 after highways and bridges in Northern California bore the brunt of flooding late in 1964.

Moe said preliminary estimates show state highways suffered more that $8 million in damage, and city streets and county roads suffered at least $21 million.

Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell sat in on the meeting with more than a dozen Capitol Hill Republicans, as did Budget Director Robert P. Mayo, and George Romney, secretary of housing and urban development.

In advance of the two hours with congressional leaders, Nixon had an hour-long White House breakfast with Dirksen and House Republican chief Gerald R. Ford of Michigan.

St. Pat's Day Dance Is Set

The annual St. Patrick's Day dance of the Novato Volunteer Firemen's Association was set last night by the association for March 22 from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. at the IDESI Hall at Sweetser and Machin avenues, Novato.

Tino Granucci and his five-piece orchestra, which has played for the past three dances, will furnish the music.

Proceeds from the dance go into the sick and benefit fund of the firemen, according to Fire Chief George Cavallero.

Woman's Drowning Believed Accidental

San Rafael police are continuing investigation into the death of a San Rafael woman, found in her backyard swimming pool Saturday but believed her death was an accident, Police Chief Charles J. Chiesa said today.

Mrs. Isabelle C. Brown, 34, of 11 Aqua Vista Drive was found dead in the pool Saturday night. She was last seen alive Friday night. Chiesa said questioning of acquaintances was continuing.

To Review Center

The future of the Bolinas Community Center and the question of whether the building should be donated to the Bolinas Fire Department for an expanded fire station will be discussed by Bolinas Community Inc. at 8 p.m. Friday at the center.

Less Serious Counts Urged For Soldiers

An Army officer investigating the Army's charge of mutiny against six Presidio soldiers has urged that they stand trial for less serious charges.

The general court-martial beginning today at the Presidio could bring sentences of up to life imprisonment. Capt. Richard J. Miller, an attorney, in an investigation rejected by the post commander, has recommended lesser charges, and said that stockade rules may have contravened Army requirements for expression of prisoner grievances.

The six are among 27 charged with mutiny after they staged a sit-down strike in October protesting the killing by shotgun of a soldier who, the Army said, was trying to run away from a stockade work detail.

Among the 27 is Pvt. Keith Mather of San Bruno, one of the so-called Marin City Nine, who chained themselves together last summer in an antiwar protest at St. Andrew United Presbyterian Church.

Another group, the Oakland Seven — on trial with the felony of conspiring to commit misdemeanor crimes during anti-draft demonstrations in Oakland in 1967 — said yesterday they would protest the Presidio court-martial. Their trial in Oakland is recessed on Fridays, and the group, including Michael Smith, formerly of Corte Madera, plans to demand that the charges against the 27 soldiers be dropped and that conditions at the Presidio stockade be investigated.

Dangerous Drug Case In Court

James A. Gronczewski, 37, of 14 Sentinel Court, San Rafael, was arraigned yesterday in Marin Municipal Court on charge of possession of dangerous drugs.

Gronczewski was originally arrested on suspicion of possessing dangerous drugs for sale in a Dec. 3 raid at 14 Sentinel Court but was released while a substance believed to be methamphetamine he was carrying was analyzed.

His case was continued to Feb. 25 in Municipal Court.

Acrobatic Burglars Make A Large Haul

Acrobatic burglars Saturday climbed a tree outside the home of Edward B. Page, 25 San Carlos Avenue, dropped onto the patio and forced a door, Sausalito police said today.

The daylight thieves made off with two television sets, a stereo turntable, a radio, a luger pistol, a caliber rifle, a shotgun and several boxes of .22-caliber ammunition.

Child In Custody

A 14-year-old San Rafael boy was taken to Marin County Juvenile Hall yesterday by San Rafael police charged with being incorrigible after his mother said he had thrown knives at her and had threatened his two sisters with death.

Fair-Marin To Discuss Budget

Fair Marin directors decided last night they will meet every Wednesday night in February at 8 p.m. at the Civic Center to work on the budget for 1969-70.

A rough estimate of Fair-Marin's operating budget is $75,000 for the first year and more than $100,000 thereafter. The first year's expenses are expected to be lower than normal because the Veterans' Memorial Auditorium will not be operating until January 1970.

Chairman Harold Stockstad said directors last night talked with Nye Wilson, former manager of the Cow Palace, about auditorium operation in general. "We don't know whether we'll hire him as a consultant," said Stockstad.

Judge Continues Car Theft Case

The case of David B. Denison, 19, of 75 Lochinvar Road, San Rafael, was continued yesterday in Marin Municipal Court until Monday. He is charged with car theft.

Denison was arrested in Sebatopol with two other San Rafael youth, Mario J. Foglesang, 16, of 40 Miraflores Avenue, and Barry R. Hier, 15, of 248 Laurel Place. Police said they were driving a car stolen Jan. 19 in San Rafael.

The other youths were turned over to juvenile authorities.

Nurse Pleads Innocent To Theft In Fairfax

A 41-year-old Santa Rosa practical nurse, being held by Santa Rosa authorities investigating the death of a woman whose body was found in her apartment, pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to charges of theft from her Fairfax employer.

Vera Mae Walsh, clad in orange sandals, a flowered house dress and blue sweater, limped slightly as she went before Judge Hadden W. Roth.

She was charged with taking a diamond ring and glassware from the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur C. Grimm of 35 San Gabriel Drive where, until her arrest in Santa Rosa, she was employed as a nurse caring for Grimm's mother.

No charges have been filed against her in Sonoma County, where she is being held for violation of parole while officers look into the death of another patient.

The body of Mrs. Gloria Giannis, 42, was found in Mrs. Walsh's apartment Jan. 10. It was wrapped in a sheet and blanket and tied with cord. Tests have determined Mrs. Giannis, who had been released from Mendocino State Hospital into Mrs. Walsh's care, died of an overdose of drugs.

Yesterday the Sonoma County District Attaorney's office and the Santa Rosa police said they are investigating funds missing from Mrs. Giannis's bank account.

Asst. Dist. Atty. John Hawkes said that funds may have been taken from the account after Mrs. Giannis' death.

Bayside Owners Hear Plan For San Pedro Widening

Preliminary plans for the next phase of the widening of San Pedro Road were outlined for the Bayside Acres Property Owners Association last night by Donald R. Frost, director of the county public works department.

Frost said plans were just getting underway and there are still alternatives on how the stretch from Lochinvar Road to Knight Drive will go, according to Bernie Heare, association president.

Heare said Frost indicated formal hearings will be held in April.

The planned widening may take some homes, Heare said, and about 50 Bayside Acres residents turned out last night to hear the plans.

In other business, Dr. John F. Plank, San Rafael School District superintendent, outlined plans for the new Glenwood Middle School to be built in Bayside Acres, Heare said.

John I. McInnis, chairman of the Marin County Board of Supervisors, appeared unexpectedly to explain why the county fire department sub-station was removed from McNear's brickyard.

Supervisors recently agreed to disband and transfer the substation to Lucas Valley because of lack of rental space for the truck and the fact that the equipment was not suited for protection of residential areas such as Bayside Acres.

The association also re-elected all four officers for another term. They are Bernie Heare, president; Frank O. Guerrini, vice president; Patricia Ewing, treasurer, and Ellen Polak, secretary.

Tac Squad Pair Get Suspensions

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Two members of San Francisco's police tactical squad were suspended yesterday on charges involving the beating of juveniles while drinking beer off-duty.

After hearings they were found guilty by the police commission.

Elbert W. Boyd, convicted of battery earlier in Municipal Court, was suspended for 10 months and Thomas J. Dougherty for 8 months. The commission convicted the men of multiple failures to report the incident, failure to notify their station of the disturbance and failure to perform police duties.

Brickbats Fly During Fairfax Budget Study

The Fairfax City Council ended its laborious item-by-item mid-year review of the current $464,379 budget last night, amid complaints and criticism.

"I think there is more effective spending of money," said Mayor Robert R. Souza following a lengthy discussion on tires and repairs for city equipment.

But Councilman Frank J. Egger pointed out, "At the end of the year we will have spent $20,000 more than we have budgeted." Souza said revenue estimates were up by $34,000.

'A DISASTER'

"The budget is a disaster," declared Stanley W. Little, chairman of the parks and recreation commission, after the session of juggling money from account to account.

The council approved a $1,150 request from Street Supt. Edgar Phillips for tires and maintenance for his department, but turned down until May a $1,000 request for summer salaries from the parks and recreation commission.

Egger criticized the lack of budget controls and read a statement from the city's auditor, calling for better controls through purchase orders.

City Clerk Frances Lestanguet said the only time purchase orders weren't issued was on vehicle repair jobs since it was difficult to determine in advance how much they would cost.

EXTRA COSTS

"Our repair bills are way out of line," Egger shot back.

The $20,000 to be expended over what was budgeted includes council salaries, additional funds for the police and fire departments, a sum for preparation of a master plan for parks and dozens of smaller items.

It was not made clear whether the budget includes a continued $150 a month extra for the city clerk while she handles some of the duties of a city administrator.

In November, the council agreed to pay her the extra $150, but declared the amount a temporary measure, good only until the council and city office personnel make a study of the work involved and the time it takes. Mayor Souza and Councilman Adelaide P. Wilson were appointed by Souza to make the study and report back in January, which they have not yet done.

The Fairfax City Council also:

MEADOWLAND — Rezoned a large, recently annexed subdivision on the west end of Fairfax from single family residential to a planned development district.

POLICE — Authorized Police Chief James R. Orr to recruit police cadet.

Fairfax Council Eyes Congress's Proposals

Recommendations of the Fairfax Congress for Community Progress will be considered item by item at coming city council meetings, despite efforts last night by Mayor Robert R. Souza to "take them under advisement" or appoint a committee.

"I think we can research these items to death," said Councilman Frank J. Egger as he protested the committee idea.

The recommendations include immediate reestablishment of the city administrator form of government; building a new fire-police-administration compex; restriping Sir Francis Drake Boulevard to four lanes and limiting parking on it; placing Center Boulevard in the county urban thoroughfare system and signalizing it, and a host of other items.

Marin County Supervisor Peter R. Arrigoni Jr., a former Fairfax mayor and chairman of one of the panels at the December congress, suggested traffic relief might come another way.

"I think before this year is out you're going to see a new transportation system, and I hope to see a bus system operated by the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District," Arrigoni told the council.

Councilman Adelaine P. Wilson maintained Fairfax couldn't do anything alone on the traffic problem. "When San Anselmo decides what they're going to do then we can decide what we're going to do," she said.

Developer Mathew Farr said changing Sir Francis Drake to four lanes would help his subdivision at the west end of the city and predicted it would help anything else that comes to Fairfax.

Another recommendation from the town meeting, presented formally to the council last night by congress chairman Jack Haley Jr., was to form a group to assist youth's communication with the Establishment.

Stanley W. Little, a member of the congress project committee said 24 persons signed up for such a group and the project committee planned to get them together soon.

Mayor Souza suggested naming a youth delegate to attend meetings of the park and recreation commission with the idea of making the youth a voting member when there is an opening.

Egger suggested appointing a youth advisory commission to the council to take care of more of youth's concerns than recreation.

However, Souza said there would be "administrative problems" in such a commission. He did not elaborate.

The council agreed to begin the continuing study with recommendations of the civic affairs panel, including the city administrator and the fire-police-administration building.

Tiburon Plans To Annex 60 Acres Of County Land

The Tiburon City Council last night announced plans to annex approximately 60 acres of county territory adjacent to Reedland Woods subdivision.

The area, known as Reedland Woods Unit II, has been subdivided but is uninhabited, City Mgr. Lawrence D. Rose said. At present, six homes have been constructed in the subdivision.

The annexation proposal will go before the Marin County Local Agency Formation Commission in February. Rose said subdivision owners have consented to the annexation.

The property, which is also contigious to the new Reedland Woods School and Bel Aire School contains 79 lots of a maximum one-third acre in size, he said.

He also announced that Reed School trustees have informally indicated they are interested in annexing both schools to the city in the near future.

Referring to school district's budget and tax problems, Councilman Branwell D. Fanning said, "The board has a few other hot issues to deal with now but they are interested in annexing when they have time."

This is the first proposal of annexation of unincorporated property by the city since its attempt to annex the entire peninsula, including the coveted tax-rich Strawberry Town and Country Shopping Center, failed in August 1967.

Witness Recalls Blood On Face

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— A prosecution witness testified yesterday that Policeman Michael O'Brien, on trial for manslaughter, had blood on his face after he fatally shot a Negro truck driver to death in an argument.

The defense contends that O'Brien was struck with a small stick by George Baskett during a brawl last year which followed a minor traffic accident while the officer was off duty.

David Anderson, 18, a student at San Francisco State College who witnessed the shooting from a nearby rooftop, testified that he didn't know how the blood got on O'Brien's face. He also said he hadn't mentioned the blood to police investigating the incident.

More Jail Time

Dennis Leslie Yates, 21, of Santa Venetia, was sentenced yesterday in Marin Superior Court to an additional 45 days in the county jail for violation of probation. Yates was sentenced to three years probation in 1966 for possession of a check with intention of defrauding another person.

William Rider, manager of the Petaluma Tire Co., 246 Petaluma Boulevard South, Petaluma, reported yesterday that 13 tires were taken from a storage room during the weekend. They were valued at $320. Police said that all doors had been securely locked with no signs of forced entry.

10 Trapped Miners Are Brought Out

MOUNT MORRIS, Pa. (AP) — The last of several men feared trapped deep in a burning coal mine were rescued at noon today.

Gov. Arch A. Moore of nearby West Virginia said in Charleston that the last 10 men had reached safety.

One was taken to a hospital for treatment of smoke inhallation.

They were among nearly 100 men working in Humphrey No. 7 mine at dawn when a portion of the roof collapsed and triggered an electrical fire, Moore said. The rest of the miners reached safety quickly, emerging from three entrances away from the fire.

The mine sprawls under the West Virginia-Pennsylvania line but its main portal, near where the fire occurred, is just south of this Pennsylvania community.

It is about 20 miles northeast of Mannington, W.Va., where 78 miners died in a series of fires and explosions that ripped through another Consolidation-owned mine last Nov. 20.

Early reports indicated the fire was touched off by a roof fall near the mine's main portal. Most of the men working in the shafts made their way to safety through three other entrances.

Three rescue teams entered the mine shortly after the fire was discovered and attempted to prevent the blaze from spreadiing along the main shaft.

Dodging Deer Causes Crash

A San Anselmo motorist attempting to dodge a deer about 2:20 p.m. yesterday suffered a head cut in a three-vehicle collision on Magnolia Avenue near Bon Air Road, Larkspur police said today.

Officers said Kenneth Wayne Darling, 34, of 8 Myrtle Lane, was traveling south on Magnolia in a pickup truck when the deer crossed the street.

Darling slowed his vehicle, they said. A vehicle behind him driven by Philip John Russell, 17, of 48 Woodland Road, Kentfield, also slowed, but was struck in the rear by the third vehicle, a truck driven by Dan Eugene Morrison, 21, of Petaluma, according to the patrol.

Darling was treated at Marin General Hospital.

Admitted Car Theft Brings Tests Order

Daniel Clarence Cameron, 63, of San Rafael pleaded guilty yesterday in Marin Superior Court to stealing a car Nov. 15 from C and D Motor sales in San Rafael by paying for it with a bad check.

Cameron, who has spent 12 to 14 years in various state prisons on bad check charges, was ordered to Vacaville state prison for 90 days psychiatric study.

Tiburon Peninsula Trail Plan Passes

The long sought trails plan for the Tiburon Peninsula last night was approved by the Tiburon City Council.

On a 4-1 vote with Councilman Thomas E. Drohan dissenting, the council approved the alignment of trails and directed that further study be undertaken of how the ridge trail section of the plan can be implemented.

Drohan objected that the plan, as presented, only outlined the trails on the map and did not deal with such questions as police protection, fire hazards, maintenance costs, possible objections of neighbors to riding trails and possible attractiveness to tourists.

Other councilmen argued that such questions would be taken up later. The council also indicated that alignment details were subject to further study.

In its approval, the council deleted Corinthian Island from the trails map, saying trails on the island — specifically, one short lane — would be handled independently by the council at some future date.

Parks and Recreation Commissioner Polly O. Smith said the commission had studied the plan, prepared by Walter Horchler, county planner, for more than a year. Commissioners have also hiked over all the proposed trails, she said.

The plan has also won the approval of the city's planning commission and the county planning commission.

About 77 per cent of the trails outlined on the map are in the county areas of the peninsula, leaving only 23 per cent under city jurisdiction, Mrs. Smith noted.

The plan calls for about eight miles of riding and hiking trails from Point Bluff at the southern tip of the Tiburon Peninsula to Alto Hill. This is supplemented by about nine miles of pedestrian side loops to such points as the Old Tiburon Net Depot and Paradise Park.

Cost of purchasing the entire trail system has been estimated at approximately $900,000 by the county planning staff.

One-Car Accident Injures Petaluman

Allan Balli, 27, of 564 Purvine Road, Petaluma, was reported in good condition today at Hillcrest Hspital with injuries suffered in a one-car accident yesterday at 11:50 p.m. on Petaluma Boulevard North, north of Gosage Road.

Hospital officials reported Balli suffered facial cuts and bruises. The California Highway Patrol said his car spun off the wet roadway and into a field.

Leary Family Hears Charges

SAN CLEMENTE (UPI) — Dr. Timothy Leary, pioneer experimenter with the mind-expanding drug LSD, was arraigned with his wife and son yesterday on marijuana possession charges.

The family was arrested last Dec. 26 when police stopped their car for a routine traffic violation in nearby Laguna Beach and found marijuana inside.

San Clemente Municipal Judge Richard Hamilton set April 1 for a preliminary hearing for Leary, 48, his wife, Rosemary, 43, and their son, John, 19. All remained free on $2,500 bail each.

Taxable Retail Sales Up In Third Quarter

Taxable retail sales in Marin were higher in the third quarter of 1968 than in the second, according to reports issued by the state board of equalization.

The third quarter total was $81,666,000, compared to the second quarter total of $75,811,000.

However, the percentage gain was less than the third quarter gain in 1967.

The increase fro April, May, June was 15.7 per cent over the same period a year ago, while sales in July, August, September rose 7.7 per cent over the third quarter of 1967.

A comparison by cities listed in the report, with the second quarter listed first, shows: Corte Madera, $8,222,000, $8,354,000; Novato, $6,724,000, $6,820,000; San Rafael, $30,416,000, $34,559,000.

Sonoma County's retail sales in the second quarter totaled $77,932,000, with Petaluma accounting for $20,125,000 of the total.

In the third quarter, the total for the county was $83,712,000, with Petaluma reporting $10,560,000.

1,000-Foot New Tower For City?

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A slim, white pyramidal office building, with the point of its 240-foot spire 1,000 feet above Montgomery street in the city's financial district, is planned by Transamerica Corp.

The structure, still needing planning commission approval, would be San Francisco's tallest building.

Transamerica, a holding company, unveiled a model of the skyscraper yesterday and said its global headquarters would occupy about one-third of the 475,000 square feet of floor space in the 55-story pyramid.

Work was scheduled to start late this year and completion is set for the spring of 1972. The $30 million tower would be on Montgomery street between Clay and Washington.

At the ground level will be open courtyard around the supporting pillars. Escalators will run to a glass-enclosed lobby on the second floor. As it rises, the building tapers to its spire point, the floors diminishing from 130-feet-square at the bottom to 50-feet-square on the 55th floor.

The design not only affords more light and air to the street below and surrounding buildings but gives "increased stability under seismic stress," according to the architect, William L. Pereira of Los Angeles.

Workshop Slated On Bayside Bike Trail, Facilities

A luncheon workshop on planning a bicycle trail and recreational facilities along Richardson Bay will be held at 11 a.m. Feb. 8 at the Dock restaurant on Main Street.

Beverly Bastian, president of the Belvedere-Tiburon Landmarks Society, and Third District Supervisor Michael Wornum will be featured speakers at the luncheon, sponsored by the Tiburon Parks and Recreation Commission.

Mrs. Bastian will speak on the "Past History of Richardson Bay" and Wornum on "Future Planning — Now."

The Marin Conservation League will feature members Douglas Ferguson, a Sausalito attorney; and Mill Valley architect Clifford J. Hanssen in a panel discussion of current development in Richardson Bay.

Following the luncheon program, persons attending the workshop will participate in study sessions on use of the railroad right of way, development of Blackie's Pasture, recreational facilities along the bay and the future state highway.

The study groups will schedule future meetings at the end of the workshop.

Marinite Named Crusade Officer

Edward W. Bullard Jr. of Ross was elected vice president of the five-county United Bay Area Crusade at a meeting yesterday in San Francisco of the crusade's board of directors.

Bullard will be chairman of the Marin contingent on the board of directors. Marion H. Marks of San Rafael was elected Marin vice chairman. Richard P. Sooley of San Francisco, a former Marin resident, was elected chairman of the crusade.

Pleads Innocent

Joseph Caselli, 50, of Novato, pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Superior Court to a charge of felony drunken driving stemming from an arrest Oct. 26 on Highway 101. The case was continued until Feb. 10 for setting of a trial.

Heritage Fair Set

An arts and cultural fair called the "California Heritage Fair" will be held near Muir Woods National Monument on Memorial Day weekend, May 30, 31 and June 1.

County Zoning Administrator Thomas E. Cordill said yesterday he will grant the use permit to Hillwood Academic Day School of San Francisco, which has a five-acre retreat across the road from Muir Woods National Monument parking area. The retreat fronts on Camino De Canon at the intersection with Frank Valley Road.

Mrs. Mary J. Libra, director of the school, told the zoning administrator she had contacted health, police and fire officials to make sure the fair will meet all requirements. "It will be a relaxing and enjoyable outdoor fair compatible with the woodsy surroundings," she said. All neighbors in the area sent letters supporting the fair.

Cordill announced he would issue the use permit within two weeks, after he reviews all conditions such as crowd control, traffic control, parking, fire protection and health and safety.

Windows Broken

Frederick Adrians of 7564 Burton Avenue, Rohnert Park, reported that two windows were broken during the weekend at a home he is building at 413 Fair Street, Petaluma. He estimated damage at $43.

Petaluma Board To Get Report On Film Series

The Petaluma Board of Education will hear a report from study committees including the "Time of Your Life" film series in family education classes today at 8 p.m. at the administration building.

Supt. Lesly H. Meyer, will present a recommendation to the board as well as the study committees from each of the seven elementary schools. The committees and parents had the opportunity to view each segment of the controversial KQED series on sex education.

Also on the agenda is the presentation of plans for an addition to Kenilworth Junior High School as prepared by architects Reynolds and Chamberlain.

Codeine Stolen

Burglars apparently pried a glass door Sunday to enter the office of Dr. Harold M. Lyons, 81 Casa Buena Drive, and made off with about sfx codeine pills, Corte Madera police said yesterday.

Boulevard Plans Not Acceptable

After a long fight for a safer Sir Francisco Drake Boulevard, the Greenbrae Property Owners Association has decided "we have no recourse but to live with this dangerous condition for the time being."

In a letter to its membership, the association reported turning down a commitment from the county to contribute a quarter of the cost to improve the boulevard if the Kentfield School District would pay one quarter and the local Greenbrae property owners pay the remaining half.

"We do not believe that formula is fair or equitable," said the letter. "We do not believe this community (or the school district) should have to remedy a problem brought into Greenbrae by the county's poor judgment."

The property owners demanded county action for safety improvements after a 12-year-old Greenbrae boy was killed last June when his bicycle swerved off the sidewalk into the path of a cement truck on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

The association will meet 8 p.m. Monday at Greenbrae School, to hear Supervisor Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. give his views on property taxes and the commute problem. The property owners will also elect members of the board of directors.

Eight Receive Abatement Notes At Waldo Point

Eight structures that encroach on county streets at Waldo Point in Richardson Bay have been ordered abated, Deputy County Counsel Joseph A. Forest reported yesterday.

Unless the structures are removed immediately, owners will be ordered to report before Marin supervisors at 3 p.m. Feb. 11 to explain why they have not complied.

The owners, who were served with abatement notices, are:

Donlan J. Arques, who has two properties at Gate 4, a pile driver on Humboldt Street and a sunken barge at Sonoma and Humboldt avenue; Peter Day, houseboat on Sonoma Street; Mary Van Anda, houseboat on Sonoma; Milo Ardison, sailing sloop on Waldo Street; a person identified only as W. Carlson, houseboat on Sonoma; Steve Martin, care of G. A. Woodbury, houseboat at Humboldt Avenue and Sonoma Street; Paul W. Rauquest, trailer on a flotation hull on Waldo Street.

Guilty Plea In Selling Marijuana

Timothy Jack Coy, 24, of no fixed address, pleaded guilty yesterday in Marin Superior Court to selling marijuana on Feb. 24, 1968.

Coy was arrested during a widespread narcotics roundup in the county last February.

Judge Harold J. Haley ordered him to appear for sentencing at 2 p.m. Feb. 24.

Civic Panel To Organize

The Marin Council Affairs will meet at 8 p.m. tomorrow in planning commission chambers at the Civic Center to organize a new board of directors, which will be approved at an annual meeting next month.

Chairman Walter E. Zurcher said the council will fill vacancies on the 25-member board of directors and set up subcommittees and subcommittee chairmen.

The group will also discuss its role as advisory comittee on the workable program for community improvement. The program is a document prepared annually by the planning staff so that Marin will qualify for federal housing funds.

Mother, Son Suffer Minor Auto Injuries

A Sleepy Hollow resident and her son suffered minor injuries in a two-car collision Sunday at the intersection of Butterfield Road and Rosemont Avenue in San Anselmo.

Mrs. June Reed, 44, of 184 Deer Hollow Road, suffered forehead and nose cuts. Her son, Brian, 12, suffered minor cuts and bruises.

San Anselmo police said they were passengers in a car driven by June Victoria Trail, 48, of 220 Cascade Drive, Fairfax, and traveling south on Butterfield Road.

Officers said the Trail vehicle crossed the center line at 3:15 p.m. and struck a car traveling north and driven by Philip Robert Salminia, 60, of Point Reyes Station.

Mrs. Trail was cited for driving on the wrong side of the road.

She and Salminia were not hurt.

The first air raid was carried out by pilotless balloons sent by the Austrians in 1849 to bomb Venice.

Defraud Charge Suspect Nabbed

A San Anselmo man was booked into Marin County Jail Saturday night on suspicion of defrauding an innkeeper after he was reportedly unable to pay his bill at the Kettle, 209 Third Street, San Rafael.

Police said they went to investigate a report of the man disturbing others and asked him to pay his bill before taking him to jail and he had only $1 of the $5.25 bill.

The man, Ernest Eddy, 39, of 50 Ridge Road, San Anselmo, was freed on bail fo $125 to appear at 2 p.m. tomorrow in Marin Municipal Court.

HONORED AGAIN — Col. Thomas K. Potter, Jr., commander of the Western Aerospace Rescue and Recovery Center at Hamilton Air Force Base, has been awarded his second Legion of Merit medal, this one for outstanding service at Scott Air Force Base, Ill. The first award was for his service with the joint staff of the Joint Chiefs of Staff in Washington, D. C.

Marin Scout Panel Hopes To Get Land

The Marin Boy Scout Council hopes to acquire 900 acres of valley land with a stream running through it, surrounded by steep redwood covered slopes in Mendocino County.

The land has been offered free by Ralph Rupert of San Francisco, owner of San Francisco Materials Co. Boy Scout officials are now negotiating with Rupert on any conditions of the gift, said William H. Sherwood, Marin council executive explained.

Though Rupert is expected to donate the land to the council, the council would have to pay taxes of about $3,000 for its first year of ownership before the acreage could be put on the nontaxable, non-profit rolls, Sherwood said.

Sherwood said the land would be used for small group scout camping and that summer camp facilities probably would not be considered for about 10 years.

The land is located eight miles southwest of Ukiah and was the site of a dam which formerly supplied Ukiah with water. The dam was washed out in 1964, Sherwood said. There is a house, a half completed house and a barn on the property, he said.

Sherwood said the offer of the land came when Rupert happened to meet a Marin scout official wearing a scouting lapel pin which Rupert recognized. Rupert expressed an interest in scouting and the offer of the land followed.

Home Is Looted

Burglars entered the unlocked home of H. Gordon Beesley, 17 Garden Road, Ross, between 4 and 10 a.m. Sunday and stole a portable television set, a 20 gauge shotgun, a 22-caliber rifle and $15 and $25 money orders, Ross police reported yesterday.

EXPERTS' OPINION

Drug Abstinence A Futile Pitch

Educators' efforts to make students abstain from drug use are all but useless, a psychiatrist and drug expert told Tamalpais High School teachers yesterday.

Efforts would probably be better spent teaching young people to avoid abuse of any drug, whether it's tobacco, alcohol, coffee or marijuana, said Sanford J. Feinglass, former coordinator of the Marin County Drug Abuse Education Program.

The United States is a drug-oriented culture, he said. LSD advocates, he said, recommend "one of Owsley's pink wedges, and television says to take the blue compoz."

"If you accept drug use as a pathological state," Feinglass said, "you have to accept that the great majority of the United States is pathological.

He said two other drugs are "infinitely more harmful than marijuana . . . alcohol and amphetamines."

Adults use alcohol, he said, and young people increasingly turn to amphetamines, a "most extravagantly horrendous drug" in its physical effects.

Feinglass and Dr. Gerald Hill, San Rafael psychiatrist, outlined results of several studies of marijuana use.

One study concluded that marijuana is a mild drug with shortlived effects, contrary to previous medical belief, Hill said.

But studies with the drug essence, tetrahydrocannabinol, produced toxic effects, hallucinations and in some cases a psychotic state.

Feinglass suggested the marijuana high may be a matter of indoctrination — new users are told by experienced users to recognize tingling fingers and the like as symptoms, then are conditioned to accept the symptoms as pleasureable and part of the high.

Feinglass said marijuana is a drug, in which the experienced user decides how high he wants to go and will not go higher except by accident.

Hill said some 15 to 20 per cent of marijuana users may become habituated and dependent on it. "This is a major problem, and can't be sluffed off just because for 75 per cent it's nontoxic," he said. "Any drug that can break 15 to 20 per cent of its users is dangerous."

Police Investigating San Rafael Burglaries

San Rafael police are investigating eight burglaries reported to them in the past five days.

Last night someone entered the unlocked home of William A. Muzinich of 106 Reservoir Road and stole $3,000 in cash, a .38-caliber revolver valued at $40 and 10 cartridges and ransacked the house.

An unkown number of television and stereo radio and record player sets were taken from the appliance sales room of McPhails Inc., 917 C Street, when burglars entered through an unlocked side window Sunday night. Store owners were checking inventory to determine the number of sets stolen.

Metal skis and bindings valued at $105 were taken from the unlocked garage at the home of Gene L. Mason of 20 Chestnut Avenue Friday or Saturday.

Burglars broke through a rear window at Marin Metal Salvage, 718A Francisco Boulevard, sometime between Thursday night and Monday morning to take hand tools valued at $25, two fire extinguishers, four used tires valued at $20. A pay telephone was ripped from the wall and taken.

A radio valued at $32 and a guitar cord worth $5 were stolen from a houseboat docked at the rear of 51 Harbor Street. Theft of possession of Thomas J. Lepinski, 34 Sunnyhill Road, Novato, occurred Thursday or Friday. Entrance was gained through an unlocked hatch cover.

Someone broke two glass panels in a door at San Rafael High School over the weekend, entered a driver training instruction room and stole a wrist watch belonging to Paul Eisenberg of Fairfax, a driving teacher at Terra Linda High School.

A 12-volt battery was taken from a San Rafael schools car during the weekend while it was parked in a parking area at 38 Union Street.

James W. Kirchanski of 38 Bonnie Banks Way, San Rafael, reported to police that a sideview mirror valued at $10 was unscrewed from his car as he dined Friday evening at Hansa House Family Buffet at Northgate Shopping Center.

Magnin Pledge Aids Art Cause

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Cyril Magnin, a department store owner, donated $100,000 yesterday to help keep the Avery Brundage art collection in San Francisco.

Magnin, the Greater San Francisco Chamber of Commerce's outgoing president, made the pledge at the chamber's 119th annual dinner.

It is to go towards a $1.5 million fund for the upkeep and enrichment of the collection of Asian art objects which is now in the M. H. de Young Memorial Museum in Golden State Park.

Psychiatrist's Talk Feb. 4 At College

An address by psychiatrist Graham B. Blaine Jr. on "Youth and the Hazards of Affluence" at Dominican College will be at 8 p.m. Feb. 4, not tonight, as reported in yesterday's Independent-Journal.

Dr. Blaine, chief of psychiatry for Harvard University Health Services, will speak in Guzman Hall.

Poetry Reading

Marin Poet Neill Whitman will read selections from the works of Hermann Hesse, Bradford Shank and Kenneth Noyes at 8 p.m. Thursday in the Mill Valley Library gallery.

Novatans To Have Right Of Elected Mayor

The Novato City Council will be told tonight it is empowered to seek voter approval of a plan to make the position of mayor elective.

The mayor is currently chosen by councilmen from among themselves, but a Novato resident asked at the Dec. 10 council meeting whether the public should be given the right to select a mayor.

Divided on whether Novato, as a general law city subject to regulations of the state government code, could elect its mayor, the council asked City Atty. Clark M. Palmer Jr. for an opinion.

BY 1959 ACTION

Palmer said yesterday that general law cities were empowered by the Legislature in 1959 to elect a mayor for a four-year term. Municipal voters must implement the change.

Although an elected mayor draws slightly more pay than an appointed one and enjoys minor appointive powers, the difference between the two types is largely insignificant in Marin and Sonoma County cities whose charters do not grant sweeping power.

An elected mayor would remain as a voting member of the council and still preside over it, Palmer said.

Two local cities which elect a mayor are Petaluma and San Rafael, although both were established much earlier than Novato and are known as charter cities. Novato was incorporated nine years ago.

San Rafael City Mgr. Dan E. Anderson noted a mayor is elected there every two years, although city officials would like the term changed to four years.

BACKS LONGER TERMS

City Mgr. Robert H. Meyer of Petaluma—where a mayor is chosen every four years—said the longer term gives "continuity" in dealing with federal agencies.

"The people in other governments know that they will be dealing with the same person, so it makes such dealings easier," Meyer said.

The system of rotating council appointees in the mayor's chair has an advantage, Meyer said, in that "if you get someone who does a lousy job, the the city is stuck with him for only a year, but if you elect him for four years, the city is stuck with him for that length of time."

Meyer said Petaluma Mayor Helen Putnam receives $5 more per meeting than other councilman, but said that should be increased.

Folk Songs Set

The Jewish Folk Chorus of San Francisco and Petaluma will sing Yiddish and Hebrew folk songs at the annual meeting of the Jewish Community Center of Marin at 8 p.m. Monday at the center, 200 North San Pedro Road, Santa Venetia. Members will elect directors to the center board.

Bagley Seeks New Data Committee

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Formation of a special legislative study committee to update laws guaranteeing public access to public records and public meetings was proposed yesterday by Assemblyman William T. Bagley of San Rafael.

To be known as the Assembly Committee on Statewide Information Policy, it is to have three Assembly members, one each from the committees on government organization, judiciary and finance-insurance, of which Bagley is the chairman.

Bagley's proposal also provides that the committee will be empowered to create advisory committees composed of representatives of public agencies, private industry and the news media.

The committee is similar to Bagley's Advisory Committee on Public Records, which last year successfully drew up the Public Records Act of 1968.

That act, introduced by Bagley, was the first revision in this century of state laws to guarantee access to public records.

Among the subjects to be studied by the new committee, said Bagley, is "the growing use of computer data banks in both industry and government, which require added attention to the need to protect the right to individual privacy."

Also to be studied are "modern methods of processing, collecting, storing and disseminating information in both public and private agencies," Bagley said.

He reportedly plans to include credit bureaus in this study.

Bagley's proposal, which would set up the committee for one year, was referred to the rules committee.

Shaw Jury Speeded After Report Issue Tossed Out

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—With all questions about the Warren Clay Shaw trial picked up speed Harold W. Bainum Jr., 24, a credit manager at a loan company, and Warren E. Humphrey, 52, a Negro postal clerk, were the ninth and tenth jurors seated. Twelve, plus two alternates, are required.

Of the eight who preceded them to the jury box, seven had to pass a Warren report test. Now no more prospects may be asked:

"Do you believe the Warren Commission's conclusion that no conspiracy existed in the assassination of President John F. Kennedy?" "Do you believe Lee Harvey Oswald was part of a conspiracy?"

Shaw, 55, a retired New Orleans businessman, was charged by Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison with conspiring—with Oswald and others—to murder President Kennedy.

Sizing up a potential juror is often a matter of intuition for a trial lawyer but a key question may provide a clue. Asst. Dist. Atty. James L. Alcock and chief defense lawyer F. Irvin Dymond gauged replies to the Warren Report test intently.

Plainly, both felt the test indicated how a man's sentiments might lean. The only acceptable answer was "no opinion."

But questions about the Warren Report fell on a line of law as thin as a razor's edge. Judge Edward A. Haggerty Jr. had to decide the issue.

First he upheld Dymond, who argued that a man who doubted the Warren Report should be dismissed as possibly prejudiced for the state.

The line of law involved often brought baffled stares from prospective jurors as it was outlined for them.

Actor Charles Winninger Dies

PALM SPRINGS (AP) — Chubby, white-haired Charles Winninger, a veteran of more than 50 years in vaudeville, motion pictures, radio and television, is dead at the age of 84.

Winninger, who began his acting career in 1893, touring with his parents and four brothers and sisters, died yesterday at his home. He had been inactive since breaking a hip four years ago.

He started out as a boy soprano and drummer. With the retirement of his family, he joined the New York production of "Yankee Girl" as a comedian. Later he portrayed the original Captain Andy in Ziegfeld's production of "Showboat."

Sales Tax Hike For BART Backed

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The San Francisco Bay Area Council today announced its approval of a half-cent sales tax increase as the most feasible way of financing the Bay Area Rapid Transit deficit.

A letter to Bay Area legislators, signed by S. Clark Beise, head of the council's rapid transit committee, said the sales tax solution has the merit of being only a temporary tax and requires no additional financing or interest cost.

Park Master Plan Study Under Way

The Rohnert Park Recreation Commission last night began study on a master plan for park development with the aid of members of the Sonoma County Planning Department.

Planning to continue the practice of placing parks adjacent to school sites, Chairman Ronald E. Rasmussen said the commission will arrange a joint meeting with representatives of the Petaluma Board of Education and Cotati School District trustees to further the school-park plans.

The commission agreed last night that athletic facilities will receive more attention than leisure parks since the city has a large population of children who would benefit by increased baseball diamonds and football fields.

"We'd like to see that children needn't leave Rohnert Park to participate in athletic activities," Rasmussen said, adding that a few leisure parks are not being ruled out.

Commissioners also gave thought to ways of developing small, neighborhood parks in areas where there are vacant lots which are overrun with weeds.

The Rohnert Park Recreation Commission also:

SPEAKER — Acknowledged receipts of a portable amplifier system presented by the Faith Presbyterian Church of Rohnert Park. Rasmussen said the speaker system will be used to announce athletic events and community activities.

RECREATION CENTER—Received for study from City Mgr. Peter M. O. Callinan a list of proposed regulations to govern the use of the new community and recreation center scheduled for completion by March 1.

Tryouts Slated

Tryouts for actors for four contemporary American plays to be produced by David Marshall of Mill Valley will be conducted at 8 p.m. Sunday and Monday in Studio D of the Marin Heliport, 240 Redwood Highway, Mill Valley. Marshall said the plays will be produced at the heliport and in Santa Clara and Berkeley.

Teens Stage Walkout At Juvenile Facility

Nine teen-agers, being held at the preplacement center of Marin County Juvenile Hall, walked out of the "jail with no locks" last night in an apparent protest over what they thought to be the suspension of a counselor.

One youth was still missing this morning, according to juvenile authorities, and one was in Marin County Jail, where he was taken after brandishing a club at police officers.

Probation Officer James Soetart said that the teen-agers apparently thought that a woman counselor whose shift had been changed had been fired.

When they staged the mass walkout about 10:30 p.m., officers at the center pursuaded three to return immediately. Five others, including Michael John Mulqueeney, 17, of no fixed address, who was booked into jail, were arrested by various police officers.

The name of the youth still missing today was not available from juvenile authorities.

The preplacement center, which formerly housed the Family Rehabilitation Center, is used for youngsters who are not considered by juvenile authorities to need the more stringent security of Juvenile Hall.

Novato Planners Give Nod To Rezoning Of Six Acres

The Novato Planning Commission last night approved rezoning approximately six acres between Rancho School and the Nave Shopping Center, west of South Novato Boulevard.

The rezoning from agricultural to planed residential was requested by Paul Pickart, according to Warren Baker, assistant planning director Pickart was required to dedicate the right-of-way for the extension of Hill Road to South Novato Boulevard, Baker said.

The rezoning must be approved by the Novato City Council before it becomes final.

The Novato Planning Commission also:

PIZZA — Granted Marshall A. Benson a permit to operate a takeout and delivery pizza restaurant in the Nave Center on South Novato Boulevard and Center Road.

SIGN — Granted Ted. R. Schuman Chevrolet Co. a variance for a sign for "Schuman's Travel Center" but denied the request for a sign reading "Campers, Trailers and Mobile Homes."

ORDINACE — Requested that the council change the definition of shopping centers from five acres with eight or more stores to a shopping area all under one ownership and also requested the elimination of readerboards from the proposed changes to the zoning ordinance.

CONTINUED — Continued until Feb. 10 consideration of a request by J. C. Youngberg to rezone from multiple to planned residential 63,800 square feet on Diablo Avenue, north of Center Road, and the same request from William J. Guinnane for three acres at 1546 Center Road; consideration in the changes in the Bahia subdivision of 900 acres at the end of Bugeia Lane for Union Bank of Los Angeles and a division of a large lot into two smaller lots on Farvue Road for Leo Wasset.

RESTAURANT — Continued indefinitely the application for a use permit and signs for a "Jack-in-the-Box" restaurant at Diablo Avenue and South Novato Boulevard for Donald B. Krosch.

Judy Garland Reveals Wedding

LONDON (AP) — Judy Garland made a triumphal return last night to the night club where she flopped last week, singing with all her old verve and announcing later that she was secretly married in a London church nearly three weeks ago.

The audience at the Talk of the Town went wild with delight and cheered Miss Garland on the stage from which she fled amid boos and jeers last Thursday night.

In her dressing room afterward Miss Garland said she and Mickey Deans, 35-year-old New York discotheque manager, were married Jan. 9.

The flower of the month for October is the calendula or cosmos.

Paris Presents Youthful, Gay Collections

By LUCIE NOEL

PARIS (AP) — The lone wolf of Paris fashion, Jacques Esterel, presented a gay, young and colorful summer collection Sunday to jump ahead of the official couture week that began yesterday.

Esterel started early because he is not a member of the couturiers organizations. He did a great job with mens wear and injected a group of casual immaculately tailored jersey middies, tunics and pants. They do have snob appeal and are perfect for chic resort or country weekend wear. He shows them in beige or white jersey, with turtle necklines and inserts.

Esterel develops the group into coordinates for the family in a mood of togetherness, and had parents and their youngsters, teen-age boys and girls parading in attractive variations. In certain cases, the girl manequins' tunics and middies are worn with skirts. Hemlines vary from two to four inches above the knees but are no longer authentic miniskirts.

The cutest outfits for young girls were designed as "separates," but made in one piece. Bold checked plaid flared skirts had light tops on shirtwaist line. Both are widely belted at a higher than natural waistline. One belt is slotted through wide fabric buttoned-down tabs. The other is of the skirt checked plaid woolen and all fabric except for the buckle. One had an orange shirt and black and white plaid skirt, the other almond green with a coordinated plaid.

ESTEREL FEATURES ice-cream shades throughout, in little wool dresses and coats grouped under the title of "Neoclassic." They are young without being childish. Two-color effects are frequent. Built-in flapped pockets and inserts at the side, with bouffant bubble fullness in backs of coats and a lifted waistline are typical features.

Esterel's slogan is Vive La Couture Libre and he goes his own way following though on his own ideas. A "five minutes to midnight" swim suit is jeweled on white and veiled in gray chiffon. The bride wore a white nun's habit. Wide silver bangles were attached to garland of white roses. This was followed by a six-tier wedding cake in the colors of the collection.

Color contrasts were a big part of the collection of Philippe Venet which opened the official week of Paris spring and summer fashion showings yesterday.

Venet's spring collection is a big bicolor story. His contrasts are often intense. But white is always used to band hemlines, necklines, waistline inserts and frequently a tabbed band stopping at the waistline.

Venet showed swing back fullness in a beautiful group of coats. The backs are cut on circular lines, and the coats are often three-quarter length. He emphasizes pants suits mainly for chic resort and country wear. They are frequently in white or a bright shade, egg or chrome yellow or persimmon or red.

Venet uses white trim on collars and cuffs on pants suits, too.

The simple slender box jackets are fingertip or knuckle length worn over matching or contrasting pants. Underneath Venet likes finely striped jersey or bicolor effects in plain wool. The prettiest jeune fille costume was a scarlet flared skirt with its own little flared wool bolero edged in a three-inch band of white wool in a circular line.

The smoothly tailored elegant daytime picture gives way to fantasy for evening. Swiss organdies in raised designs and florals make short, bubble skirted dance dresses for girls. For his sophisticated clients he shows wraparound sarong or sari overdresses sometimes one-shouldered, and over slender skirts.

The overdresses have big curved effects in the back. King-size tropical flowers appear on one of these. Flat crepes prevail but a new fabric of interest is printed in blue and white circles for a cocktail dress.

LOUIS FERAUD, one of Brigitte Bardot's favorite designers, showed a young, colorful and imaginative collection to crowded salons. Inspiration is borrowed from Brazil, where Feraud has founded a new factory that will turn out volume production.

Stylewise, Feraud brings from Brazil the brilliant colors typical of jungle flora and birds' plumage. He has invented exclusive prints evoking tigers, giraffes, and the leopard and cat family. They are on sheer organzas and shown for evening dresses and pajamas for terrace and hostess wear. Sometimes designs are picked out in beads and jeweled glitter. Other favorite media are leather, vinyl, steel, mother of pearl and sequins.

The line is feminine. Waists are underlined but never tightly belted by fancy belts, from metal, through fur and vinyl. Skirts are ultrashort and bubbled. They dance as the wearer moves.

For evening organza blouses are worn with pants, and long weskits. Many of these are featured in the exclusive barbaric prints, some imitating tiles, in designs borrowed from pre-Colombian and Mayan excavations.

MOLYNEUX, ORIGINATOR and champion of understated elegance, presented his collection this morning. His cousin, John Tullis, is the actual torch bearer and though Molyneux was being mobbed by his enthusiastic audience, he claimed all honors go to John.

As was to be expected there are some excellent little suits in plain gray botany weave, a third in apple green with good tailored detailing. A white flannel suit has a brown and white print blouse and ascot.

WEDDING GOWN from Paris—Designer Philippe Venet showed this white crepe bridal gown in his spring and summer collection at the world fashion capital yesterday. It is styled with cape-like sleeves hemmed with white organza feathers which match the coiffe.

COUTURIER JACQUES Esteral presented these one-piece "separates" as his showing in Paris. Model at left wears an almond green shirt coordinated with plaid skirt, and at right, the model shows an orange shirt with black and white plaid skirt. Both outfits are widely belted with higher than natural waistline. (AP Wirephotos from Paris)

Brown and white is a favorite blend in prints. The dress has the colors reversed and is white with brown, the coat brown and white a lovely ensemble for summer afternoon anywhere.

Sausalito's New Librarian Likes Friendly Atmosphere

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

Kathleen Worsley (Mrs. Stephen Worsley), Sausalito's new librarian, says that the most appealing feature of the library for her is that it is a branch library — the kind that is usually the most friendly and that offers the best opportunity to know many people.

"I am especially interested in working toward the new library," she said. "We're bursting at the seams. I was surprised to find how much a new building is needed. For every new book we buy we have to take one off the shelves and store it in the North Bay Cooperative Library storage area in Petaluma.

"A MODERN LIBRARY need not be bureaucratic, as some people fear. It can be a friendly and welcoming place for the public, and we want to be able to offer more services. These include giving more help with references and having a record collection, and we hope in a new building to be able to display more art works, especially those of local artists.

"One of our first projects now will be to do more work with the schools, since this is what the library board is interested in. I want to say that the board and staff have been marvelous during my first week on the job."

Mrs. Worsley's own interests center in art, particularly graphics, for she has an unusual hobby of collecting books produced by private presses.

She explained, "Private presses print books for format and looks regardless of cost for people who love fine printing. One of the projects I especially enjoyed when I was working in the Seattle Public Library was working up an exhibit on private presses in the state of Washington.

"I have tried silk screening and have made my own Christmas cards, bound like one of these books, and printed with a little hand printing set."

A NATIVE OF Santa Clara, Mrs. Worsley is also much interested in California history and wrote a master's thesis on the history of the Santa Clara Public Library. She is a member of the California Historical Society and of the American Library Association.

Kathleen was graduated from Notre Dame High School in San Jose and from San Jose State College in 1962 with a bachelor's degree in history. She did some work in the Santa Clara Public Library before she met her husband, who is presently an associate professor of business at the University of San Francisco.

Following their marriage they moved immediately to Charlotte Amalie, a city of 17,000 people on the island of St. Thomas in the Virgin Islands.

"They were starting an English speaking college in the Caribbean," she said "and we thought it looked like a chance to get in on the ground floor of a very interesting educational setup. My husband taught business courses in the College of the Virgin Islands, and I worked in the library, but we found it was too slow moving, and we stayed only a year.

"It was a very interesting place in some ways. It is a tourist economy — an island paradise though it is very hot and lacks water, which they obtain through desalinization, from cachments in the hills and having it transported from Puerto Rico about 40 miles away.

"CELEBRITIES WERE always passing through. We met Lady Bird Johnson, former Vice President Humphrey, the famous anthropologist Margaret Mead and a nephew of the impressionist artist Camille Pissarro, who was born in what is now the Sears-Roebuck store.

"But not much can happen on a small island only three miles by 13 miles, and you tend to feel very confined. We spent the summer in England.

"First my husband returned to the United States to get a doctorate in business administration at the University of Washington in Seattle, while I completed courses for a master's degree in librarianship in 1966 at San Jose State College.

"Then I joined him and worked first in a branch library and after a year was transferred as map librarian to the central public library's history department, where we handled a heavy volume of reference work."

Mrs. Worsley said they love California and were very happy when they both obtained positions in the Bay Area. At present they are living in San Francisco but hope to move to Marin soon. They have no children.

ART IS ONE of the interests of Mrs. Stephen Worsley, new Sausalito librarian. While looking through library's collection of art books she found and is admiring "The Flowering of Art Nouveau" by Maurice Rheims. This is one of the books bought with money given by a friend in memory of Ada Saline, who was a teacher and assistant Sausalito librarian until she retired. (Independent-Journal photo)

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Now That He Is Not A Teen, Man Questions Parent's Attitude

DEAR HELEN:

Talk about the generation gap, I'll tell you the worst one. It's the gap created by parents between 20- and 21-year-old guys and their precious little teen-age girls.

Enough of that adult language. I am going to sock it to you in the only way groovy little chicks will understand. Like I'm tired of over-protective mammas who tell these babes, "Now sweetie, you stay away from those old boys. They have been around and they're dangerous."

Believe me, we "old guys" are more to be trusted than these young punks just starting out. All 15 to 17-year-old boys think about is how far they can get, and they won't take "No." Don't think it doesn't happen. I've had too many telephone calls from girls asking me to come and take them home so their dear mothers won't know what kind of a boy they let their daughters date. I've seen girls who were actually beat up because they wouldn't give in, and then they were put out to walk home.

Why can't parents see that it's because we "older men" have been around that we've learned how to act. We have grown up enough to know that when we get married we don't want some girl that has given in to every punk that either threatened her or handed her a big line. Their daughters are safer with us, but we can't get around the "mother barrier."

Don't say young boys aren't that bad. And don't say that I learned from personal experience, because God help me, I wasn't one of them! — SHUT OUT

DEAR SHUT OUT:

All teen-age boys aren't devils any more than all 21-year-old men are angels. Substitute patience for the put-down and your girl's mother may decide you're a good risk — especially if you learn how to talk to her without scaring her green. —H.

DEAR HELEN:

My parents think my sister and I watch television too much, so they took a tube out and hid it. But we searched the house and found the tube.

Then we watched our shows until just before Mom and Dad got home from work, when we put the tube back in its hiding place. But we didn't get it in the right place, so, the next day, Dad took the tube to work with him, as he was on to us.

They say we should do our homework and not goof off. We think this is unfair treatment and we wonder if we shouldn't go on a sleeping strike or something until they put back the tube. — M.U.M.

DEAR M:

Have you ever thought of minding your parents? When it comes to "strikes" they have the upper hand and I think you're just about to get it!—H.

DEAR HELEN:

I have two problems that may seem trivial, but they're important to me. Two of my girl friends call me and I talk to them around 20 minutes, then I try to hang up, but they keep right on talking, or else they'll call right back. How can I get off the hook?

My second question is: I babysit for a doctor and his wife. Sometimes he is called to the hospital and they have to cancel at the last minute. That means I've lost an evening. Shouldn't they pay me something? — LESLIE

DEAR LESLIE:

First question: Be firm. Tell the girls your parents have set a 20-minute phone limit, and if they ring again, have your mother answer the phone. She'll be glad to!

Second question: If a babysitting job is cancelled at the last minute, the employers should offer to pay half price, as an inconvenience fee. — H.

Mix a 4¾-ounce can of the spread with 3 to 4 tablespoons of dairy sour cream, ½ teaspoon of salt, 1 teaspoon of lemon juice, 3 tablespoons of chopped celery and ¼ cup of drained small pineapple chunks. Serve with crisp crackers. Makes ¾ to 1 cup.

Men Urging Women To The Pants Suit Trend

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press

If the pants fit, wear 'em. That's the advice the nation's males have for women who want to join the pants suit parade that's sweeping the country.

Although many men held out for the miniskirt—"I like to see a lady's legs," said one—most of those replying to an Associated Press survey gave qualified approval to women wearing pants, both for day and evening.

"They look good on girls if the girls are good looking," said Robert Winter, a Detroit businessman.

"They look great on young girls, but they're inappropriate for more mature women," said Sam T. Milliken, a stock broker from Denver. Milliken added, however, "When I take a lady out for dinner or drinks or dancing, I like to see her in a dress."

Robert Chace, city manager of Loveland, Ohio, a Cincinnati suburb, said, "I have no exceptions to them. In fact, I would rather see women in pants than miniskirts. God gave us an imagination . . . "

The manager of a Philadelphia night spot, the Red Garter, said women of all kinds—both young and old—wore pants to his club. Does he like them? "Depends on who's wearing them, you know."

The fit, cut and cost of pants suits determines not only male approval, but also whether a woman will be accepted at many of the country's top nightclubs and restaurants.

In Hollywood, dressy pants suits are okay. Tight-fitting capri pants are outlawed. A spokesman for the Brown Derby, for example, said pants suits are perfectly acceptable in the restaurant, "but plain old slacks eat in the bar."

Mr. Kelly's, a Chicago night spot, is typical of many clubs in the windy city. A spokesman—a woman—said the club recently changed its policy and now admits women in evening slacks or pants suits. "No blue jeans," the spokesman added.

About the only place pants suits haven't appeared is in church. And an Albuquerque attorney who insisted that his wife buy several pants suits said, "I'm not so sure they wouldn't be acceptable there."

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. William Drumm, chancellor of the Archdiocese of St. Louis, said miniskirts are more of a problem in church than pants. "Right now," he said, "we're worrying about the highs—not the lows."

Lids Decorate

One, two and three pound size plastic coffee lids are great holiday decoration material. Use only the rims by cutting out the center with a razor blade or scissors. Spray with gold paint, wind with yarn, or trim with lace. Rims can be used in various way, says National Family Opinion Inc. which passes along the decorating tip. Use three sizes, tied together and suspended.

Marin Y-Wives Club To Install Officers

Playing the piano, sewing for the entire family, reading, gardening and participating in a local yoga class are among the interests and pastimes of the new president of the Marin Y-Wives Club.

Mrs. Robert Leon Rettig of Novato, the new president, also enjoys traveling, and she and her husband have visited 40 of the 50 states. She accompanied her husband to Europe and stayed in Munich for a month while he was on a business trip. Mrs. Rettig is a senior research engineer for Chevron Research Company in Richmond.

They plan a vacation to Hawaii and the surrounding islands this year and have just returned from a trip to the Grand Canyon, Mexico, Phoenix and Death Valley. Their two children, Tami, 6, and Randy, 4 years old, accompanied them.

The new president has lived in Marin two years. She attended high school in Portland, Ore., and Oregon State University in Corvallis. She was graduated from the University of Wisconsin in Madison, where she received a degree in sociology.

Pamela Rettig is also active as a member of the Novato Community Players.

The Marin Y-Wives provide a varied program, including service to the community and social events for the young wife and mother. Membership is available to any woman in the county, with special emphasis on those with small children as child care is provided.

Other officers are Mmes. Louis Toulon, first vice president, Fairfax; William E. Bishop, second vice president, Fairfax; Daniel J. Ritter, treasurer, Glenwood; and Louis Otanez, secretary; San Rafael.

The officers will be installed at a luncheon meeting at 1 p.m., tomorrow at the Pepperwood restaurant in San Anselmo.

MRS. ROBERT RETTIG

Museum Unit Elects New President

Members of the Glenwood Guild of the Marin Museum of Science have elected Mrs. Walter B. Kulemin president. A member of the guild for four years, Betsy Kulemin has previously served as vice president and Festival of Trees chairman for the guild.

Prospective members of the guild will attend a coffee on Feb. 5, and the guild plans a luncheon in the fall to raise funds for the museum.

A four-year resident of Marin, Mrs. Kulemin is also active in the St. Sylverster's Guild and with Guide Dogs for the Blind. She has two daughters: Kimberly, four years old, and Jennifer, eight months old.

Other officers of the guild are Mmes. Jeffrey Benninger, vice president; Ronald Lamson, recording secretary; K. H. Sarrafzadeh, corresponding secretary; and James Mayer, treasurer.

Custard Cups

Pottery custard cups are now widely available. They're excellent for baking popovers because they yield a shiny glazed crust.

Venison

Originally the term venison meant the meat of any animal or bird of the chase. Today it refers only to the meat of antlered animals—deer, elk, antelope, moose and caribou. Most of the venison eaten in the United States is deer; elk is second in importance.

Dining Rooms Are Popular

Formal dining roomas are steadily regaining the popularity they had a few decades ago, says the Tile Council of America. However, formal dining rooms of today bear little resemblance to those of yesteryear.

For one thing, says the Tile Council, the word "formal" as it defines dining room is no longer synonymous with delicate. Easty-to-clean, durable surfacing materials such as ceramic tile have replaced the dainty, not-so-endurable materials that used to adorn the walls and floors in dining rooms of old.

This is not to say that the surfacings available today are less decorative, notes the Tile Council. In fact, the decorative abilities of most wall and floor coverings have been greatly enhanced over the years. Ceramic tile, for example, is available in a profusion of colors, designs, textures, sizes and shapes, permitting imaginative uses.

$1 Tax Hike For Financing Schools Eyed

A $1 tax rate increase, 63 cents to be levied initially and the rest over the succeeding three or four years, was proposed in a report on projected school costs given the Mill Valley School District board last night.

The board took no action, but asked Supt. James A. Collins to bring in more specific recommendations for the Feb. 10 meeting.

A cut in state aid, combined with an unexpected drop in enrollment, has reduced district money by $82,000 this year.

For the 1969-70 budget, Collins proposed three choices — a cutback to make costs which would require a 38-cent tax increase and cost $268,280, and improving ecuational programs to meet the envisioned goals of the district, which would require an estimated 63-cent tax raise or an additional $174,170.

Specific figures were presented for only one alternative, cutting costs to meet presently-anticipated income. The proposed 1969-70 budget in that case was $2,799,875, a cut from this year's initial budget of $2,988,325. The revised current budget has been cut to $2,906,047 because of the cut in state support.

Cuts in the 1969-70 budget would come in instruction (from $2,116,760 to $2,078,095), in captial outlay (from $45,300 to $5,000) and in reserves (from $35,597 to $1,390).

Collins warned the board, however, against cutting reserves to the paper-thin $1,390 figure. He said further budget cuts would be required to keep reserves at a reasonable amount. The proposed no-tax-boost budget, he said, included no allowance for pay raises or cost of living increases.

The board also took a fascinated look at a proposed 200-day school year operating on four quarters, with three-week vacations four times a year, but took no action.

Teacher John Rojas explained a pilot program in the Hayward School District where one school has kindergarten through sixth grade pupils on a four-quarter system, the first in the nation.

Advantages of the plan, Rojas, said, included more time to ease school crowding, more use of school facilities, an end to the long summer vacation and the resultant loss of learning and better coordination with the quarter system coming into use in higher education.

The main disadvantage, Rojas said, is that teachers would have no time to take summer school graduate courses as they now do.

Board members were enthusiastic about the quarter plan, but Trustee William L. Clark objected that year-round studying might make students lose interest.

The Mill Valley School District board also:

SUMMER SCHOOL — Authorized a joint summer school with Sausalito pupils after seeing a slide and tape presentation of last year's summer school by its principal, Robert DeVilbiss.

HIRING — Approved hiring Kathleen von Langen as sixth grade teacher at Tamalpais Valley School at a salary of $4,750 for the rest of the school year, and Rosann Baron as kindergarten teacher at Tamalpais Valley for $4,405 for the rest of the year.

LEAVE — Granted a year's leave to Joan Jackson' librarian at Park and Homestead schools.

RESIGNATION — Accepted the resignation of Carol Floyd, french teacher at Edna Maguire School, who is taking a job with the Tamalpais High School District. Mrs. Floyd's resignation was submitted in French, and Collins promised the board the response would also be in French.

YOUTH CENTER — Asked for opinions of architects and legal counsel on a proposal by the Mill Valley City Council to move the city recreation center to a site near the Mill Valley Horsemen's Association ring, part of the middle school site. Action will be taken Feb. 10, the board said.

HOMESTEAD — Was told that construction of walks, rest rooms and storage space at Homestead School is to be finished by June 15, completing current rehabilitation work in the district.

AIR FORCE — Approved an agreement to pay the Air Force $2,842 to bus children of parents living on Air Force property.

NEXT MEETING — Set next meeting for 8 p.m. Feb. 10 at Edna Maguire School.

Youth Is Cited For Marijuana

A 14-year-old Mill Valley youth was cited Saturday to the juvenile probation department for possession of marijuana after police found what appeared to be some in his coat pocket.

Police said a resident reported seeing the youth passing out unusual appearing cigarettes in front of the Mill Valley bus depot at 3 p.m.

When the police searched the youth, officers said they found marijuana seeds and debris in his coat pocket.

Driver Treated For Car Injuries

Mardiese Lee Nickel, 32, of 115 Duran Drive, San Rafael, was treated for cut lips and a broken tooth at Marin General Hospital Saturday night following an accident on Frietas Parkway near Los Gamos Road.

Police said Mrs. Nickel's car hit a parked vehicle during the wind and rain storm. The owner of the parked car was not known.

$193,800 Is Sought For Street Projects

The priority selection committee for the Marin Urban Thoroughfare System yesterday unanimously recommended to the board of supervisors that $193,800 be alloted to five projects for the next fiscal year in county gas tax matching funds.

The $193,800 is for road project funds requested by Sausalito, Corte Madera, Ross, San Anselmo and Larkspur. Action on an additional $132,400 in requests for projects by Mill Valley and Novato and a second project by San Anseomo was continued until another meeting to be scheduled.

Recommended for approval are requests by San Anselmo for $51,500 for improvement of the Hub intersection; $48,000 by Corte Madera for widening Tamalpais Drive from Highway 101 to Pixley Avenue; $26,000 by Sausalito for widening and signalization of Bridgeway from Easterby to Napa Street; $18,300 by Ross for signalization on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard at Laurel Grove Avenue and at Lagunitas Road, and $50,000 by Larkspur for widening of Magnolia Avenue from Doherty Drive to Bon Air Road.

Tabled were requests by San Anselmo for $25,000 for signalization on Sir Francis Drake; and by Mill Valley for $85,000 to acquire right-of-way for improvement of Camino Alto and for building a bridge on that street.

All requests total $326,200, with only $274,000 available in county gas tax funds for 1969-70 projects. The cities would match the funds alloted by the county.

The committee also unanimously voted to place Center Boulevard in San Anselmo and Fairfax in the urban thoroughfare system. This would make that street eligible for county funds as a major county thoroughfare.

Committee chairman Ronald L. Usher, Corte Madera town manager, said the committee recommendations must be received by the board of supervisors by Feb. 28. The board then will consider the requests during its 1969-70 budget hearings.

History Of Club Told By President

Club president James Knight reviewed 30 years of service by the Fairfax Lions Club at a recent ceremonies when new members were installed by Dist. Gov. William H. Schwartz of Corte Madera.

Among the club's activities have been donation of an auxiliary fire truck to the city and donation of $10,000 for purchase of the parkade Knight noted.

Other adult scouting awards will be presented during the evening and newly elected officers of the Marin council will be installed.

Guilty Plea Made On Burglary Charge

BLACK, WHITE TOGETHER

Teens Want To Span Race Gap

By RICHARD D. BOYLE
(Second of three articles)

After deciding there has not been enough constructive action, black students at Terra Linda High School have formed a club they believe will help bridge the gap of racial understanding.

Making it clear they offer the open hand of friendship to white youths who seek it, the black youngsters also have a clenched fist ready for those who would rather fight.

It has been reported that the Marinwood-Lucas Valley community in which many of the black younsters live, are centers of racial prejudice and harassment of black residents. The reports drew public notice when one resident in Marin Municipal Court, on a charge of displaying a revolver in his white neighbor's home — so accused the communities.

That there was some substance to the bitter complaint was borne out by the fact that concerned parents, both black and white, have formed a special human relations council in the area to work with the schools for better interracial understanding.

Paralleling the adults' action, was the teen-ager's formation of their club.

ARLENE THIBODEAUX
Brought students together

JOE BELLE
'People must wake up'

Arlene Thibodeaux of 642 Blackberry Lane, Lucas Valley, said the major reason for forming the De-Lagwati Club was to bring black and white students together.

"I think that if both races could be brought together and could get along with each other; this could be a much better world for everyone," said Arlene, a pert, attractive 17-year-old Terra Linda senior.

"Most white kids have never heard about great black people," she said, "and this is why it is important that white youngsters attend the regular meetings of the club." Arlene even changed the name of the Afro-American Club because it led white students to believe the club was only for black students.

De-Lagwati doesn't mean anything, she said, but made it up because it sounded African.

Joe Belle of 855 Rincon Way Santa Venetia, another co-founder of the club, agreed it was important that white students participate in the clubs discussions. Joe, a tall 17-year-old senior, flashed a friendly, outgoing smile as he spoke.

The black youths showed no rancor toward whites, but rather laughed and good-naturedly joked about some of the problems of 39 black students in an almost all-white school. At first a little reserved, the youngsters quickly loosened up when talking about their first experiences at Terra Linda.

"It was bad at first," said Joe, "but when they found out they couldn't walk all over us it got better."

Speaking in low and deliberate tone, Joe told of a recent incident, an attack by four white youths while he was working at night for Cliff's Chevron Station in Santa Venetia. While he was serving another customer, one of the youths shouted, "I'm tired of waiting," jumped out of his car with others and beat Joe to the ground. "I'm tired of you niggers getting away with stuff," the youthful assailant shouted as he and his friends drove off.

"People have just got to wake up to this sort of thing," Joe said. "Too many parents of white kids close their eyes and just can't believe their kids can do things like that."

Arlene said being stared at by white youngsters made her uncomfortable when she first came to Terra Linda. But that problem ended after few months when her fellow students got to know her.

She was called "nigger," she said, when she first moved to Santa Venetia, but she has had no problems since moving to Lucas Valley several months ago.

Both Arlene and her sister, Joyce have had fights at Terra Linda. Joyce, who is 16, hit a girl she said had called her a "black nigger." The two sisters objected to being suspended when the girls they said used the slurs were not punished.

"They (school officials) expect us to ignore that, but I'm not going to take it. If you do, it will just happen again," said Joyce.

The youngsters spoke of some of the myths whites have retained about black people.

George Gaines, 16, of 805 Rincon Way, Santa Venetia, who although looking fierce with a high African-style haircut and goatee, actually had a very quiet and winning way. "Most white kids think all blacks are militants," he said.

JOYCE THIBODEAUX
Slugged white girl

Telling of a day when a rumor spread through the school that the Black Panthers were coming to stomp on white people, George, who came from Alabama last year, said: "You would never believe how many white kids wanted to be my friend that day. They wanted me to tell the Panthers I was their friend." George chuckled to himself after telling the story.

Arlene quickly joined George saying: "They think when black kids are together there will be a riot." Mrs. Margaret Rattray, administrator-in-charge of girls, said, didn't want the black students to stand around together or walk down the halls in a group.

Mrs. Rattray gave a different account of that incident, saying the black girls had cut a wide swath down the halls, bumping those that didn't get out of their way. The dean of girls said she told the girls they were irrating other youngsters and teachers. "Young ladies do not hit people," answered Mrs. Rattray to the charge that the black girls were punished unfairly for striking white girls. "And there is some debate as to whether any name calling did take place."

Arlene said the only time white people start thinking about helping black people is after a riot. The others agreed with her on that point.

Although Joe accepted the love theme of the hippies, he disavowed the more militant stance of the yippies. "It's the yippies that are messing things up and causing all the trouble," said Joe.

All agreed that today education was a necessity, but they also felt their chances of learning were better in a mostly white school than one with a majority of black students.

"If education was equal, everyone here would rather go to a black school," said Joe, "but tomorrow an all black school will be as good."

After talking about getting a better education in a white school, they said having black students at Terra Linda was also giving white students a better understanding of the world.

Joe Gaines, who was beaten the night before by four white youths, reflected for a moment, and said, "There are a lot of good people, you can't forget that."

(Tomorrow: What the adult community and the schools are doing.)

Esthetics Of Corte Madera Creek Plans Bring Applause

Preserving the natural beauty of Corte Madera Creek is uppermost in the minds of the Army Corps of Engineers, a uniformed colonel assured the Marin County Board of Supervisors this morning at Civic Center.

Col. Frank C. Boerger, district engineer, spoke of "textured borders" on the tops of the concrete channel that will be a part of the Corte Madera Creek flood control project. He spoke of landscaping, planting, channel screening and green vinyl fences "to mitigate the offensiveness of stark concrete."

Supervisor Chairman John F. McInnis said he was delighted with the extent to which the Army is now going to provide for esthetics on projects which in the past has been efficient, but sterile.

Colonel Boerger announced that the Army Corps of Engineers has adopted a policy of setting aside 3 per cent of the cost of a project for beautification.

Supervisors Michael Wornum and Peter F. Arrigoni Jr. said they do not think 3 per cent would be enough to provide adequate landscaping.

Neil R. Brixon of Greenbrae, member of the Corte Madera Creek Flood Control Advisory Board, got an assurance from Boerger that he would attend a public meeting in Ross on Feb. 27 to explain the beautification program. Brixon said the colonel's explanation is needed to soothe that town, which will be the hardest hit by the flood control project.

Colonel Boerger said these steps are being taken for the beautification of Corte Madera Creek:

A curing compound in the concrete will keep the concrete gray-green in color instead of bleached white. The top of the concrete wall will be textured. Bridges like Bon Air and Lagunitas will have landscaping and screening. Chain link fences and posts will be of green vinyl instead of the conventional light metal. Automatic sprinklers will be installed in landscaped areas to keep the plants irrigated. In the downstream mudflat areas that were dredged cord grass and pickleweed will be replanted to restore the natural appearance.

The colonel gave this overall picture of the flood control project:

The first phase, from the bay to Bon Air bridge, was completed last June at a cost of $500,000.

The second phase, from Bon Air bridge to College Avenue, is about half completed. It will cost $2,500,000, and should be finished by the end of this year.

The third phase, from College Avenue to Shady Lane bridge in Ross, will be concrete channel and will cost about $2,500,000. The contract has not been awarded, work will start about April 1970 and completion date is November 1971.

Four Are Selected To Aviation Panel

The Marin County Board of Supervisors today appointed four men to the county aviation commission, drawing a bitter complaint from outgoing Commissioner Benjamin R. Ostlind, who had sought reappointment.

Appointed were:

Al Hansen of San Rafael, business representative of Operating Engineers Local 3; Herbert M. Hanson, Kentfield investment banker; William W. Schwartzer, Mill Valley attorney, and incumbent Melville Dickson of Woodacre.

The terms of former chairman Tris M. Coffin, Douglas M. Christensen, Dickson and Ostlind expired Jan. 1.

Coffin, Dickson and Ostlind had asked reappointment to the seven-member commission, which serves without pay, but only Ostlind reacted publicly to the outcome.

Ostlind told the board, "I do not take this lightly." He said he was the only member to attend all 37 commission meetings and added, "I have been working terribly hard" on aviation matters.

Accusing the supervisors of "gross bad faith," he said he had not been reappointed because he had made too many "waves" in his espousal of aviation policy for the county. He then stormed out of the meeting.

Supervisors making the successful nominations were John I. McInnis for Hansen, Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. for Hanson, Michael Wornum of Schwartzer and Louis H. Baar for Dickson.

Teener Accused In Hit-Run Crash

Robert R. Adams, 17, of 111 Deer Hollow Road, Sleepy Hollow, was booked at juvenile hall on suspicion of car theft and hit-run driving after an accident Sunday night in Manor, the California Highway Patrol said today.

The patrol reported the accident yesterday but not Adams's arrest.

Adams was stopped by Fairfax police near the scene where a stolen car sideswiped two parked cars on Oak Manor Drive at 11:30 p.m. Witnesses said the driver fled.

Other witnesses said Adams was seen a few minutes later taking a coat and suitcase — later found to be his—from the stolen car. Police stopped him a moment later and turned him over to the highway patrol.

The patrol said the car, registered to Modesto Erquiaga, was reported stolen Friday by a San Francisco firm Adams works for.

Two Hurt In U-Turn Span Crash

A Kentfield man and an Oakland soldier were injured last night when the soldier tried a U-turn on Golden Gate Bridge, the California Highway Patrol said today.

Alfred C. Dowlin, 38, of headquarters company, Army personnel center, Oakland, was booked into San Francisco City Prison on suspicion of felonious drunken driving after the 9:45 p.m. accident.

The highway patrol said Dowlin was southbound and made the U-turn into the path of a car driven by Samuel Silverman, 55, of 8 Butterfly Lane, Kentfield.

Silverman, who had a cut chin and bruised ribs, was held overnight at Kaiser Foundation Hospital, San Francisco ,and released today.

Dowlin was treated for a cut leg at Mission Emergency Hospital before being booked. He was held in lieu of $2,500 bail and no time has been set for a court appearance, the jailer at city prison said.

Victim Misnamed

The Independent-Journal incorrectly reported yesterday the name of a woman who reported her Point Reyes Station home was burglarized and her piggy band robbed. The victim's name is Irene McWilliams, not Irene Simondi, as was reported.

Almonte Sanitary Aide Voted Raise

Almonte Sanitary District directors last night unanimously voted to give board secretary Betty Davis a 6 per cent salary increase, Director Robert C. Odmark reported.

Mrs. Davis, wife of director Herbert E. Davis, is now paid $125 a month, Odmark said.

Novato School Discipline Brings Split

Fears of eroding student discipline and teacher permissiveness in Novato schools were largely dismissed last night by students and school and county officials — to the apparent dissatisfaction of some parents. (Another Novato schools story, page 1.)

The occesion was a hearing called by the Novato Unified School District board last night after a group of parents expressed concern about conduct in the schools following the arrest in November of teacher James D. Kimmel on marijuana charges.

The meeting, at Marion School, consisted of panel discussions on two topics: what is being done to discipline disruptive students and why can't the school board dismiss teachers considered permissive by members of the community?

About 200 persons attended the hearing. Audience participation was limited to written questions at the conclusion of the panel discussions.

One spectator called the program a "railroad job" and a "whitewash." Other members of the audience muttered in dissatisfaction at panel opinions on student discipline.

Supt. James G. Bunker noted that hair styles and dress, upsetting to many people, are short-lived, and "in five years will be different and a lot of us won't like them."

W. Leigh Metteer, principal of Sinaloa Junior High School, recalled "when the first crew cut was suspended from school, and it later became the symbol of the All-American boy."

Trustee William Schneeflock said he was concerned about parents "who are afraid of their children," and want the schools to pass rules to make their children get a haircut or make them stop smoking.

"You and I have to assume responsiblity at home," he said.

Discipline was discussed by a nine-member panel: Police Chief Robert DiGrazia; Paul Mobley, assistant superintendent for instruction; Richard V. Godino, assistant county counsel; Stanley Onderdonk, principal of Novato High School; Nancy Glass, a student at San Marin High School; Steve Loegering, president of the student body at Novato High School; Bunker, Schneeflock and Metteer.

Bunker noted the country "is in the midst of tremendous change" and people are disturbed by changing patterns of behavior. He advocated self-discipline, which leads a student to achieve his goal without interrupting others from achieving their goals.

There was some muttering in the audience when Loegering said what is happening on college campuses is "is an overreaction to discipline they got in school."

Metteer said "only a very, very small minority of students" are discipline problems, and Onderdonk said "most students get along extremely well in school."

There are a lot of repeaters, giving the impression that there are a lot of bad students, but this isn't the case, Onderdonk said.

Chief DiGrazia said Juvenile arrests in 1968 reached 999, up 75 per cent from 1967, but there were many repeaters. "Maybe there was a hard core of 200."

He told of the program his department has started to have students ride with officers in patrol cars for better understanding, and he invited everyone in the audience to take a tour of duty with a patrol officer.

Tenure was discussed by a six-member panel: Arthur Atwood, president of the Novato Chapter, American Federation of Teachers; Jerrold D. Moore, president of the Novato Teacher Association; Ralph Giovanniello, deputy superintendent; Bunker, Godino and Schneeflock.

Bunker likened tenure to the job protection afforded civil service employees and many in private industry.

Giovanniello said tenure was established because in the past districts abused their firing power and he outlined Novato's system of hiring, evaluating and firing teachers.

"Dismissal is not just a matter of calling them in," he said. It is a very technical, legal procedure, and has to be based on cause, he explained.

Atwood, who said he was speaking only for himself, said teachers, as well as the community, want a competent staff, and aren't interested in "protecting incompetent people".

Moore opposed retaining teachers who are not properly prepared or who are "in any way detrimental to pupil welfare or to the school program."

Some teachers think that tenure gives them absolute protection against being dismissed and some poeple think there is no way a teacher can be dismissed, but neither is true, Godino said.

One resident asked what the procedure is for parents to complain about a teacher's conduct. Giovanniello said "the first person to go to is the teacher."

Board President Dan H. Barber was moderator of both discussions.

The complaint about the hearing procedure came in a written question.

It read, "Are you as educated men proud of the railroad job done tonite. Do you realize we the parents wanted a meeting for our reasons, not a white wash job and an evening of lecture on words we could look up! Do you feel, as teachers, that you know us, as parents, any better? I don't know how you could, since not one parent has been allowed the freedom to open his mouth."

Barber explained the meeting rules were established so the session could cover more ground, and not get stuck on one subject.

"Those of you who feel it was a white wash can come to me after the meeting, and we'll stay as long as you wish," he said.

A group of about 25 persons remained after the adjournment.

Trustee William Schneeflock pointed out that it wasn't an official school board meeting, and no policy could be set.

Barber, who acted as moderator, advised those who had matters to bring before the board seek a place on the regular board meeting agenda.

Drunken Driving Fines For Three

Three men, all arrested on Highway 101 by the California Highway Patrol, have been sentenced in Marin Municipal Court for drunken driving.

Willis Cornius Merrill, 44, of Oakland was sentenced to 60 days in the county jail, placed on two years probation and fined $302.

Francis Aloysius Raymond, 51, of 722 Belle Avenue, San Rafael was fined $150 and placed on six months probation.

Harry Nichols Maroevich, 42, of 22 Brentwood Drive, San Rafael, also was fined $150 and given six months probation.

Ross School Budget Estimated

A preliminary budget estimate of $416,778 for the 1969-70 fiscal year was submitted to the Ross School District trustees last night, reported Robert Gowan, superintendent.

This figure, said Gowan, does not include increase in teachers' salaries, purchase of equipment or increases in school maintenance costs. The 1968-69 fiscal budget totaled $437,947, but Gowan would not speculate if next year's budget would be higher. He predicted a firm budget figure by May.

Trustees Gay Maclise and Mrs. Marjorie McGeen will meet with a teachers' salary committee on Feb. 11 to discuss salary increases, said Gowan.

The trustees also voted to send a resolution to the County Committee on school district reorganization recommending a three-way split of the Tamalpais High School District, said Gowan. The trustees urged creating separate districts for Tamalpais, Drake and Redwood High Schools.

Petaluma Wreck Injures Two

Two persons were injured in a two-car accident Sunday at 10:15 a.m., at the intersection of Lakeville Highway and Freitas Road, east of Petaluma.

Nick Hahn, 17, of 425 Stewart Drive, Petaluma, was treated at Petaluma General Hospital for facial cuts, and Mrs. Pearl Madsen, 73, of Stockton, was treated for a cut forehead.

The California Highway Patrol said the Hahn car collided in the intersection with a car driven by Russell C. Madsen, 77, of Stockton.

Special Meeting On Unification

A special meeting of the Marin County Committee on School District Organization is scheduled for 8 p.m. today to consider adoption of a tentative unification study plan for the Tamalpais High School District area.

The committee meets at the county schools office, 201 Tamal Vista Boulevard, Corte Madera. It has four possible unification plans for the district area.

Why Promote Segregation Within Our Colleges?

Why black studies? Why a separate black studies department?

These are questions it seems nobody has asked, although demands for black studies departments staffed and controlled by blacks have been used as the excuse for student-faculty strikes that are maiming American higher education, in California and elsewhere.

Probably nobody has voiced the questions because of the nagging of conscience.

THE EVENTS of the last 10 years have made us all realize how little actually has been done to implement the 13th, 14th and 15th Amendments since they were added to the Constitution nearly a century ago.

With this realization has come a guilt complex. And because of it, we have not carefully examined claims and demands put forward ostensibly on behalf of Negro citizens.

So, when some of them asked for classes in colleges and high schools to teach them more about their own race, educators acceded readily — aware that few history books give the black American his due.

THIS WAS TOO EASY. But it opened the door for the separatist movement that had started with the Black Muslims and been taken over by the Black Panthers and Black Students Union. Its spokesmen, with the help of assorted New Left anarchists who allied themselves for the sake of starting trouble, increased the demands.

Instead of merely black history and culture courses, they demanded separate black studies departments, staffed by blacks.

When many of the colleges yielded readily even to this, they added two more : That these departments be controlled by the black students, and that they be set up and put into full operation immediately —right now!

These being impossible even for the most yielding and well-meaning college head to meet, the fat was in the fire.

BUT ALL THIS TIME, it seems, nobody had asked why there should be black studies or a black studies department.

Certainly, courses in Negro history and culture may help black Americans learn more about their own backgrounds. This may help them carry their heads higher. They need this.

But what purpose, in 20th Century America, is to be served by an entire curriculum of black studies — by a separate, segregated college department devoted entirely to them?

Will it help the black student become a better citizen? Will it give him a fuller, more rounded culture that will make his life have more meaning? Will it help him to rise in an integrated society?

It will do none of these. But it will do something else: make his segregation more complete than it has been at any time since the Civil War.

IT HAS REMAINED for the organization that has done most for the Negro's cause over the years to call a halt on this turning back of the calendar.

The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People has served notice that it will go to court to block creation of autonomous black studies departments on college campuses.

Thus, the responsible voice of responsible Negroes has been raised to voice the challenge that white citizens have been too guilt-ridden, too timid, too pusillanimous to raise.

It may be hoped this will encourage school administrators to ask the question that should have been asked in the first place.

Supervisors Need Closer Scrutiny

When other communities in the U.S. have had courage and determination to resolutely oppose the installation of anti-ballistic missiles in their area, why were some members of the board of supervisors irresolute in defending Marin County against this kind of arbitrary nuclear invasion? Should these elected officials (AND public servants) act in concert for the general good of total Marin, or react according to the sectional interest of their geopraphical districts? Is it probable that residents of West, North or Central Marin would be less concerned that the people in Wolf Grade area, should their locale be proposed as an ABM site? The accident factor is a realistic possibility, no matter what specious reassurance the ABM proponents attempt to convey.

Aside from special-interest groups, increased public attendance at BOS meetings would be an illuminating experience for citizens. As observers, to sense the supervisors' attitudes, the climate of discussion, the equity of decisions, the tempo set by chairman of the board, the breath (or bias) or posture . . .

The public should exercise the right or reasonable scrutiny of any level of government. Static attitudes cannot meet the critical requirements of today's society. . . .

Animal Birth Control Promoted

I was appalled to read recently that some 90 million dogs and cats are killed yearly in our pounds and shelters, for the "crime" of being surplus and unwanted animals. These are the tragic consequences of indiscriminate "back yard" breeding, of indifference and ignorance. With puppies and kittens being born at the rate of 180 a minute, 10,800 per hour, there simply are not and never could be enough homes for them all.

So I was glad to learn, and thought your readers might also, of a fine humane organization, the Animal Protection Institute of America, which is meeting this problem in a direct and practical fashion. They are planning low-cost spaying clinics in major cities throughout the country, to encourage the spaying of pets and discourage careless breeding.

Surely such an organization deserves the help and support of every decent, humane-minded person in the country. Should anyone wish further information about this program, they can drop a note or postcard to API, Box P, Sacramento, Calif. 95813. API also fights to protect all animals.

"We The People' Acquire Spokesman

We assume that we have a "free" society, a society wherein there are "free communications" between various important forces. When employers and employees are involved, we call it "meaningful negotiations."

In a communist or a fascist dictatorship it is otherwise. Or, perhaps, in a democracy during "all-out war" the free communications are set aside; the needs of such war say: "Orders."

Today, many conscientious teachers in higher education deeply feel the need to negotiate. Repeated frustration. Strikes. Their employers are the selected representatives of "the people" of our state.

But smiling Ronnie says, "I don't believe in public employees striking against the people." His "belief" is his excuse for shirking his responsibility to set up real negotiations. Like a child: "I don't want to."

"The people" have hired the governor to represent the people. Yes, "we, the People" demand that Governor Reagan act as if he were in democratic California.

Don't Let Freeways Take Over Again

Recently, Governor Reagan came out strongly for a "solution" to San Francisco's freeway problem, citing in particular the "dire straits" of Marin County commuters.

Presently, the traffic congestion on the south side of Golden Gate Bridge is a major factor in stemming a flood of would-be motorists from inundating Marin County with traffic every weekend. It would be surprising to me if Marin County residents really favor improving the freeway access into their county.

Top-Secret File Tells Story Of Hope, Discouragement

WASHINGTON — On one particular top-secret file which the Nixon Administration inherits, much of the future turns, not just for a new political order but for mankind. In that most secret of files is both heartbreak and hope.

How this blueprint for negotiation with the Soviet Union to try to check the nuclear arms race — it is just that — was put together is a largely untold story. A painstaking record of patience and persistence, all that has been done may still come to nought with the change of administrations.

When Sec. of Defense Melvin R. Laird was before the Seante Armed Services Committee for a confirmation hearing he was asked whether he believed negotiation with the Russians should be delayed until the United States was demonstrably strong enough to enter such negotiations. His reply was interpreted as suggesting a postponement of nine to 12 months.

"We have to start preparing all over again," he told the committee, "so that we can meet with success in these negotiations."

STARTING all over again has a dismaying sound to those who put so many hundreds of hours into getting complete agreement on a negotiating blueprint. The work began after former President Lyndon B. Johnson's meeting with Premier Alexei Kosygin at Glassboro, N. J., in June of 1967.

Two committees were formed. One was top level, representing State, Defense, the Joint Chiefs of Staff, the Atomic Energy Commission and the heads of the Disarmament Agency. Contrary to what is often the practice, the top men rather than substitutes were present at almost every meeting.

The second committee was made up of technicians devoting full time to working out agreed principles for the American approach to negotiation on both anti-ballistic missiles and offensive missiles. Occasionally the two committees met together to coordinate their efforts. What evolved, as one of the principal participants put it, was complete agreement by all parties on a basis set of guide lines. This meant a green light for what could prove to be the most momentous conference between the two nuclear giants since the end of World War II.

While this work was going on, Johnson and Kosygin were exchanging letters. In the file are at least a dozen separate exchanges between the two heads of state. When and if this correspondence is ever published it will show one of the most remarkable diplomatic adventures in recent history.

JOHNSON'S objective, as the letters went back and forth between Washington and Moscow, was to educate Kosygin as to the fantastic cost of an all-out ABM system — a minimum of $40 billion and probably a lot more — and what this would mean in strain on the economies of the two countries. He underscored the futility of such a system.

Increasingly the response out of Moscow favored a conference. The preliminaries were discussed. The President had his bags packed for Geneva or Moscow. Then came the heartbreak. On the night of Aug. 20-21 the Russians invaded Czechaslovakia.

But still the President and his close collaborators refused to believe that all their work had gone down the drain.

THE ULTIMATE decision would be up to the incoming administration.

Moscow has just signalled a strong interest in the talks. President Nixon's inaugural address was a fervent commitment to the search for peace. So the top-secret file on missiles may be the first order of business in the new White House.

Haerle's Quitting Sacramento Raises Republican Speculations

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

When one of Marin's fastest rising political stars quits a key post in the Reagan administration, the question naturally arises, why?

Paul R. Haerle, appointments secretary for the past two years, conceded he is leaving partly because of what he termed "an economic differential" between the $20,000-a-year salary and the income he previously enjoyed as an attorney practicing in a large San Francisco firm.

"Two years was the maximum I could invest in it," he said of his Sacramento job.

His decision also was based on his preference for being a practicing attorney instead of a professional staff man, he told the Independent-Journal.

HE WILL REJOIN the law firm on March 1, and commute until summer, when he and his family will move back from Sacramento to San Rafael.

Haerle insisted he has "no political plans," except to try for the job of secretary of the California Republican Central Committee.

That post traditionally is two rungs down from the state chairmanship, but only for someone from Southern California. Haerle would have a long wait, and at age 37 he is not used to waiting.

Other versions hold that Haerle was squeezed out of his administration job as a result of office politics, and another is that he left so he could be freer to seek elected office.

But Haerle denies he has any interest in trying for Marin's Assembly or Senate seats if either became available — a denial some find unconvincing.

There are also reports he is interested in getting a job in the Nixon administration, but California patronage is in the hands of former California Lt. Gov. Robert H. Finch — no particular friend of Reagan or his minions.

Haerle's assistant in the appointments office, incidentally, James J. Crumpacker, also a former Marinite, now is assistant for program development in the administration. That's the public relations term for public relations.

SOME BRIGHT SOUL in the capitol in Sacramento last week arranged for new signs to be driven into the walls outside the office doors of all 80 assemblymen — just about one week before most of them will be shifting offices and committees as the Republicans take over.

Former Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh, D-Los Angeles, now demoted, did not like his new sign, which read "minority leader." So he had it replaced with one that reads "Assembly Democratic leader."

ONE ILLUSTRATION of the fact that Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, is close to the new GOP leadership running the lower house is that his desk assignment was moved from an outside aisle to the second row on the center aisle.

That puts him in the middle of the most important huddles on the floor — and that's where the action is.

Two Kinds Of Racism In Britain's Tough Problem

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

When Britain a year ago passed legislation drastically curtailing immigration of nonwhites, she created a whole new class of men without a country and for herself a moral problem.

The problem concerns the future of up to 200,000 Asian holders of British passports who are being deprived of their means of livelihood in Kenya, Zambia, Uganda and Tanzania.

Britain's hopes of finding a solution during the recently concluded meeting of commonwealth prime ministers collapsed when the four nations named above boycotted meetings of a 17-nation committee set up to discuss it.

THEY HAD demanded assurances that Britain would revise the Commonwealth Immigrants Act of 1968, which limits non-white immigration to 1,500 a year plus dependents even though the applicant holds and travels on a British passport.

This Britain refused to do on the grounds that most of the Asians seeking entry would arrive penniless and that the services of Britain's welfare state already are over-burdened.

Each side has accused the other of racism.

MOST OF THOSE affected are in Kenya, which has the largest communities of noncitizens, including about 160,000 Indians or Pakistanis.

On the side of the African nations, the purge mainly is against those who elected to retain British passports rather than take citizenship in the newly independent countries. The Africans claim such persons have no loyalties to the country from which they take their living.

In Kenya, the economy is about 80 per cent in Indian hands.

The purge of Indian shopkeepers and traders is more active now than a year ago when 20,000 panicky Indians and Pakistanis fled the country, mostly to Britain but also to India and Pakistan.

It was that exodus that led to passage of Britain's restrictive immigration act.

SINCE MANY of Asian descent were born in Africa, neither India nor Pakistan wants them. Burma began expelling Indians in 1965.

It bothers the British conscience, but Britons don't want them either.

Kenya limits the amount of money a departing alien may take with him, and one suggestion is that Britain could advance funds to these people departing under duress, balancing British aid to Kenya against these frozen funds.

Sousa? Oh, Sure–He's The Fire Chief In San Anselmo

Some time ago, Rosemary Edwards, music teacher for the Novato schools, was talking to the music students at Pacheco School. Her topic was John Philip Sousa, the march king who died in 1932. She hoped that a few of the students would have heard of him. So she asked that all who knew of Sousa stand up.

To her surprise, all of the students stood. Then it came out. They were thinking of Carol Sousa, the clerk at the Pacheco School Library.

WHEN THE SATURDAY Evening Post distributes its last issue on Feb. 6, one Novato resident will shed a tear.

That is Paul Brindel, because he once contributed an article to that famous magazine which was a household word in America for generations.

Brindel, a native of Kansas, was a college chum of Wesley Stout, son of the managing editor of the Kansas City Star. In 1936, Stout became editor of the Saturday Evening Post.

At that time, Brindel was appraising houses for the California Veterans Administration in San Francisco. He wrote to Stout suggesting an article on housing.

By lucky coincidence, the Post had an issue coming with 40 pages of housing advertising and needed an article on housing. So Stout asked his old friend Brindel to do the article, giving him a week to turn it out.

The article, entitled "Eighty-seven Questions To Ask Your House," appeared in the Feb. 20, 1937, issue of the Post. It included a picture of Brindel's house in San Francisco. The house had cost Brindel $4,400 and the picture caption said it would cost $6,500 to duplicate it at the inflated prices of 1937. (Brindel said he saw it listed recently for $30,000.)

Brindel received $500 for the article and used it to go to France.

Nixon Threat To Humorists Or Humor Threat To Presidency?

Dear President Nixon:

This will be the fist of many letters I will write to you in the next four years telling you how to run the country. You'll be very happy to hear that there is no charge for this advice as I fell it's my duty as a loyal American to help the President solve the many problems of the day.

Now the first thing, Mr. President, I think you're going to have to stop is the jokes. I watched you on television making the rounds of the inaugural balls last week, and while I chuckled as much as you did at everything you had to say, my fear is that you can't keep up that pace of humor and also perform the duties of President of the United States.

The trouble with being President and using witty lines is that by the third time you've told them everyone in the country has heard them, and you get to sound like a recorded announcement.

I'M NOT SAYING you shouldn't have humor in your administration, because heaven knows the country needs a laugh, but I think you could turn this problem over to your vice president, Mr. Agnew, or if worse comes to worst your secretary of the interior, Walter Hickel.

As a matter of fact, there are many people in Washington, including Congress, the Supreme Court and the Pentagon, who can provide the laughs for this country, without you having to work on your own humor.

It's a strain to come up with quips every day, and while there is no doubt in my mind that you could do it, I don't want you to feel you have to. Warren Harding and Calvin Coolidge did tremendous jobs as Presidents, and I doubt fi you'll find six humorous things either one of them said that people are still quoting.

I must admit you had a few beauts on inaugural night. That one about Spiro Agnew marrying above himself was a rib-tickler, and the one about former President Eisenhower saying he was glad he called you the night before the inauguration so he could still call you "Dick" was a beaut, and the one about someone giving you the key to the White House and you thought you better go there was good enough for "Laugh-In."

THE ONLY ONE I didn't understand was the joke about Guy Lombardo. You said at the Smithsonian that you and Pat had danced to Guy Lombardo's orchestra on VJ night, and you hoped Guy Lombardo would still be playing when the next war ended.

I started to laught at that one and then I got pretty shaken. Mr. President, do you know something we don't know?

I know it's gratuitous for me to discuss your humor with you, but I thought if I mentioned it now, it might save you time later on. No one can come up with as many good one-liners as you did on inaugural night, and keep it up for four years.

I've balked it over with my colleagues, Russ Baker, Art Hoppe, Herblock, Bill Mauldin, Paul Conrad, and many other people in the political humor business and we all agreed that you should be spared the problem of entertaining us while running the country. To paraphrase the Greyhound Bus advertisement: "Go Air Force One and leave the joking to us."

Sincerely,
A. B.

P.S. How could Guy Lombardo still be playing after the next war?

Mansfield Sees Filibuster Change—Not This Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — Majority Leader Mike Mansfield says efforts to change the Senate's filibuster rule ar ebound to succeed, but apparently not in this Congress.

Mansfield reported yesterday that efforts to work out a compromise between opponents and defenders of Rule 22, which requires a two-thirds vote to shut of debate, were unsucessful.

But he predicted that "in time —in my opinion, a very short time," the Senate would vote to let a majority invoke cloture. This, he said, would change the basic character of the Senate as a deliberative body to the detriment of both the Senate and the country.

The last hope for a change this session was today's vote on a petition by 35 senators—27 Democrats and eight Republicans — to end debate and allow a vote on a motion to consider a proposal that would let three-fifths of the senators voting and present invoke cloture.

The motion has been pending for three weeks but defenders of the present two-thirds rule have filibustered against it, preventing a vote.

The fight over the Senate's cloture rule broke out shortly after Congress convened. It was a repetition of what has happened at the start of each new Congress in recent years.

The session's first vote on cutting off the debate was taken Jan. 16. The count was 51 to 47, 15 short of a two-thirds majority.

Iraq's Hanging Of 14 Bringing World Scorn

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Iraq's public hanging of 14 men, including nine Jews, on charges of spying for Israel drew widespread condemnation around the world today.

Coupled with reactions of shock and outrage was an Israeli report that another group of Jews was threatened with execution in Iraq, an Arab participant in the June war of 1967. Iraq still has some troops based in Jordan near Israel's frontier.

The Vatican City newspaper L'Osservatore Romano deplored the hangings and said the cause of peace in the Middle East "can only seriously suffer."

The newspaper disclosed that the Vatican had appealed to the Baghdad government through an envoy of Pope Paul VI for clemency.

Israel's ambassador to the United Nations, Joel Barromi, told Secretary-General U Thant that death threatened another group of jews in Iraq. Thant said he would look into the report immediately.

After the Iraqi government announced that the 14 were hanged yesterday for spying for Israel, Iraqi Information Minister Abdullah El Samarrai told a news conference in Baghdad that 65 other persons would be brought to trial soon on charges of spying for Israel and plotting against the Iraqi government. Barromi in his warning to Thant possibly was referring to members of this group.

Israel denied that those executed were spying for her and said their only crime was being Jewish. Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban in a statement to Thant said the Baghdad government "has perpetrated an act of barbarity which exceeds even what the world has come to expect from a country in which violence and murder have become almost commonplace."

Thant expressed fear that the executions would upset U.N. efforts to achieve peace in the Middle East. The Iraqi delegation to the United Nations at once complained that Thant was mixing in something that was "entirely an internal affair of Iraq."

Former Ambassador and Supreme Court Justice Arthur Goldberg, the president of the American Jewish Committee, expressed "shock and outrage" and urged the United States and the United Nations to "join with us in condemning what has occurred."

In Rome, more than 1,000 shouting Jews marched to the Iraqi Embassy today, and hurled stones and other objects against the building, breaking several windows.

Police guards pushed the crowd back and scuffled with youths in the crowd. An older demonstrator collapsed, apparently from a heart attack.

Two Treated For Injuries

Two residents of McNear's Beach, San Rafael, were treated at Marin General Hospital Friday night following an accident on Third Street near Embarcadero Way, police reported.

George Wendell Wilson, 21, the driver, was treated for cuts and scrapes of his face, and Deborah Ann Wilson, 17, a passenger, for cuts on her chest and left knee.

Police said Wilson's car jumped the curb and hit a metal power pole, snapping it off and causing a local blackout.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Infants' Better Chances Aid Life Expectancy For All Ages

VAN DELLEN

Life expectancy statistics are made up on a group basis, usually per 100,000 of the population, and represent the projected average length of life of all its members. In other words, at any age following birth, the life expectancy is the average number of years remaining to each person in that group.

Figures change yearly, and when a particularly hazardous period is passed (such as infancy), the chances of living longer are better and this good fortune is reflected in life enxpectancy tables.

CHILDHOOD IS AN especially dangerous period. In any group of 100,000 newborns, more than 95,000 will celebrate their first birthdy. Of the remainder, all but one-quarter of 1 per cent will live for a third year.

The percentage of deaths lessens with each succeeding year, until by age 10, less than one-tenth of 1 per cent die.

The reason our life expectancy at birth is so good is that childhood now is safer because of vaccines, penicillin, and progress in infant care.

LIFE EXPECTANCY in middle-aged or older males has not changed much. Men who lived to be 60 in 1850 had to be healthy to survive. Their life expectancy on raching 60 was 15.6 years, in contrast to the 1953 figure of 15.8.

Not too great a difference, but one that represents

Glen G. Lovitt, 15, and James R. Lank, 16, both of Simi Valley, Ventura County, were booked on suspicion of burgling the homes of Irving Igdaloff at 135 Glen Drive, and Jack Shelton at 69 Crecienta. Sonoma State Boosts Services For Marin

Sonoma State College's extension program in Marin County continues to grow at a rapid pace, making it the largest program in the six county area, according to Dr. Carroll V. Mjelde, dean of educational services and summer sessions.

Students in Marin comprise more than 25 per cent of the students in the service area that includes Sonoma, Solano, Napa, Lake and a portion of Mendocino County.

Dr. Mjelde said that in the 1967-68 school year a total of 4,079 took advantage of the programs and said he expects the number to increase to more than 6,000 this year.

Coordinating the program through he Marin County Superintendent of Schools office, he said it attempts to provide courses for continuing education for teachers as well as for persons not seeking a degree. And many courses are taught by teachers residing in Marin.

"Many people have vocational or personal interests in some of our programs," Dr. Mjelde said, "So we try to develop a program to meet individual needs."

"Some adults would hesitate going to a college campus for courses because they are not oriented to a degree program, so by holding classes in local schools, we find these students are more at ease," he said.

Dr. Mjelde said extension programs are designed to stretch the strengths of the college to the community and predicted community problems will soon become a part of extension programs.

He indicated this trend has already begun with local seminars such as conferences on drug abuse planned in the Marin-Sonoma area.

Nearly 100 Sonoma State courses will be offered in Marin County during the spring semester which begins the week of Feb. 10. Dr. Mjelde said anyone interested in receiving an extension division bulletin of classes should contact Lawrence A. Lindberg at the Marin superintendent's office or the educational services department at Sonama State.

Some of the classes offered in Marin are:

Mill Valley Approves Flood Design Criteria

Design standards for the Arroyo Corte Madera del Presidio recommended in the 701 planning study for the Miller Avenue, downtown and Alto shopping areas were approved last night by the Mill Valley Planning Commission.

Commissioners made no recommendation on a specific design for the creek as a future flood control channel but indicated, instead, that the several design possibilities required further study before the flood control channel is approved according to Planning Director Harvey E. Bragdon.

In a general policy statement, the commission said the creek design should be compatible with existing and future development along the creek.

Design standards recommended by the 701 study, specify that from Gardner Street to Throckmorton Avenue and from Sunnyside Avenue to Willow Lane the creek should be maintained in its natural condition while between Throckmorton and Sunnyside avenues and from Willow Lane to Richardson Bay, the creek should reflect the "more man-modified setting, avoiding materials and construction details with natural or rustic overtones."

Public access should be facilitated and pedestrian and bicycle trails should be developed along the entire right of way, the 701 study said.

The Mill Valley Planning Commission Also:

DENSITY — Increased the density for 17 acres owned by Manuel Gomez on Camino Alto above the Christian Science Church from between 1.5 and 2 dwelling units to three units per acre. Gomez had asked for a density of 5.4 units per acre.

VARIANCE — Approved a variance requested by Fred W. Peters Jr. of 325 Buena Vista Avenue to permit construction of a car deck with no sideyard setback at one corner instead of the required 10 feet.

STUDY — Named Commissioners Sally Garoutte, Harlan L. Soeten and Robert E. Burton to a committee to study and make recommendations on the housing element to be included in the general plan as required by state law.

ELECTION — Named Richard J. Hiatt chairman; Burton vice chairman; Mrs. Garoutte liaison to the city-county planning council; and Edward J. Boessenecker, liaison to the city council.

Marijuana Case Over To Monday

The case of Ronnell Alan Bell, 19, of no fixed address, charged with possessing marijuana in his tree house on Professional Parkway, San Rafael, Oct. 13, was continued yesterday in Marin Municipal Court until Monday.

Charges were not pressed against Bell at the time of his arrest in October while the drug found was analyzed by chemists. In the meantime he had left Marin County, Bell said.

A date for a preliminary hearing will be set Monday.

Joint Meeting Set

The Mill Valley City Council and chamber of commerce will hold a joint luncheon meeting at noon Saturday at the Palate restaurant to "discuss subjects of mutual concern."

Chamber Board Vacancy Filled

Samuel W. Schneider, owner of Varney's Hardware, was named to the Mill Valley Chamber of Commerce board yesterday replacing Clifford D. Brock, who died Jan. 16.

Schneider was also named chairman of the annual teachers luncheon, a post previously held by Brock, Secretary-Mgr. Granville L. Beedle reported.

Directors also agreed to hold the chamber's annual dinner on Feb. 21 at Sabella's Beedle said.

No Quorum

The Lagunitas School District board meeting scheduled for last night was postponed due to lack of a quorum. A new date for the meeting has not yet been set.

Kent School Annex Plan Eyed Again

The Kentfield School District board last night discussed further the proposed building by the county schools office of a four-classroom annex next to the Adaline E. Kent School campus.

Supt. Anthony G. Bacich said the plan, for teaching hearing handicapped pupils, calls for the county schools office to acquire the land. The district would apply for the approximately $200,000 in state funds required for construction.

Bacich said half of this amount would be donated in state funds, and the other half would be repaid to the district by the county schools office and the district would then reimburse the state.

The Kentfield School District board also:

RESIGNATION — Accepted resignation of Elva Byrne as a teacher at Greenbrae School. She has been on maternity leave.

PROGRAM — Heard reports by six teachers on the district's arithmetic program.

CENTER — Signed a formal agreement to participate with the San Anselmo and Dixie School districts in the Kentfield Child Center Program for special handling of children with severe learning disabilities.

GRADUATION — Set 7 p.m., June 11, at the College of Marin Gymnasium for graduation ceremonies of eighth graders at Kent School.

Wellman Is Seeking Board Re-election

Theodore C. Wellman, president of the Marin Junior College District board, yesterday filed his candidacy papers for re-election.

Wellman resides at 1 Vista Drive, Kentfield. His term and those of two other board members, Robert E. Oliver and Donald K. Felt, expire June 30. Election is April 15.

2 Bandits Force Jetliner To Cuba

MIAMI (AP) — Two men armed with a revolver and what appeared to be a bomb hijacked a National Airlines jet high over the Gulf of Mexico today and forced the pilot, Capt. James Brown, to fly them to Cuba.

The plane landed in Havana at 10:03 a.m. EST.

The crew brought the plane back, landing in Miami at 10:15 a.m. (PST). Another plane was being readied to pick up the passengers at the Cuban airport of Vanradero, where they were transported by bus from Havana.

It was the second National plane taken over by aerial pirates in five days. A Key West to New York flight was commandeered and taken to Havana Friday by a knife-wielding man who said he deserted the U.S. Navy because he did not want to go to Vietnam and kill.

Shortly after 6 a.m., Brown advised the Miami control tower that two men were in the cockpit, one brandishing "some kind of an explosive" and the other holding a .38-caliber revolver at the pilot's head.

"Please be advised we are going to Havana," Brown said tersely.

The plane was on a flight from Los Angeles and had stopped at Houston. It was bound from New Orleans to Miami with 25 passengers and seven crewmen aboard and was 200 miles west of Tampa when the message was radioed.

Others in the crew were co-pilot James Durr, flight engineer David Schneider, and stewardesses Barbara Mohney, Victoria Sikorski, Pamela Yorba and Donna Yost.

It was the ninth commercial airliner hijacked to Cuba this year. One other attempt failed.

Clerk Identifies Suspected Pair In Theft Of TV

Two men were booked in Marin County Jail yesterday on citizen's arrests for investigation of petty theft in San Anselmo.

San Anselmo police reported a clerk at Red Hill Television Electronics, Red Hill shopping center, said Theodore Anthony Barulich, 32, of San Francisco, and John Dominio Correnti, 42, of 116 Carlotta Circle, Mill Valley, stole a small television set from the store about 3:20 p.m. yesterday.

Brown gave officers a description of their car, police said, and the pair was apprehended in the center soon after. Officers said Brown identified both men, but the television set was not recovered.

Barulich was freed on $940 bail and was scheduled to appear in Marin Municipal Court this afternoon. Correnti, also to appear today, was freed on $315 bail.

Flu Hits Poland

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — One-sixth of Warsaw's population—more than 200,000 people, are suffering from Hong Kong flu, Polish papers said today.

Lagunitas Teen-Ager Accused Of Dope

Mark W. Goldberg, 19, of Lagunitas was arrested yesterday by San Rafael police on suspicion of possessing marijuana and having a pipe to smoke it.

Goldberg was arrested, police said after owners of the Antique Alley shop at 1314 Tamalpais Avenue, San Rafael, asked investigation of him for suspected shoplifting. Officers, in searching Goldberg, found marijuana and a pipe, they said. Goldberg was released on $625 bail and is to appear in Marin Municipal Court at 2 p.m. tomorrow.

Sentence Of Life For Sommerhalder

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — Johnny Lee Sommerhalder, 25, was sentenced to life imprisonment yesterday in Sonoma Superior Court for the murder of Charles Kaufmann, a Santa Rosa Junior College student, on Oct. 7, 1967.

Sommerhalder changed his innocent plea to guilty last Wednesday before Judge Lincoln F. Mahon. The trial had been in its second day of jury selection.

He had already been convicted and sentenced to die by a Marin county jury for the murders of Curtis and Shirley Ackley in their Santa Venetia trailer home on Jan. 12, 1968.

In Sonoma County, Sommerhalder was charged with shooting Kaufmann to death and kidnaping and raping Kaufmann's companion in a secluded lovers' lane section of Santa Rosa. District Atty. Kiernan Hyland dropped the kidnap and rape charges when the murder plea was changed.

Jack Brockman, 21, a member of Sommerhalder's "Grim Reapers" motorcycle gang, was convicted of the Kaufmann murder on Sept. 11 and sentenced to life imprisonment. A third gang member, Kenneth Preston, 20, was sentenced to one to 15 years on the kidnap charge in the Kaufmann murder.

Preston was also convicted and given the death penalty in Marin County for the Ackley murders.

Rumor Is Held False On VA Dividend Pay

Persistent reports that certain veterans may get up to $200 on an unpaid 1948 GI insurance dividend are false, the Veterans Administration declared today.

Gordon R. Elliott, manager of VA's Northern California regional office, said that dozens of California newspapers, radio and TV stations are still carrying reports of this dividend.

James V. Burdick, VA service officer for Marin, said his office has received a half dozen calls from veterans who had heard the false report.

Imlay Named To Bay Area Crime Panel

BERKELEY — Sausalito City Councilman Alexander R. Imlay has been appointed to represent Marin County on the Association of Bay Area Governments' regional criminal justice advisory board.

Sonoma County Supervisor Arthur Ruonavaara and that county's chief probation officer, William Mulligan, also were named to the 24-member board by the president of ABAG. Contra Costa County Supervisor James P. Kenny.

Imlay is an attorney.

The board is to receive a $113,000 federal planning grant to draw a comprehensive plan to improve law enforcement in the nine-county Bay Area.

The Crime Control and Safe Streets Act by Congress will channel funds for law enforcement programs to local governments, but first requires that comprehensive plans be drawn, stating which regional needs are most important.

Named chairman of the board was San Francisco Supervisor Terry A. Francois. Also a member is Shirley Temple Black of Woodside who was selected to represent the public.

TELEVISION REVIEW

Status Of The Black Person Picking Up In The Industry

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Ebony, the black-oriented magazine, have given space to a major article about Negroes in television. And the fact that it is basically a hopeful and positive article is of significance.

Pointedly, the added fact that the piece is not a bit of Pollyanna fluff, and does not look at television through rose-colored glasses, is also significant. The writer, Louie Robinson, knows what things are all about, and has a healthy perspective.

"It must be remembered," he writes, "that although there is now a brighter minority employment picture on the tube, the Negro's high visibility makes him appear to be in greater TV abundance than he really is.

"The most recent surveys of the Joint Equality Committee formed by the artists, directors, screen actors and writers' guilds in New York showed that minorities got only about 6 per cent of the acting jobs and less than 3 per cent of the commercials."

The title of Robinson's article is: "TV discovers the Black Man." And a subtitle section adds: "Unprecedented large number of Afro-Americans make appearances on top network shows."

Robinson points out properly that this television season has been, "in a rather strong sense...the year of the black people." He writes:

"Click! There's a big, bad, black stud riding tall in the saddle, with lightning in his gun-hand and a deadly eye...." He is talking about ABC-TV's "The Outcasts."

"Click! There's a lean young cat wearing a natural who knows where it's at and tells it like it is; but watch him, he's the fuzz." He is talking about ABC-TV's "Mod Squad."

"Click! Click! There's the finest little brown girl you ever wanted to see, lives in a sharp pad and has this kid; her husband got clobbered in Vietnam." He is talking about NBC-TV's "Julia."

According to Robinson, "A monitoring survey made four years ago showed that, in a five-hour viewing period, three Negroes were likely to be seen on TV, two of them for less than a minute....At the beginning of the 1968-69 television season, there were black people starring or costarring in 14 network evening shows...

"And in the housewives' domain of daytime TV, the drama and the trauma of the soap opera is no longer for whites only. Colored people have problems too. In further daytime adventures, black contestants are no longer a rarity on the quiz shows."

Things, however, are still far from perfect from the black point of view. Quoted in the article is Ivan Dixon, a Negro performer in CBS-TV's "Hogan's Heroes," who says:

"The industry does feel a need to project black images, but they don't really know how. It's kind of confusing on the part of film producers basically because they still don't really comprehend what and where we really are."

Today is Tuesday, Jan. 28, the 28th day of 1969 with 337 to follow.

The moon is between its first quarter and full phase. The morning stars are Mars and Jupiter. The evening stars are Venus and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1915 Congress passed legislation creating the U.S. Coast Guard.

In 1922 the roof of Washington's Knickerbocker Theatre collapsed under the weight of heavy snow, killing 95 persons.

In 1963 Harvey Gantt became the first Negro to attend school with whites in South Carolina by enrolling without incident at Clemson College.

In 1965 Nicholas Katzenbach was named Attorney General.

A thought for the day: Isaac Goldberg said, "Diplomacy is to do and say the nastiest thing in the nicest way."

After Bid Of Two Clubs Show Your Partner Both Major Suits

When you use an opening bid of two clubs as your only way of showing a very powerful hand you can indicate a strong no-trump hand by your rebid. A rebid of two no-trump promises 23 or 24 points; a jump to three no-trump shows 25 or 26 points.

TWO NO-TRUMP

South would open with two no-trump if he had one point less than his actual hand. North would then pass.

With a full 23 points, South opens with two clubs and then bids two no-trump. North can afford to raise to game with his meager values.

This method enables the opener to describe a strong no-trump hand to within one point of its actual value. Responder will tell accurately whether the combined count is likely to be the 26 points needed for game or the 33 needed for slam.

EARLY START

South must overtake dummy's jack of spades with the king, beginning early with a cautious line of play. Dummy's spade entry must be saved until South knows what to do with it.

South needs three diamond tricks for his contract and should begin by leading the ace of diamonds. Then he switches to the king of hearts. East refuses the trick and likewise refuses the queen of hearts at the next trick, hoping to hamper declarer by preventing him from getting to dummy with the jack of hearts.

NOT DISTURBED

As it happens, South is not disturbed. He leads a low diamond, using dummy's nine to drive out the jack. West's discard makes the diamond situation crystal clear.

East can take the ace and ten of hearts, but then declarer can get to dummy with the queen of spades to lead a diamond for a finesse through East's queen.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with two clubs, you bid two diamonds, and partner bids two no-trump.

It is once more up to you, holding:

♥— 8 5 2
♦— 7
♣— K Q 10 4

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid three spades. If partner has three-card spade support you prefer a contract of four spades to three no-trump.

George Archer Picks Up $25,000 Crosby Prize

PEBBLE BEACH (AP)—Your average golfer doesn't generally consider double bogeys and triple bogeys blessings in disguise. But then, George Archer isn't your average golfer.

Sitting in an overstuffed chair while sipping a short beer, Archer was flushed with victory after carrying off the $25,000 first prize in the Bing Crosby National Pro-Amateur Golf Tournament. He shot a 71 yesterday for a 283 total, five strokes under par.

One stroke back on the Pebble Beach course were Bob Dickson and Howie Johnson, who found missed putts costly, and third-round leader Dale Douglass, who got that close with a birdie on the final hole.

They were that close only because of what had happened to Archer the day before. Playing the back nine of the Spyglass Hill course, Archer got bogged down in sand on the 17th and 18th holes and took a double and triple bogey.

He came in with three birdie putts and finished at even par, two strokes behind Douglass and one in back of Johnson.

"If I hadn't made double bogey and triple bogey," the 29-year-old pro said, "I'd have teed off today with a five-shot lead and I'd have been scared to death. It's the hardest thing in the world to keep a lead."

Dickson who turned 25 Saturday, shot one of the day's best rounds, a 68, but missed a tie for the lead when he blew a 10-inch putt while three-putting the 11th hole.

"It's one of the shortest putts I've ever missed," he said. "I rushed it. I guess I wanted to get it over with.

"I have quite a record. I do quite well in a tournament or I miss the cut. I've still got a long way to go and a lot to learn."

Johnson, from Palm Springs, Calif., was tied with Archer but missed a 12-foot par putt on 17 and slipped a stroke. Douglass bogeyed seven, eight and nine to drop out of contention.

Jack Nicklaus, at 71—287, Billy Casper at 70—290 and Arnold Palmer at 73—297 were well out of contention while young John Lotz, shooting a 72, came up to take fifth place at 285.

Dickson and actor Jack Ging, won the pro-am best ball competition with a 64 yesterday and a 257 total. Dickson added the $3,500 first prize to his winnings.

Archer, fourth leading money with more than $150,000 on the tour last year but still not the best known of golfers, now sets his sights on the Masters, U.S. Open and PGA titles.

The reason, he says, is the extra money that goes to the winner of those prestigious titles, but he remains almost boyish about playing golf.

"I've heard a lot of guys say, 'If I could make a million dollars I'd quit golf', but if someone offered me a million to quit. I wouldn't do it.

"I remember the first year I went on the tour, I figured if I could make $10,000 it would be a lot of money.

"By the way," he said, looking up at the scoreboard, "what did I make? Nobody told me."

His wife quickly filled him in.

Sentimental Journey For Walter Mails

SPECIAL DELIVERY MAILS — When Walter "The Great" Mails is inducted into the Marin County Hall of Fame Friday night at Mill Valley it will be a sentimental journey for the former major league pitching star.

During a chat yesterday Mails told me that it was in Mill Valley that he donned his very first baseball uniform.

"That was in 1912 or 1913," he recalled. "At the time I pitched for the San Quentin Grammar School team and we played in our street clothes. But one day a man named Walter Krausgrill saw me pitch against San Rafael Grammar School and asked me if I'd like to pitch for the Mill Valley semi-pro team. It was sponsored by the Bass Hueter Paint Co. and they had beautiful blue uniforms trimmed in white. It was quite a thrill because I was so young and dreamed of playing in a uniform. Of course, I jumped at the chance. I don't remember how I got from San Quentin to Mill Valley, but I think maybe my grandfather drove me down in his horse and buggy.

Teammate In Mill Valley

"My memory is a bit hazy after all these years, but I remember another player on that Mill Valley team was Tommy Bickerstaff who is still living in Marin County. I hope he'll come to the Hall of Fame affair Friday night."

Mails said semi-pro baseball was big stuff in Marin County during his childhood as every little town had its own team. Mails finally organized one at San Quentin — but barely. "We had only eight boys in town," he said, "so we had to use a girl named Hazel Williams as our right fielder. It turned out that she was a helluva player. She could run, throw, hit, slide — everything."

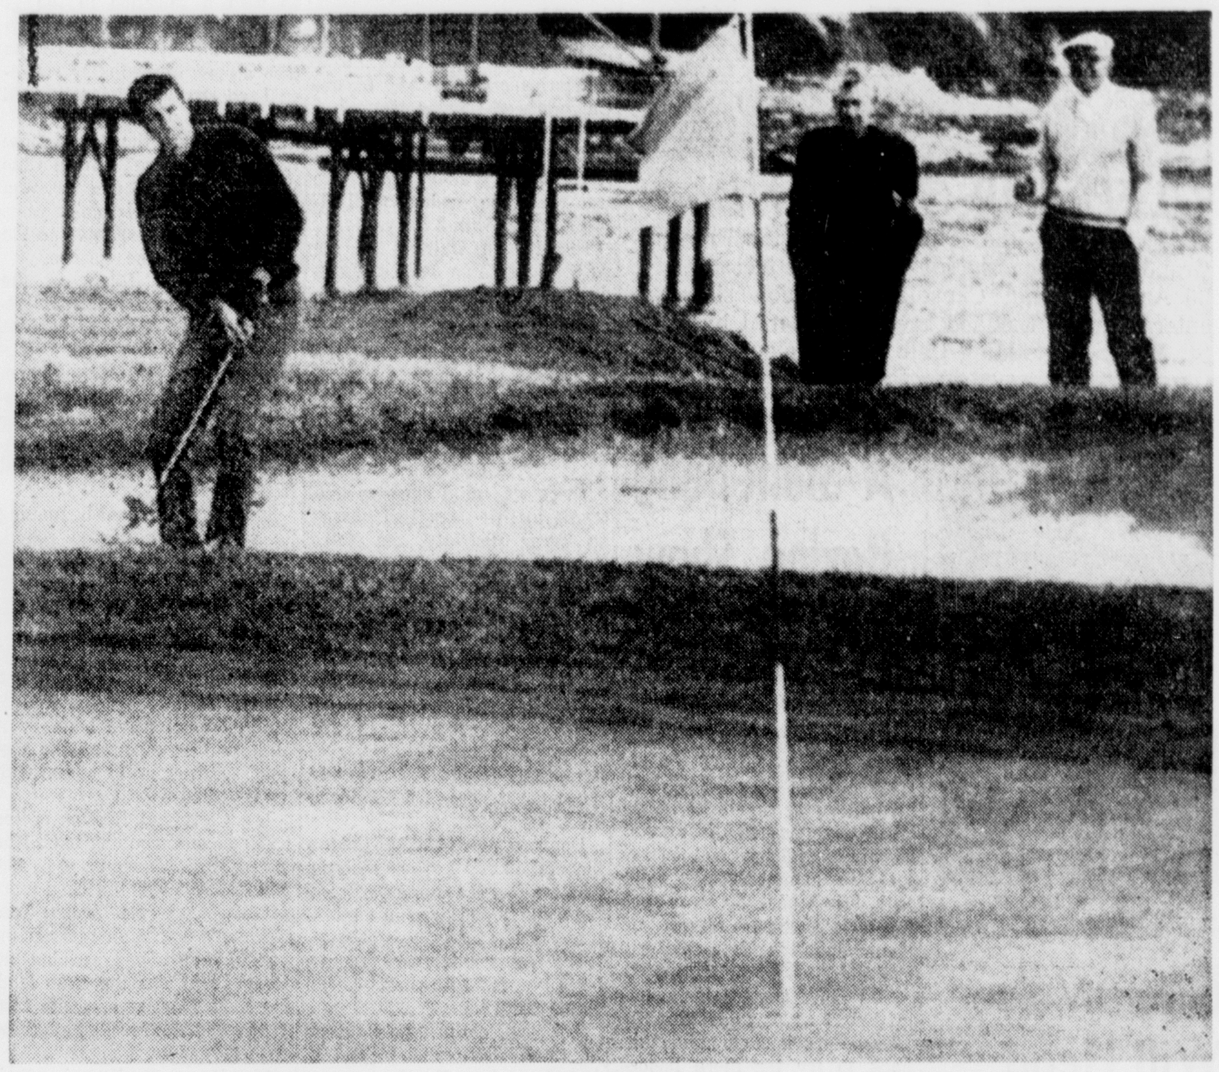
Mails, who is on a great comeback from recent illness and back at his desk in the San Francisco Giants' publicity department at Candlestick Park, went from the sandlots of Marin County to pitching fame in the Pacific Coast League and then to the major leagues with Cleveland of the American League and Brooklyn of the National, engraving his name and accomplishments in the World Series record books along the way.

A Close Friend Of Connolly

Mails says he is highly honored to be selected for the Marin Hall of Fame by the Knights of Columbus of Southern Marin County. "I'll be just as excited to visit Mill Valley Friday night as I was about 55 years ago to put on my first baseball uniform," he said.

The former southpaw, whose reputation as an after dinner speaker landed him the publicity job with the Giants when they moved to San Francisco in 1958, said he was deeply saddened by the death Sunday of John J. Connolly, former Hearst organization sports editor who authored a baseball column for the Independent-Journal for eight years up until 1966.

"I knew John for years and years," Mails said. "We'd have a lot of bull sessions at Candlestick, invariably we'd argue about something and he'd get mad at me. But the next morning I'd stop by his real estate office in Kentfield and we'd make up, enjoy a good laugh and everything was peaches and cream. Until our next bull session and we'd go through the whole routine over again."



OUT OF A TRAP TO VICTORY

NEW YORK (AP) — Surprise!

The Buffalo Bills of the American Football League picked Heisman Trophy Winner and All-American halfback O. J. Simpson as their first round pick as the third annual combined pro football draft got under way today.

The San Francisco 49ers gave John Brodie more talented hands to throw at by picking what his coach described as a "perfect" tight end and a local favorite.

TED KWALICK
49ers' No. 1

6-FOOT-4

The 49ers, using the first-round draft choice acquired from the New Orleans in a deal that sent Dave Parks to the Saints, picked Ted Kwalick, a massive, 6-foot-4, 230-pound All-American from unbeaten Penn State, then grabbed Gene Washington, flankerback from Stanford and the nation's fourth-best receiver.

The 49ers failed to get a breakaway running back in the first round. They have no second-round pick. Still left up for grabs after the 49ers chose Washington were such outstanding backs as Eugene "Mercury" Morris of West Texas State, Ron Johnson of Michigan and Paul Gipson of Houston, among others.

"PERFECT"

Penn State coach Joe Paterno said that if "you were to diagram what a perfect tight end should look like and what his abilities and capabilities should be, the finished product would be Ted Kwalick."

Kwalick,, with huge hands potent blocking and good running ability, may be the best tight end prospect since Mike Ditka of the Chicago Bears and John Mackey of the Baltimore Colts.

Washington, six-foot-one and 182 pounds, is a converted quarterback on the receiving end of tosses from Stanford sophomore whiz Jim Plunkett.

600 GRAND

Simpson has indicated that he would demand as much as a $600,000 bonus, equalling the highest price ever paid for a graduating collegian. Donny Anderson of Texas Tech reportedly received that figure in a long term contract with the Green Bay Packers in 1966.

The ten teams of the American League and the 16 of the older National Football League will choose 442 college seniors during the next two days.

Simpson, a 6-1, 207-pounder rushed for 1,709 yards, an all-time record, and scored 22 touchdowns. He had an 80-yard scoring run in the Rose Bowl, in which Southern California lost to Ohio State.

The choice of Simpson marked the second straight year that a Southern California player had been No. 1 in the draft.

YARY

Last year the honor went to Ron Yary, a giant tackle, grabbed by the Minnesota Vikings. However, Yary saw little action during the past season.

Atlanta of the National Football League, the second to pick, chose George Kunz, a tackle from Notre Dame.

Kunz is 6-foot-5, 245 pounds and 21 years old. He was the Irish co-captain and a member on The Associated Press' second All-American team.

New Steeler Coach Burns Midnight Oil

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Chuck Noll, going from the heights to the depths of pro football, has taken over the head coaching duties of the Pittsburgh Steelers.

The Steelers have won only 11 games in the last three National Football League seasons and never have gained an NFL championship.

But that doesn't bother Noll, who came to Pittsburgh from the NFL champion Baltimore Colts.

"I just don't believe that any certain area is doomed to have losers," said Noll at a news conference yesterday.

Noll's first big job will be to help the Steelers in their selections in the college draft, which got under way today.

Noll worked late into the night yesterday, reviewing films and data on Pittesburgh's personnel to, as he put it, "bolster weak spots on the roster."

After the draft, Noll said he'll get down to selecting his assistants.

"I want people who are not just in it (football) for hanging on," he said. "I want people who are dedicated to bringing the best out of the players we have."

Noll said he was on the phone talking to prospective assistants minutes after he took the job offer from Dan Rooney, Steelers vice president.

Rooney, commenting on Noll's selection, said, "We were looking for someone who knows the pro game. We expect to get five of the best players in the country Tuesday and we want someone to motivate them."

Noll succeeds Bill Austin, fired after posting an 11-28-3 record in three seasons.

Noll played college football at the University of Dayton, then played guard and linebacker for the Cleveland Browns.

He was an assistant coach for the old Los Angeles Chargers, a team that captured five of six Western Division titles in the American Football League, and then went to Baltimore.

Rebirth Of Old League

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — The American Association, final stepping stone to the major leagues for Stan Musial, Ted Williams, Willie Mays and many other baseball stars, is back in business after a six-year layoff.

Former pitching great Allie Reynolds was named president of the six-team league at an organizational meeting yesterday. League headquarters will be in his home town, Oklahoma City.

Members of the reborn Class AAA league include four teams in the Pacific Coast League last season—Oklahoma City, Tulsa, Denver and Indianapolis. Omaha and Des Moines are the other teams.

"The American Association has fallen heir to the best territory in the land. The Midwest has always been a great baseball area," Reynolds said yesterday.

The league adopted a 140-game schedule for its 1969 season that will open April 18 and close Sept. 1.

It also recommended that baseball's rules committee make changes to speed up the game and drew up a league rule that will require a batter to stay in the batter's box until his turn has ended unless he has the plate umpire's permission to step out.

Another former pitching star, Carl Erskine of Anderson, Ind., was named a special assistant to Reynolds and will scout for two more cities so the league can expand to eight teams in 1970.

Reynolds pitched for Cleveland and the New York Yankees in his 15-year major league career. Erskine was with the Brooklyn and Los Angeles Dodgers.

Eagles Trade Ditka For Untried Cowboy

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Mike Ditka is delighted . . . and Dave McDaniels is excited. It just goes to show what a change of scenery in the National Football League will do for you.

The Philadelphia Eagles yesterday traded former All-Pro tight end Ditka to the Dallas Cowboys for untested split end McDaniels, prompting these euphorious comments:

Ditka: "I don't know anything about it, but if it's true, I'm delighted."

EXCITED

McDaniels: "I'm real excited about going to Philadelphia. The main thing is that I will get a chance to play."

Ditka was obviously happy about clearing out of town. His battle with Coach-General Manager Joe Kuharich was an open war. In fact, Ditka had said publicly he would never again play for the Eagles' field boss.

Ditka, 29, an eight-year NFL veteran, had his brightest years with the Chicago Bears. Before coming here two years ago in a trade for quarterback Jack Concannon, Ditka was Rookie of the Year in 1961 and four times a nember of the All-Pro team.

His performance, which reached a high of 75 pass receptions in 1964, deteriorated after coming to the Eagles. Ditka blamed his two sub-par seasons here on Kuharich.

CLASHED

"I couldn't play for Kuharich under the same situation and system," he had said in a recent interview. "We just clashed, and I blame the way I was misused . . ."

The 6-foot-3, 235-pounder, who broke into the NFL with a rush by catching 56 passes for 1,076 yards and 12 touchdowns in 1961, spent most of 1968 on the sidelines and managed only 13 receptions.

The Eagles were apparently building for the future in acquiring McDaniels, 23, a speedster from Mississippi Valley College chosen as the Cowboys' second draft pick last year.

McDaniels was a super prospect in college, where he set a National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics' reception mark of 65 passes for 1,236 yards and seven touchdowns in his junior year.

The 6-4, 200-pound McDaniels sat out most of his rookie season, behind Bob Hayes and Lance Rentzel.

"It's hard to play when you're behind Hayes and Rentzel, and trying to break in," McDaniels said yesterday from Dallas.

"I don't want to disappoint them (the Eagles) and I hope I can do a good job."

Red Shield Wins In Rec Basketball

Red Shield survived a furious Ghilotti Brothers rally to take a high-scoring 83-72 Class A victory in San Rafael Recreational Department basketball play yesterday at San Rafael.

Red Shield had a 22-point lead going into the final period. Ken Anderson was high for Ghilotti Brothers with 19 points.

In Class B games, Cain's Tire downed Taberna, 67-52, behind 23 points by Terry Thomas, and the Xerox Repros stopped the San Francisco Theological Seminary, 76-56 as Bob Haxton scored 18 points.

East Vs. West ABA All-Stars

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The second annual American Basketball Association's All-Star Game will be played tonight with Coach Alex Hannum of the West looking for a sleeper to pull out a victory.

The sleeper on Hannum's West All-Star team is Denver's Wayne Hightower, one of the two players picked by the coach for his team.

"The writers and broadcasters go with the glamor boys," Hannum said yesterday. "There's nothing wrong with that, but I added Hightower to help us win the game."

Hightower have averaged 14.8 points and 9.1 rebounds a game for the Rockets, but Hannum says these figures do not tell the entire story of the player's worth.

"He has great ability to play defense," Hannum explained. "He is big enough to guard a big man and still agile enough to handle a good-sized guard."

Hannum, who coaches the Oakland Oaks, said he isn't unhappy with the players named by the newsmen and broadcasters "but any system can be improved."

After newsmen picked the first 10 members of the two squads, Hannum and Jim Harding, coach of the East All-Stars, each selected two more.

Hannum's other choice was Merv Jackson of Los Angeles while Harding, coach of the Minnesota Pipers, completed his roster with Jim Ligon of Kentucky and Art Heyman of Minnesota.

The West will be gunning for its first victory after losing the initial encounter 26-120 at Indianapolis last year.

Hannum is the first coach to direct an All-Star team in both major basketball leagues. Last year, as coach of the Philadelphia 76ers, he guided the East to a 144-124 victory over the West in the National Basketball Association All-Star Game.

Pro Football Stars In A Military Tour

TOKYO (AP) — New York Jets' quarterback Joe Namath, who has faced some of the toughest football opponents without flinching, retreated today when he met a Vietnam veteran suffering from a skin infection.

"It's okay, it's not catching," Air Force Sgt. Gerald Powers of Buffalo, N.Y., assured the football star.

Namath was visiting a U.S. military hospital in Tachikawa, near Tokyo, as part of a government-sponsored tour of military instalations in Japan, Guam, Okinawa and the Philippines.

Namath was accompanied by Jim Otto of the Oakland Raiders, Steve Wright of the New York Giants and Marv Fleming of the Green Bay Packers.

The players spent about two hours touring the wards and Fleming drew chuckles by wearing a jacket with the words "Go, Jets Go!" The players distributed team stickers and signed autographs, some on the casts of patients.

Namath and Otto approached Powers and, after discussing football, someone asked the soldier why he was in the hospital.

"I'm suffering from a skin infection, similar to poison oak," explained Powers. Namath and Otto quickly shifted away, but Powers assured them it was not catching.

They were later honored at a reception at the non-commissioned Officers Club and then toured the Yokota Air Force Hospital at Yokota Air Base.

Tomorrow they will fly by helicopter to Yokosuka Navy Base to visit the Navy hospital there.

BIG ICE SHOW SCHEDULED FOR OAKLAND

This unusual photograph shows pretty Jennie Walsh of Los Angeles in practice for the North American Figure Skating Championships to be held at the Oakland Coliseum Arena Feb. 6-7-8. Miss Walsh was the 1968 winner of the French Grand Prix ladies' skating title and is just one of 36 American and Canadian champion skaters entered in the Oakland event, sponsored by the St. Moritz Ice Skating Club of Berkeley.

JACK HANLEY

They Glide Across Ice With Greatest Of Ease

Most graceful of all winter sports is figure skating. It certainly is most pleasing to watch them performed by pretty young ladies such as Tina Noyes and Janet Lynn who will be competing Feb. 6-7-8 in the 1969 North American Figure Skating Championships at Oakland Coliseum.

In 1961 the entire U. S. figure skating team was wiped out in the Brussels air tragedy but now the United States is back on top in world competition. Peggy Fleming, the Olympic champion, has retired. But some experts say Miss Lynn is farther advanced at age 15 than was Miss Fleming.

The North American is the highest level competition ever held in the Bay Area and second in Northern California only to the VIII Winter Olympics at Squaw Valley in 1960. The top 18 U. S. skaters compete against the top 18 Canadian in the North American.

SWIMMERS SWIM against time. Skaters skate against perfection. To achieve perfection in figure skating requires years of long, hard and tedious practice, plus expert instrruction.

Jerry Carpenter, for more than four decades the "daddy" of California winter sports, traces the history of figure skating in his book appropriately called "California Winter Sports." Carpenter writes:

"Jackson Haines, an American ballet master, is credited with revolutionizing the art of skating. His business fell away sharply after the Civil War, and knowing Austrians loved dancing he shifted his base of operations to Vienna.

"THE VIENNESE liked to skate but skating at that time was more or less aimless. Jackson thought that if he could transfer the waltz and other dance movements to the ice, skating would be far more interesting.

"So he became a ballet teacher to ice skaters. He waltzed, gilded, twirled and went through the movements that ballet dancers do. The new form of skating spread throughout Europe and later was adopted in the United States and Canada. Figure skating was well on its way."

FIGURE SKATING competition isn't just a test of free skating. There are 42 separate figures that must be learned on each foot. For top competition all must be mastered. In Olympic competition 6 of the 42 are selected by five judges who draw them by lot. These are the compulsory figures which must be skated by each contestant in triple competition. They account for 60 per cent of the total points.

Compulsory figures at the North American next week will be held Thursday, Feb. 6, the free skating on Friday and Saturday.

Giant Voice Will Head Seal Drive

Russ Hodges, San Francisco Giants' sportscaster and resident of Mill Valley, today was announced as chairman of the 1969 Easter Seal campaign in Marin County.

James Donovan, M.D., president of the Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults of Marin, said Hodges will lead more than 250 local volunteers in seeking a total of $30,000 to finance rehabilitation and recreation services for crippled children and adults in the county.

The 1969 campaign will be conducted March 1 to April 6.

In accepting the Easter Seal Chairmanship, Hodges said: "I am deeply honored to take such a prominent role in activities of the Easter Seal organization. I invite the volunteer cooperation of all residents in helping to bring this finest, far reaching good work to as many crippled children and adults as possible in 1969."

SPECIAL EVENTS

Some 60,000 Marin homes will receive Easter Seals in the mail, and community groups will conduct a series of special events and activities to provide additional funds for crippled children and adults.

Hodges, well-known as the "Voice of the Giants," is also known for his volunteer activities and personal appearances on behalf of Lions' International, Cancer Society and American Red Cross.

The Marin Society is an affiliate of the Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults of California and of the National Easter Seal Society, dedicated to serving all handicapped persons regardless of age, cause of crippling, race, religion, or economic status. Last year the local unit served more than 400 crippled children and adults in Marin.

A Slam-Bang Boxing Show At Novato

By GARY TISCHLER

Well, it's that time of year again, and we don't mean spring.

Right in the middle of an excruciating basketball race, Novato High School will sponsor its fifth annual boxing night, with, it is hoped, the same spectacular success that accompanied the four previous slugrests.

The fistic spectacular comes off Feb. 5 at Novato High.

Three previous champions are back to try for more honors. Two fo them — Wally Campbell and Randy Smith are gunning for their third titles, but only one of them is going to get it. They're paired against each other.

The other returning champ is Larry Yager.

WELL, IT'S official.

Soccer will join the Marin County Athletic League's retinue of winter sports next season, after a trial run this season.

A board of managers made up of principals from the eight league schools gave the sport league sanction Jan. 8. It will provide another outlet of participation for athletics-starved youngsters, if there are any left.

THE REGULAR season wrestling title will be decided today at Mill Valley when Tamalpais and Novato, both unbeaten, go at it in a dual meet.

Novato, a ho-hum repeater year after year in wrestling, isn't as strong as in past years, with weaknesses at both extreme ends of the weight lists, but the Hornets are still tough as nails, with the Donaldsen twins, Ken and Kirt, still around.

REDWOOD HIGH School practically rules the MCAL basketball world right at the moment. The Giants are tied for first in varsity play and they are unbeaten in both Junior Varsity and Class B play with 5-0 records.

THERE IS a wealth of promising and talented sophomores on display in basketball circles this year, giving the league a nucleus of strength for the next couple of years.

All of them are tall, and reportedly still growing. There's Dana La Ferriere at Novato, a 6-foot, 7-inch type who already has a keen instinct to go after the ball on the boards. At Drake, there's thin, 6-3, Jeff Meeker, a starter for the beleagured Pirates. And at Redwood, there is 6-6 Bill Challender, big, strong with precocious finesse and shooting ability.

Redwood-Novato Tilt Switched To Friday

The Marin County Athletic League basketball game between Redwood and Novato high schools, originally scheduled for Thursday night at Larkspur, has been switched to Friday night in Larkspur.

The junior varsity teams will play at 7 p.m. to be followed by the varsity game at almost 8:30.

Leroy Keyes, the great running Purdue halfback.

He is 6-foot-3, 205, a standout on the Purdue team that played in the Rose Bowl in 1968. He gained 1,003 yards and scored 15 touchdowns in his senior year despite a run of injuries. He also was an ace pass-catcher. Keyes also was outstanding on defense.

GREENE

The Pittsburgh Steelers of the NFL, with the No. 4 pick, grabbed Joe Greene, a North Texas State defensive tackle, an All-American. He is 6-foot-4, 274 and 21 years old.

Greene was rated one of the outstanding defensive men of the 1968 college season.

Cincinnati of the AFL, fifth in the order of the draw, took quarterback Greg Cook of the University of Cincinnati.

Cook is 6-foot-4, 200 pounds and 21 years old. He was on the All-Missouri Valley team. He was the major college total offense leader with 3,210 yards.

The Boston Patriots of the AFL, picked Ron Sellers, Florida State split end, a lanky, loose-jointed ex-basketball player who was on the All-American team. Sellers is the all-time college receiving champion, with 3,598 yards. He led the major college ranks with 86 catches.

SURPRISE

There was mild surprise that teams to this point had passed up Terry Hanratty, the Notre Dame quarterback.

Los Angeles of the NFL, using Detroit's No. 1 pick acquired in the Bill Munson deal, took Larry Smith, second-leading rusher in the Southeast Conference. The Florida senior is 6-foot-4 and 221.

San Diego surprised by picking Marty Domres, Columbia quarterback who is 6-foot-4 and 212.

Domres, who holds 15 Columbia and 12 Ivy League records, was the fourth leading passer in the country and third in total offense last season.

His career total yardage was 5,345 yards, fifth best of all time.

Los Angeles, using its second of three first-round picks, selected receiver Jim Seymour of Notre Dame, 6-foot-4 and 205. The choice was acquired in a trade with Washington for Gary Beban. The All-American split end caught 53 passed for 736 yards last season.

The Miami Dolphins of the AFL took defensive tackle Bill Stanfill of Georgia, winner of the Outland Trophy as the best interior lineman in the nation. The Dolphins said they plan to use the 6-foot-5, 245pound All-American as a defensive end.

Green Bay, which picked last in each of the previous two drafts, went 12th this time and took Richie Moore, defensive tackle from Villanova. Moore, a surprise selection, is 6-7 and weighs 291. He played both ways at Villanova.

The Packers obviously are concerned with their defensive tackle situation. Both Henry Jordan and Ron Kostelnik were plagued with injuries last season, and Jordan reportedly is considering retirement.

The Chicago Bears were next but they were unable to come up with a selection in the 15 minutes allotted and were bypassed. The New York Giants then almost immediately selected Fred Dryer, a defensive end from San Diego State.

Minutes later the Bears chose Rufus Mayes, tackle from Ohio State. Mayes, 6-5 and 250, was a tight end until his senior year. He started every game for the Buckeyes for three seasons.

The Houston Oilers of the AFL picked Ron Pritchard, linebacker from Arizona State. The 6-foot, 230-pounder was a second-team All-American choice.

New Orleans, using Minnesota's pick acuired in a trade for Gary Cuozzo, named John Shinners, a 6-3, 255-pound guard from Xavier.

San Diego of the AFL, making its second pick of the round, took linebacker Bob Babich, 6-2, 225, of Miami of Ohio. He was also a second-team All-American.

St. Louis of the NFL followed immediately by selecting Roger Wehrli, a 6-0, 184-pound All-American defensive back from Missouri. He also was the top punt returner in the nation with an 11.7-yard average.

The Cleveland Browns of the NFL selected running back Ron Johnson of Michigan, 6-1, 196-pounder who was a second team All-American. He broke Tom Harmon's Michigan records for yards gained and rushing attempts and was the sixth leading rusher last season with 1,391 yards and the fourth top scorer with 116 points.

The Rams, finally using their own selection, took Bob Klein, a tight end from Southern California, a 6-foot-5, 238-pounder who was an All-Coast selection.

The Oakland Raiders of the AFL selected Art Thomas, a defensive tackle from Syracuse. He's 6-5 and 236 and was an all-East team member.

CAGE COACHES

Dick Hart Has Winning Tradition At Redwood

(Fifth in a series on Marin County Athletic League basketball coaches.)

After 20 years of coaching basketball, Dick Hart, your jolly old mentor at Redwood High School in Larkspur, is still smiling. This year, more so than usual.

A lot of fairly knowledgeable people are talking in title terms when they talk about Redwood. And even Hart, who won't say much about titles, seems optimistic, talking about his "faceless wonders" and the great togetherness his team has displayed enroute to a 14-4 won-lost record.

Fellows like Roger Smith, Jerry Piro, John Boro, Skip Corsini and Jim Peters could give Hart his third Marin County Athletic League title and another winning season in a long line of winning seasons.

"I hope I'm not overly optimistic," Hart says. "I've got a good feeling about these boys. It's the best shooting team we've had. They have great spirit. They don't quit."

WINNING RECORDS

Hart may or may not win a title but he will win his share of games. Basketball victories just come naturally at Redwood where junior varsity coach Duncan McSwain, B coach Stan Buchanan and new frosh coach Bob Sargent all hold winning records in the past.

In addition to his regular starters, Hart will have 6 foot, 7 inch Pete Webb joining the team in the second half of league and he has 6-6 sophomore Bill Challender in reserve.

With that kind of team, Hart would probably get a ticker-tape parade back in his native Iowa, if it wasn't snowing too hard. In Marin County, super-prep sports teams get lost in the shuffle.

Hart was raised in the Midwest, a geographic area near Ohio State University, a flat landscape dotted with baskets hanging on barns and cold gymnasiums.

"Back in Iowa, a basketball game would be an event," Hart recalled. "Players were treated as some kind of heroes by the whole town. And the towns had a kind of identity of their own.

"This is a unique situation in Marin," he said. "A boy who comes out for basketball is really giving up something because there are so many things to do, so many places to go, so much elso to get interested in."

Hart, however, is not complaining even if high school basketball or high school anything is not king. He usually gets enough boys who want to sacrifice a little bit. And he plays them all.

"I don't think you can get by on just five players," he said. "If a boy is good enough to make the team, then I ought to be able to play him. And that bench can get awfully hard."

Hart has won MCAL titles in 1961 and 1965 but he still gets nervous and feels that he likes it that way.

"The day I stop feeling nervous is the day I quit," he said.

Which probably won't be too soon.

Services Set For Stevens

Funeral services for Ralph Stevens, Independent-Journal fish and game columnist who died yesterday morning, will be held Thursday at 10 a.m. at the Albert Brown Mortuary Chapel in Oakland.

Burial will be at the Mountain View Cemetery.

Friends may call at the mortuary.

Stevens, 81, was a native of Chicago. He began writing in 1932 and worked for the old Oakland Post-Enquirer and the Hayward Review. He contributed articles to Anglers Guide and was a member of the Outdoor Writers Association of America and the California Writers Club.

A World War I veteran, he was a member of the Piedmont Post, American Legion.

He is survived by his wife, Lucille, and also a sister, Alice, and a brother, Walter, both living in Florida.

September usually has the lowest number of deaths, says the Institute of Life Insurance.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Class Ring Stock Worthy Investment

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I have recently started investing in the stock market and own Continental Air Lines, Del Monte and National Aviation. Please advise if a shift is necessary. What stock do you recommend for growth as well as income? Should I add to Continental Air Lines? — A. B.

A. President Johnson's approval of the Civil Aeronautic Board's decision to grant Continental the profitable transpacific routes whould help lift future earnings. National Aviation, an investment company, has about 20 per cent of its assets invested in airlines. For the sake of balance, these two holdings are as much exposure as you should have in airlines.

Del Monte has expanded its operations into soft drinks, snack food and vending, maintenance service and banana importing; the last two named were entered through acquisitions. Although earnings growth may slow down this year, shares should move ahead as earnings trend is steadily upward over the long term.

Jostens, Inc., a Minnesota-based class ring maker and yearbook and diploma printer, has propelled sales since 1956 at a 15 per cent annual compounded rate to over $61 million in 1968. Earnings have moved ahead at a 17 per cent rate and should reach $1.50 a share for the year ending next June. With 14 million high school students comprising a $15 billion market, a commitment in Jostens should work out well.

Q. Stock market people laugh when I say I own Roan Selection Trust. Shares sell at only 4.5 times earnings which were up $2.4 million in the first quarter. American Metal Climax owns 44 per cent of the stock — they must really be crazy. — D. D.

A. Although you have read up on your investment, you have failed to grasp the implications of the figures. An abnormally low P-E ratio usually reflects lack of investor confidence. And in this case, company location — Zambia, surrounded by politically precarious nations — could mean loss of production due to an upsurge of nationalsim.

As for American Metal Climax, company statements lack some of their former enthusiasm, stressing the need for African governments to curb inflation and rising costs. You may be willing to take the gamble — I personally would rather not.

Southern Pacific Reports Record Profits For 68

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Southern Pacific today reported a record net profit in 1968 of $107.6 million.

The figure, representing $3.96 per share, was an increase over 1967 net income which was $90.3 million.

Benjamin F. Biaggini, SP president, credited his firm's improved report to "our consistently large capital improvement programs in recent years."

"We have introduced new services and operating methods to hold down our customers' costs and attract new business," he said.

A STEP FORWARD

Stanford R. Ovhinsky is the inventor of devises based on new discovereies in physics which may make television sets without bulky picture tubes, be of any size and placed on your wall. This future TV thin screen, by illustration, would resemble the piece of glass that the president of Engery Conversion Devises Inc. of Troy, Mich., holds. In front of him is an ovonic flat panel display, the screen about an inch square in center, which makes a thin screen TV set a reality. (AP Wirephoto)

Construction Under Way On New Telephone Center

Construction has begun on a new building at 820 Las Gallinas Avenue, San Rafael, which Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. will lease to provide a directory assistance office.

District manager Jack Eddy said the 11,000-square-foot structure will eventually contain 180 telephone operators and supervisors. He said the office will fill a need for an expanded directory assistance service, due to the continuing growth of Marin County.

Located at one edge of the Northgate Shopping Center, the building will feature 30 spaces of sheltered parking at the first floor level, with an additional 80 spaces adjacent to the building.

The new structure, owned by Rawson Kelham of Kentfield is expected to cost over $250,000 and is scheduled for completion by late summer. It was designed by Bushnell, Jessup, Murphy and Van de Weghe of San Francisco and will be constructed by Olsen Construction Co. of Santa Rosa.

3-M Co. Again Lists Record Sales, Income

ST. PAUL, Minn. (BW) — The 3M Co. has reported record sales and net income for 1968, and for the 17th consecutive year.

Worldwide sales of the multi-industry manufacturer were $1.4 billion, an increase of 13 per cent over 1967's $1.2 billion.

Net income of $161.3 million rose 8.4 per cent, from 148.9 million a year ago. Earnings per share of common stocks were $2.98, compared with $2.76 the previous year.

Computer Products Gains In First Half

ANAHEIM (BW) — California Computer Products, Inc., has reported a 27 per cent increase in gross revenues and a 20 per cent increase in net earnings for the first six months of fiscal year 1969, ended Dec. 31, compared to the same period last year.

Net earnings were $557,072 on gross revenue of $8,934,543 for the period, compared with earnings of $460,786 on gross revenue of $7,033,479 last year. Earnings per share amounted to 25 cents per share on 2,225,828 average shares outstanding, compared with 21 cents per share on 2,197,240 average outstanding shares a year ago.

Dymo Income Up

BERKELEY (BW) — Net income for Dymo Industries, Inc., second quarter ended Dec. 31 was $769,072, of 34 cents per share, as compared with $665,901, or 29 cents per share in the similar period a year ago.

Stocks Close Mixed In Moderate Trading

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stocks closed mixed today in moderately active trading.

The cutback in automobile production by Chrysler Corp. helped slow demand, although some traders were inspired by bright corporate earnings results, steady demand for steel and belief that Vietnam talks in Paris are moving in the right direction.

Chrysler was weaker in response to the reduced production schedule. General Motors, which said it has no plans to cut output in February, was firm much of the day.

Steels and chemicals generally traded in narrow ranges, but some oils issues gave up more than a point.

Rails were mostly easier, while airlines and aircrafts moved in uncertain fashion.

Electronics moved in both directions, but a number of issues lost more than 1. Xerox and American Research Development were under pressure.

OTHER PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

Junior Achievement Trade Fair Slated Friday, Saturday

Since last fall there have been four Junior Achievement "companies" meeting once a week in Marin County. Together they will put on a "Junior Achievement Trade Fair" at the Emporium's Northgate store Friday and Saturday to show and sell their wares.

They were organized under the sponsorship of actual business firms, each of which has been helping a different group and lending it four of its own management personnel as advisors. All advisors are Marin County residents.

Each group is made up of 20 to 25 students from Marin high schools and they operate under their own company names — Telecom, Newco, Unifloral and Chenille Hangup.

These companies were organized as corporate structures. Student members form their own board of directors, working force and sales staff. They elected their own officers and capitalized each business through the sale of capital stock at $1 per share.

The juniors have been learning all the procedures of conducting a business by setting up production lines, planning distribution, advertising, promotion and selling their products, keeping books, paying themselves salaries, paying taxes — and they will pay their stockholders dividends if the enterprises are successful.

The trade fair at the Emporium will help them realize a profit. It will be held at the foot of the escalator on the first floor from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. on Friday night and from 9:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. on Saturday. Juniors will man their exhibits in two-hour exhibits.

Telecom is sponsored by Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. Its products are listed as papier-mache piggy banks and fire starters.

Newco is sponsored by Pacific Gas and Electric Co. The product it offers is listed as "Newton's Knockers."

Unifloral offers plastic flowers and is sponsored by Fairchild Semiconductor.

Chenille Hangup, as the name implies, makes chenille covered clothes hangers. It is sponsored by the Northwestern Pacific Railroad.

Brown Maddox

TWO MARIN MEN have received promotions at Crocker-Citizens National Bank offices in San Francisco.

Douglas W. Brown of Belvedere has been appointed assistant manager of the Van Ness-California office. He joined the bank in 1961 following several years of banking and business experience in California, then served two years as installment loan manager at the 16th and Mission branch. He entered the bank's administrative training program and has served at Santa Rosa and Tiburon Belvedere offices.

Thomas F. Maddox of Novato has been promoted to bank properties officer in San Francisco. Following 20 years in the U. S. Air Force he joined the bank in 1965, entered its training program and was then assigned to the Novato office. He has been assistant bank properties officer in San Francisco since 1967.

JACK R. WARNER of Sausalito has been promoted to director of broadcast operations for KCBS Newsradio 74, where he has been manager of broadcast operations since last June. He began his radio career over 30 years ago with KQW in San Jose and has served at a number of other California stations.

HERBERT WELP, formerly of Novato, has been named vice president and national sales manager of Educational Marketing and Research, Inc. at national headquarters in La Jolla. He joined the company last May as a division manager. Previously he had managerial positions with Encyclopedia Brittanica.

MISS JAN OLOFSON of Tiburon has been appointed Northern California representative for Pictorial California, bi-monthly magazine published in Southern California. She is headquartered at 2 Pine Street, San Francisco.

Best-selling print in Marin (45,000 copies daily)

Unlike most popular prints, each edition of the I-J is strictly an "original" . . . fresh with the impress of today's news.

To compose it, our writers and editors draw from the world-wide palette of AP and UPI wire services. They also examine all of Marin and Southern Sonoma County, putting the facts, with local color, in detailed perspective.

And to enrich the total picture, I-J newsmen add a full spectrum of features, cartoons, comment, entertainment. They paint in schools, the Civic Center, the field of sports, world of women, vital statistics, even the weather. They squeeze the tube for every bit of information!

Result: with the I-J, you're an art collector! Got your own gallery! Art of Information; Art of Perspective; Art of Humor; Art of Citizenship.

All from an original print.
